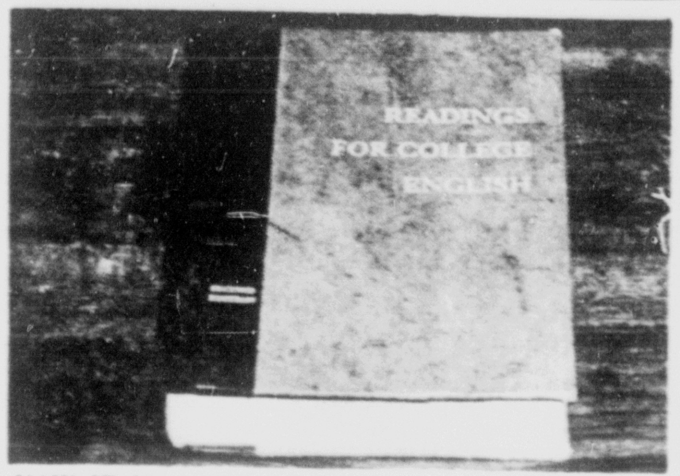
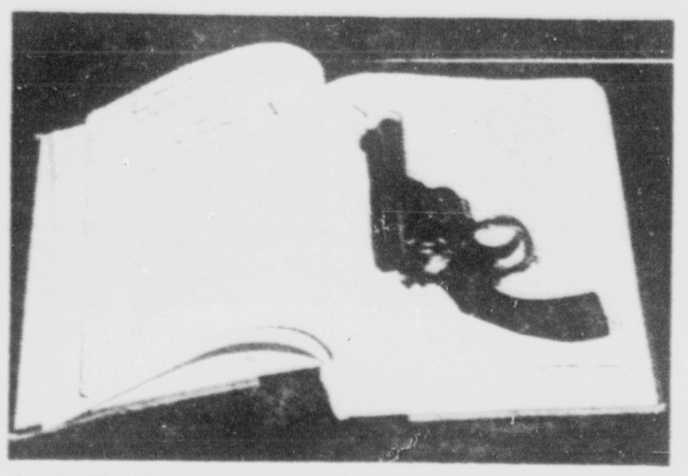
Give and Take Agreement Ends Threat of Rail Strike



NOW IT IS— "What is even a wise book but a blast from the lungs visible to the eyes." This book contains a blast all right, but the owner of the volume had an entirely different kind of blast in mind than the author of the quotation. His kind of blast wasn't made of nouns, verbs and adjectives, though it could result in a sentence—a prison sentence. (Gazette Telegraph Photo)



NOW IT ISN'T—There's far more to it than meets the eye. This seemingly innocuous college text book contained some mighty powerful stuff; it was the cozy receptacle for a gun. The book was found recently when members of the sheriff's office at the request of a local man convicted a short time ago of armed robbery, went to his home to obtain some "good reading" for him. Light Opposition Attends Sign Committee Meet

A light show of opposition to larger freeway signs attended the Sign Committee meeting Wednesday, while signmakers and the men who use them rallied to support their own case.

A show of hands voted 35 in favor out of some 40 persons attending the meeting, which was based on a 26-signature petition asking for a more flexible size limitation on freeway business signs.

Although the meeting got off to a slow start, the committee under the chairmanship of Dr. Fred Sondermann of Colorado College, kept proceedings within the guidelines of pro and con on the freeway sign issue, with frequent questions pertinent to the cause of opposing factions.

First to take the floor in favor of more liberal freeway sign legislation, Will Rusch, of Electrical Products Consolidated, recalled the case of the Ramada Inn, which declined to come to Colorado Springs last year when their business sign would not meet existing sign laws. He mentioned the sign restrictions as they presently apply to businesses such as the Palmer House, as being too small for the business and the location, to be of much benefit toward

Johnson Says Candidates Will Get Policy Briefings

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson said today he would like to confer personally with Republican presidential aspirants so they could chart a positive course for discussing foreign policy problems.

Johnson, at a news conference in the rose garden outside his office, announced that foreign policy intelligence briefings would be offered to seven presidential aspirants — including Democratic Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama.

He said Henry Cabot Lodge, ambassador to South Viet Nam and a potential GOP nominee, already gets the information.

In addition to Wallace, the briefings will be offered to Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York, Sen. Barry Goldwater, Harold Stassen, Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, Gov. William Scranton of Pennsylvania, and Sen. Margaret Chase Smith. All are potential Republican nominees.

Johnson, discussing the possibility of conferring with his potential Republican opponents on foreign policy matters, said some of them seem to want more war in Viet Nam and others "more appeasement."

He said that if he could talk with the major Republican aspirants, they might be able to find some common ground as a foundation for election-year discussions of Viet Nam and other overseas problems.

Johnson said he would like to have a relationship with the Republican presidential nominee like the one he had with former President Dwight D. Eisenhower when Johnson was Senate Democratic leader.

He said he and Eisenhower used to discuss foreign policy matters and reach understandings on the way to debate them publicly.

The information to be offered, Johnson said, would include background material and motivating reasons for the administration's foreign policy steps.

Of course, he said, top secret data would not be employed in the campaign by anyone.

In announcing Friday's trip, Johnson said he would visit South Bend, Ind., Pittsburgh, Huntington, W. Va., and Paintsville and Inez, Ky.

He said he was inviting the governors of the Appalachian region to confer with him at Huntington on area problems.

The President will begin the one-day tour after spending tonight in Chicago, where he makes a political speech.

On still other topics, Johnson said:

—He is optimistic about the prospects for world peace because "generally speaking, the world is anxious to pursue the same objective that I am."

—His cutback in production of nuclear explosive materials was "reached on our own initiative," and companion moves by the Soviet Union and Britain marked "a policy of restraint by mutual example."

—Johnson does not see why any Republicans should feel uneasy about the economic boom, in view of what he termed their

Federal Officers Nab Local Man On Dope Charge

Federal authorities arrested Daniel Juvera, 31, of 2027 W. Cucharras St., Wednesday for alleged illegal possession and sale of narcotics. He was placed in City Jail.

Thomas W. Andrew, district supervisor for the U. S. Bureau of Narcotics, said Juvera was arrested after he sold heroin to a bureau undercover agent in downtown Colorado Springs.

Lt. Jess S. Garred of the Colorado Springs Police Department, who aided federal authorities in the case, said Juvera has a long police record here and has served time in the Colorado State Penitentiary for burglary.

Juvera, married and the father of six children, was described by Andrew as a supplier of narcotics for Denver, Colorado Springs and Pueblo. Andrew said a search of Juvera's home revealed a large quantity of bulk heroin.

Juvera, who has worked as a construction laborer, was expected to be arraigned today before federal commissioner Darrell D. Thomas at the Exchange National Bank Building.

Turtles Walk in Ink, Originate New Art

OLEAN, N.Y. (AP) — Two college seniors let their turtles walk in blue ink. Then the turtles were set loose on four canvases. The results have been put on display at the St. Bonaventure University arts festival.

The "paintings" have been titled "The Storm," "In Memoriam," "Rebellion" and "Periphenomenon."

The turtles, owned by Tom Rogers and William McGrath, are named Moses, Abraham, Sam and Josephus.

Civil Rights Demonstrators March, Chant, Resist Police at World's Fair

By JOHN MORGENTHALER

NEW YORK (AP)—Hundreds of civil rights demonstrators marched, chanted, lay down and resisted police as the New York World's Fair opened in a chilling rain Wednesday.

More than 300 demonstrators, both Negro and white and some from distant states, were dragged into police vans, hauled off to a wire-fence stockade, and thence to court.

Some stayed in jail, unable or unwilling to post bail.

There were a few bloodied heads, but no serious injuries. One of the 5,000 city and private policemen on duty said the demonstrators were treated "with kid gloves."

"We had instructions from

Chester Closes Schools in Face Of Violence

CHESTER, Pa. (AP)—Chester closed its 18 public schools indefinitely Wednesday because of what school officials termed an explosive situation and to prevent harm and violence in continuing civil rights demonstrations.

Between 75 and 100 persons were arrested in renewed demonstrations Wednesday night near the home of John J. McClure, Delaware County Republican leader.

Earlier Wednesday, 39 persons were arrested during demonstrations at the Chester School District administration building, the Municipal Authority building and outside and inside schools, particularly in the West End section of the city, a predominantly Negro residential area.

The demonstrations followed a mass rally by some 500 persons who later marched to the home of McClure and also picketed the home of Clarence Roberts, the only Negro member of the eight-man school board.

The demonstrations, sponsored by the Chester Committee for Freedom Now and the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, are in protest of alleged de facto

Workers Refuse To Acknowledge Rail Agreement

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)— Two union officials representing employes of the New York Central Railroad said Wednesday night the line east of Buffalo would be struck at 12:01 a.m. Friday. The nationwide rail dispute was "not settled as far as we're concerned," they said.

President Johnson announced Wednesday night an agreement which he said ended the threat of a nationwide rail strike.

Joseph Kenefict of Syracuse, general chairman of the railroad trainmen union on New York Central Lines east of Buffalo, said:

"From what we've heard of the agreement, it's not satisfactory."

Kenefict and Michael W. Herr, strike chairman of New York Central employes, said a strike against the line would tie up "the ports of Boston, New York and Philadelphia" and curb transportation elsewhere.

Kenefict and Herr made their statements in Syracuse in a telephone interview.

Kenefict said he headed about 7,000 New York Central trainmen.

Colorado State Hospital Criticized By Investigator, Loses Approval

DENVER (AP) — Colorado State Hospital at Pueblo has lost its accreditation by the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals.

The commission is sponsored by the American Medical Association, American Hospital Association, American College of Surgeons and American College of Physicians.

The action came on the basis of a report by an investigator, Dr. Theodore J. Hughes, who criticized the space for patients, some of the hospital staff, the medical record keeping and some other practices.

State officials—Gov. John A. Love, Institutions Director David A. Hamil, Dr. Hans Schapire, chief of psychiatric services for the institutions department, and Hospital Supt. Charles E. Meredith—all say the deficiencies are being remedied and they are hopeful of regaining the accreditation. They think it is possible within weeks.

Gov. Love, discussing the matter with reporters, emphasized that loss of accreditation will affect only the program of training young resident physicians at the institution. He said it does not mean that patients will be discharged or the institution will have to close.

Love said that only one other state hospital in states close to Colorado has accreditation. It is in North Dakota.

The first announcement that the hospital had lost its accredited status came Wednesday afternoon from Robert Maytag, state Democratic chairman.

"I have confirmed," he said in a statement, "a shocking report that the state hospital in Pueblo lost its national accreditation seven days ago. A complete news blackout hiding this fact has been enforced by Republican leaders."

Maytag concluded: "Gov. Love and Institutions Director Hamil must make a full public

Peace Talk Continues In Laos

By DON HUTH

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)— Negotiations to end the five-day-old Laotian crisis continued today after neutralist Premier Souvanna Phouma returned from the royal capital of Luang Prabang with the renewed support of King Savang Vatthana.

Rebel rightist military leaders still controlled Vientiane as a result of their coup Sunday, but a member of the revolutionary junta said it had urged Souvanna to try to form a new coalition government.

As he returned from Luang Prabang, 120 miles north of Vientiane, Prince Souvanna said: "We are continuing to look for a reasonable resolution to untangle the crisis."

Gen. Amkha, Souvanna's chief military adviser, conferred with the rightist leaders but there was no word of what was said.

U.S. Ambassador Leonard Unger planned another meeting with Souvanna today. The United States has thrown its support behind the prince in an effort to prevent the breakdown of the 1962 Geneva agreement neutralizing the Southeast Asian nation.

Col. Etam Singvongsa, a spokesman for the rebel junta, said his group had urged Souvanna to try to bring together the rightwing, neutralist and Heavy Rain, Hail, Tornadoes Lash Sections of U.S.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Stormy weather, with heavy rain, hail and strong winds, buffeted areas in the south central part of the nation today after a rash of tornadoes swept the region.

The Weather Bureau reported nearly a score of twisters struck areas Wednesday in central and eastern Kansas, western Missouri, north central Oklahoma and northeastern Texas. Two persons were reported seriously injured after a twister ripped through the tiny town of Pecan Gap, Tex., about 40 miles northeast of Dallas.

Property damage from the tornadoes was reported extensive. Several homes were demolished in Pecan Gap. Other buildings and homes in small towns in Kansas and Oklahoma were flattened or damaged by the twisters.

Tornado forecasts remained in effect during the early morning in central Missouri and in parts of Arkansas, Oklahoma and northeastern Texas.

In other parts of the nation, rain, snow and strong winds were reported in western areas. Snow fell from southern Idaho to northern Nevada with depths ranging from four to five inches. More rain splashed areas in the Pacific Northwest.

Floods threatened areas north of Indianapolis as rivers and streams fed by heavy rains in the last several days rose rapidly. Several dozen families fled their homes in Ravenswood, a suburb of Indianapolis.

Coldest area early today was in the snow-covered areas in the West and in parts of northern Minnesota with temperatures in the upper 20s. Readings ranged to the 70s in the Gulf States.

Buildings Must Meet City Fire Code, or Else

The word is out, conform or be condemned.

That is if you own a hotel, apartment house, dormitory or lodging house which is three stories or more high.

All buildings of this type must conform with the requirements of a fire-safety ordinance which went into effect in March of last year.

Provisions require proper exits, stair construction, fire escapes, etc. The Antler's Hotel does not meet the requirements and unless these are met, the hotel must be vacated. This almost assures that the landmark will be torn down when it is taken over by new owners this fall.

Dissident Union People Continue Strike Threats

By NEIL GILBRIDE

WASHINGTON (AP)—A give and take agreement has ended the threat of a nationwide railroad strike, with President Johnson a victor in the toughest domestic test of his administration.

A few hours after the agreement was reached, two dissident union officials threatened to strike part of the New York Central Railroad. But sources involved in the negotiations in Washington discounted the possibility that the threat would be carried out.

Johnson, obviously elated, went before television cameras Wednesday night to announce settlement of the long, highly complex dispute a little more than 48 hours before a scheduled strike threatened to tie the nation's economy in knots.

The agreement in effect gave union members financial gains in exchange for letting the railroads reduce employment. Just how many jobs will be affected or how much money the railroads may save won't be known for some time after the general agreement is translated into contract language.

In herding union and management negotiators successfully through 13 days of emergency White House talks, Johnson stamped his brand indelibly on U.S. labor history and achieved what two former presidents, Congress, the courts and five years of bargaining had failed to accomplish.

"This agreement prevents — we hope for all time—a crippling and disastrous strike in the railroad industry," Johnson said.

Negotiators for the five unions whose members run the trains and spokesmen for nearly 200 railroads expressed general satisfaction at the outcome.

"While the agreement falls short of satisfying all the important demands of the employes, we recognize that significant gains have been made," said union spokesman Roy Davidson. Sources predicted ratification by union members or authorized officials.

Chief railroad negotiator J.E. Wolfe said "the settlement promises to restore the morale of our 700,000 employes to its highest level, and bring a rebirth of the spirit of cooperation between management and union leaders."

The agreement ended the threat of a scheduled strike at one minute after midnight Friday night. Johnson had estimated a strike would have idled 7 million American workers, endangered the health conditions and virtually paralyzed the economy.

Johnson gave due credit to the five federal negotiators, headed by Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz, who emerged red-eyed and exhausted from day and night efforts at untangling one of the longest and most complicated labor quar-

Strike Averted Without Mention Of Intervention

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson averted a coast to coast rail strike without ever threatening even in private to invoke congressional action, insiders reported today.

The specter of last resort legislative intervention always hovered in the background. Everybody knew it was there. But it never emerged into the open.

The reason, one official said, was that management and unions talked for five years but bargained for only 13 days — the 13 preceding the settlement that marked up a domestic triumph for Johnson in an election year.

"Nobody—the President, the mediators or either side—said at any point," this official said, "that we'd ever have to go to Congress. Nobody even implied it.

"The closest thing was when the President said at one point that he didn't want to come out with such words as seizure or arbitration. Seizure is a horrible word to the carriers and arbitration is horrible to the unions."

Persons with first-hand knowledge of the negotiations gave this picture of how things went:

Union bargainers agreed to settlement terms late Tuesday. Railroad presidents held out until little more than an hour before Johnson and spokesmen for both sides took to the television networks late Wednesday to announce a peace pact.

Negotiations had been comparatively relaxed in the first week after Johnson won a 15-day postponement of an April 10 strike deadline.

Then Sunday night, Johnson got a report from his five-man mediation team that issues had been worked around to the

Rain, Cold, Fog Dampen Splendor of World's Fair

By RAY KOHN

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York World's Fair bloomed in almost all its heralded splendor but rain, cold and fog put a decided damper on its opening Wednesday.

Civil rights demonstrations, and a threatened highway traffic tie-up which never came off, apparently contributed toward holding official attendance to 92,646. At least a quarter of a million visitors had been expected. But it was the weather, which put a damper on things.

President Johnson, noting the fair's theme of "peace through understanding," said that "peace is not only possible in our generation, but I predict it is coming much nearer."

The United States, the President added, would soon be a nation "in which no man is handicapped by the color of his skin or the nature of his belief."

Among those under the canopied platform as Johnson spoke were former President Harry S. Truman, New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, Francis Cardinal Spellman, Roman Catholic archbishop of New York, Mayor Robert F. Wagner, and Robert Moses, president of the fair.

Truman, in a brief speech to 16,000 listeners in rain-drenched Singer Bowl, said, "There's only one Moses, and that's not the one mentioned in the Bible."

At the opening ceremonies, messages were read from former Presidents Dwight D. Eisenhower and Herbert Hoover.

President Johnson also cut the tape, and spoke, at the fed-

Travel Is Now One of Nation's Big Industries

By JACK LEFLER

NEW YORK (AP) — Travel has become one of the United States' biggest industries but the potential has hardly been tapped.

American tourists spent $20 billion last year at home and abroad.

Of this amount, a record $1[illegible] billion was spent on travel within the United States.

This went to swell the profits of a great variety of businesses — hotels and motels, restaurants, service stations, airlines, railroads and buses, to mention only a few.

On the other hand, the $[illegible] billion spent abroad was an adverse factor in the United States' balance of payments problem.

The American Society of Travel Agents says that although the record-shattering statistics prove that travel generates an enormous amount of economic activity in the United States, it is significant that there exists in this country a huge untapped travel market.

The ASTA says during 1962 over 30 million Americans took a trip of any kind, domestic or foreign, business or pleasure, that was more than 200 miles from home. They represent a special marketing, motivation and promotional challenge.

The size and degree of this challenge is indicated by these statistics from various studies of the U.S. travel market:

Thirty-three per cent of American adults have no desire to take a trip of any kind.

Seventy-five per cent have never been on an airplane.

Sixty per cent have never slept a night in a hotel.

As for foreign travel this year — the season will soon get under way — American Express Co. estimates that 2.[illegible] million Americans will go abroad, excluding trips to Canada and Mexico. This would be an increase of 10 per cent over 1962.

Woodland Park News

By ROSE A. D[illegible] 687-[illegible]

This week, April 26 to May 2, is Public Schools Week. Parents are urged to attend school during the week and find out what their children are learning. This is a part of the program of uniting the home and school toward building a better understanding of the school's functions. Special activities of the week included the school band election Monday and the [illegible] Tuesday evening.

The Science Club will display and demonstrate scientific principles and theories at its Science Fair Thursday evening, April 30. Most of the exhibits will be in the gymnasium. [illegible] will be in the science room. The public is invited to view the fair between the hours of [illegible]. About 40 projects will be displayed. There will be judges Thursday afternoon. There is no charge for attendance.

The elementary children will present their Spring Festival Friday night, May 1, at 7:30 in the gymnasium. The public is invited to attend.

The laying of the cornerstone for the new Woodland Park Junior-Senior High School will be held at [illegible] Saturday, May 2. The Grand Masonic Lodge of Colorado will be in charge of the ceremony. Among others participating in the program will be the school band, student council and board of education.

School will be dismissed at 1 p.m. Thursday, April 30 for the monthly teachers' meeting.

Every child who will be five years old by Dec. 31, 1964, is to bring his mother and father, if possible, to the Kindergarten Round-up at the Lutheran Church May [illegible] at 10 a.m. This party and program is to introduce these young ones to school life.

The girls of the Homemaking classes will present their annual style show in the school auditorium at 8 p.m. May 1.

The Junior-Senior Banquet will be held May [illegible]. May 15 will be the last day of school for the seniors. Baccalaureate services will be held May 17 and graduation May 19. May 27 will be the last day of school.

The Junior Class presented its play, "The Night Owl," Friday and Saturday evenings. Mrs. Joe Cressman, high school English teacher, directed the play. Participating in the play and its production were Beverly Toms, Bob Bryant, Eugene Lowen, Cynthia Fuqua, Ann Fleischer, Vicki Sloan, Morris Olson, Janeen Fritz, Dick Schupp, Jane Ann Carlson, Karen Imboden, Roger Casler, Trisha Fry, Lana Metheny, Judy Smith, Paulette Lacy, Suzanne Whitlum, [illegible]. The [illegible] concert was well attended.

At a meeting in the school lunchroom Tuesday night new officers were elected for the coming year. They were: President, Mrs. [illegible]; vice president, Mrs. [illegible]; [illegible]; secretary, Mrs. [illegible]; treasurer, Mrs. [illegible]; and historian, Mrs. [illegible]. The nominating committee consisted of [illegible], Mrs. [illegible] and Mrs. [illegible]. A formal installation of officers will be held at the May [illegible] meeting. A Hobby Show for both students and adults will be discussed at the May meeting also.

Plans for the summer library were discussed. Volunteering to assist with the project were Mrs. Tom [illegible], Mrs. [illegible], Mrs. [illegible], Mrs. [illegible] and Mrs. [illegible]. Anyone more should contact Mrs. [illegible], 687-[illegible]. She was named chairman of the group. The group decided that if not enough mothers volunteered their services, they would pay two dependable teenage girls to help. A story hour will be planned for each week. The library will probably be open three days each week. Books from the state library must be ordered immediately. Last year the library used three crates of state books. Teachers need assistance in repairing books on hand. PTA decided to furnish money for any expenses for repairing books.

Bob [illegible], Scouts district commissioner, gave recognition to the local Cub Scouts and their leaders. Present for the occasion were Cubmaster Lucian Jamison, Assistant Cubmaster Bob [illegible], Den Mothers Mrs. Melvin Olson, Mrs. Lucian Jamison, Mrs. Sam Bream and Mrs. [illegible]. This is the pack's 10th year. The boys were presented with a 100 per cent Boys' Life Banner. The boys are selling tickets for the Scout-o-Rama to be held in Colorado Springs April 29-May 2. It will include some 60 booths of handicraft, hobbies, etc., showing what the boys are doing in scouting. A stage show will be shown each hour of the tour. The money from the tickets sold to the Scout-O-Rama goes to the individual and his local unit. None of it goes for the expenses of the show.

Mrs. Vernon Vest's first grade and Mrs. Paul Stafford's third grade tied for the room count. Second grade mothers served refreshments.

Guest speaker for a school assembly Monday afternoon was Bob Newkirk, evangelist for special meetings at the Community Church this past week.

Pueblo East High School band presented a concert to a school assembly Friday morning.

The recent Woodland Park Band Concert netted over $30. This will be used to pay for uniforms and to finance a trip to Adams State College at Alamosa for Band Day next fall. Band mothers not mentioned last week who did much to help with the concert were Mrs. Ira Brown, who made posters; Mrs. H. L. Thatcher, who made the programs; and Mrs. Jim [illegible], who assisted Mrs. Lewis Lynch with tickets and advertising.

Students making the high school honor roll for the third quarter of the school year were: seniors, Dena Herrmann, Tom Metheny and Dorothy Thomas; juniors, Cynthia Fuqua; sophomores, Ellen Evans, Nanci Parker and Karen Wanner, freshmen.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Snow announce the marriage of their daughter, Jane, to Clifton Lowe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Lowe. The wedding was performed by Father Michael Kavanaugh at Our Lady of the Woods Catholic Church Sunday evening. Thomas McInerney was best man. Mrs. Thomas McInerney was matron of honor. Following the ceremony a wedding party was held at the Embers in Colorado Springs.

The Community Church evangelist for special meetings this past week was Bob Newkirk, Glen Eyrie, co-ordinator and youth worker with the Navigators.

The Assembly of God Ladies Council met at the church Thursday afternoon for a business meeting and study of the book, "Bible Prophecy." Present were Mrs. J. E. Smith, Mrs. Frank Derry, Mrs. Walter Denton, Mrs. Claude Shaw and Mrs. Dan Starr.

Out-of-Town Paper Stand Keeps Hollywood Informed

By BOB THOMAS

AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Most people in Hollywood come from somewhere else, and when they want to learn about where they came from, they go to the out-of-town newspaper stand at Las Palmas Avenue and Hollywood Boulevard.

The stand's aged cash register can be heard ringing around the clock, and each hour brings a new pattern of purchasers—from the fry cooks, hotel help, the musicians, strip teasers and insomniacs of late night.

For 25 years, the owners of the Universal News Agency, Simon Fanstein and Walter Spile, have been watching the never-ending parade.

"It's a fascinating business," said Fanstein. "You see people from all walks of life and from the four corners of the globe.

"We get 'em all. You talk about stars. They've all been here. That fellow who plays Perry Mason on the television—what's his name, Raymond Burr?—he comes by every week to pick up the latest art magazines."

"We work close to the dollar," he said. "We only make about five cents on magazines. Our biggest profit is on the out-of-town newspapers. But most of them are on a non-returnable basis. We stock 500 different papers and every month we throw out hundreds and hundreds of copies that don't sell."

Then there is the matter of passersby who consider the stand a public library. During the peak selling hours one man does nothing but stand on the curb to check pilferage.

The newstand faces right on the street with only a three-foot awning for shelter. Rain cuts into sales, but then a lot of customers drive by to pick up their papers.

Co-owner Spile opened a hemp bag full of foreign newspapers. "Look at this," he said proudly as he chewed his cigar. "The London Times just flown in, dated two days ago."

Spile, diminutive and weather-worn like his partner, recalled past customers fondly.

"Charlie Chaplin used to come by all the time with his wife, Oona. Know what he'd buy? Detective stories. Wally Beery was a regular customer, and so was Lionel Barrymore. He used to drive by, get out in his wheelchair and look at the yachting magazines. Gene Tierney used to pick up the latest Paris fashion magazines. Mack Sennett would walk past every day to get the Hollywood trade papers. You name 'em, they've been here."

Domestic Wines Gain Popularity

NEW YORK (UPI)—Imports represent a comparative drop in today's wine bucket—or only about 7 per cent of the total U.S. market, according to a spokesman from one of California's leading vineyards.

"Imported wine is no longer the requisite of fashionable dining, any more than a castle in Spain is needed to make a good real estate investment or the label of a London tailor is an essential to sartorial elegance," said Paul L. Farber of the Cresta Blanca vineyards, Livermore, Calif., in a recent speech here. Consumption of domestic wines has skyrocketed in the last 17 years, Farber said.

WITDRAWS VESSELS

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The State Department announced Monday that the Soviet Union had agreed to withdraw Russian vessels fishing for king crab near Kodiac Island, Alaska.

The United States protested the presence of the Soviet fleet on April 10. The Soviet vessels were outside the traditional three-mile fishing limit but the protest contended that the crawling crabs were "natural resources" of the U.S. Continental Shelf.

French Poodle Takes Charge of Baby Chick

FREMONT, Neb. (AP)—Mrs. Robert C. Perry of Fremont, the mother of seven children, says friends, who didn't think she had enough to do, gave her a baby chick to care for.

Fortunately, she said, her French poodle Crepes Suzette came to the rescue and took charge of the chick.

"Suzette will not let the chick out of its sight," she says. "The dog carries it all over the house. If the chick gets out of the dog's bed, Suzette follows it. The chick peeps if the dog leaves the room."

Got a Cure For Hiccups? Don't Call Her

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—Got a cure for hiccups? Keep it to yourself, will you?

At least, don't telephone Lucy McDonald and tell her about it.

"No cure will work for me," said Mrs. McDonald after answering her telephone almost continuously for two days. "I'm going to have to live with the hiccups. I've made up my mind. What I need is a job."

Mrs. McDonald, 38, a divorcee, has suffered from hiccups for more than 10 months. She's been getting calls from throughout the country since The Associated Press reported her plight.

Mrs. McDonald, who has three children, lost her job as a waitress because of hiccups.

"They don't want anybody with the hiccups around," she said.

Winter Wheat May Have Cutworm Damage

FORT COLLINS, Colo. (AP)—Winter wheat growers in southeastern Colorado have been warned to look for cutworm damage to their crops.

The advice came from the Colorado State University Extension Service after Bruce Whitmore, Kiowa County extension, reported pale western cutworms were damaging the wheat crop in his county.

Bill Hantsbarger, CSU extension entomologist, said the cutworms feed almost entirely underground. They cut plants off about one inch below the surface of the soil.

Rain, Cold, Fog Dampen Beauty Of '64 Fair

eral pavilion before flying back to Washington. As pickets chanted and shouted and some youths waved placards, Johnson said: "We do not try to cover up our failures; we freely admit them and bend our energies to toil to meet them."

The fair opened on schedule at 9 a.m. and soon thereafter came the big parade. Months in planning, the 45-minute procession was colorful, commercial, international, patriotic, musical—and soggy.

There were lots of pretty girls. Miss Louisiana, wearing a red-sequined strapless gown, gallantly waved from a convertible despite the rain and a temperature in the low 40's.

But the 4,000 marchers greatly outnumbered the onlookers, estimated in the hundreds.

There was plenty of musical cheer — armed forces, high school and college bands. Irish and Jordanian bagpipers, African drum rollers, Spaniards strolling and strumming guitars, a steel drum band, and a Chinese drum and bugle corps.

Only about eight per cent of the 139 pavilions were not quite ready for the "opener," and a few did not open.

As on most opening days of huge expositions—the fair occupies a mile-square site at Flushing Meadow — there was some confusion. Many out-of-order pay telephones and coffee and sandwich stands couldn't cope with the customer rush.

Among other parade features:

A troop of Montana cowboys, led by their governor, Tim M. Babcock; geishas singing softly and twirling parasols; shriners with molting feathers; Moorish women holding their skirts up when they came to muddy puddles; Hula dancers doing their celebrated gyrating—under topcoats.

There also was a carriage carrying "Ferdinand and Isabella"—Mr. and Mrs. John N. Page, contest winners from Columbus, Ohio.

Also in the parade act was a beer wagon pulled by four imported German horses.

As night fell, lighted pavilions and colored fountains glowed through the fog; the pool of industry erupted with fireworks, and powerful searchlights raked the sky.

It was gala and it was fun, but nature didn't cooperate at all.

State Hospital Loses National Accreditation

disclosure of all the facts in this case at once. It is hoped that remedial action will be commenced immediately to correct the obvious deterioration of institutions in this state."

Love charged at his news conference: "Evidently the Democrats are willing to play politics with everything, including human misery."

Hamil said he and Dr. Meredith were informed of the action last Friday and that he did not advise Gov. Love because he considered the problem an administrative one for his department to handle.

Love said he did not learn of the situation until an hour before the news conference, when Hamil informed him after reporters asked the director about the Maytag statement.

Love said he had no comment on Hamil's handling of the matter.

The complaint about the staff, the officials said, resulted from employment of three physicians trained abroad. They were authorized to practice in Colorado institutions, but had not been certified by the Educational Council for Foreign Medical Graduates. Dr. Meredith said that all three have now been placed on administrative leave and are no longer treating patients.

Commenting on the space for patients, the officials agreed it falls short of the 70 square feet each set by the commission standard. The commission reported it now as 55 square feet. When the last accreditation was received, Love said, the space per patient was only about 37 square feet. He said when the new construction program is completed it will be about 62.5 square feet per patient. Additional patient space, he added, will take somewhat longer to obtain.

The officials indicated they think most other points listed by the investigator can be remedied quickly. They noted he said: "The administration is commended for the new medical and surgical building under construction, as well as the new construction about to begin in the north section." This has started since his inspection trip March 9-11.

One of the investigator's points was that old buildings should be replaced. The state officials said this is being done as rapidly as possible. Love remarked there had been delays in authorization of the $8 million hospital construction program during the administration of Democratic Gov. Steve McNichols.

The manner in which Maytag obtained the information created a major mystery among the officials. Hamil said there must have been a leak somewhere. He said Maytag obviously based his statement on a copy of the notification which was clearer than the one he himself received. Hamil said Maytag mentioned the action being taken April 15 and added that his own copy was blurred and did not disclose the exact date.

Man Reported Making Indecent Remarks

Police this morning were searching for a man who made indecent remarks to a 21-year-old woman Wednesday afternoon.

The woman told officers the man followed her for several blocks in a 1964 Cadillac and made the remarks to her from the car at the intersection of San Miguel Street and Cascade Avenue.

The man was described as about 25 years old and having dark hair.

The Nation's Weather

(Report furnished by U.S. Weather Bureau Station at Peterson Field)

The violent weather which plagued much of the lower plains and lower Mississippi Valley states had diminished.

However, showers and thundershowers are still occuring through much of this area. One of the larger recorded amounts in the early morning was at Memphis, Tenn., where 1.63 inches of rain was recorded.

In the west an intensifying storm in the Great Basin area resulted in stockmen's warning valid for many sections.

Falling temperatures with snow and cold rain is developing in the Great Basin and north central Rockies.

One of the larger snowfalls was recorded from Austin, Nev., where seven inches of new snow was reported.

Looking elsewhere, dense fog has again formed along the coastal region of the middle and north Atlantic states, and over Kansas and parts of Nebraska.

Over the remainder of the country this morning, the weather was generally fair. Temperature readings in the 70s prevailed through the Gulf states.

Near or below freezing temperatures were common through the northern Great Lakes region and also through the northern and central inter-mountain regions of the west.

28 Men Take Police Exams

A total of 28 men took the Colorado Springs police department written civil service examination Wednesday in the City Auditorium.

Physical and oral tests will be given successful candidates after the written tests are evaluated. Top candidates will be placed on the police eligibility list which now has no names remaining.

When a vacancy occurs in the police department, the person standing highest on the list will be added to the police roster.

Local Buildings Must Meet City Fire Codes

tendent of inspections, said a team of inspectors will begin making close inspections of buildings which fall into the "H" occupancy class. A building inspector and a member of the fire prevention bureau will evaluate existing conditions in the buildings and inform the owners as to what changes must be made to conform to the ordinance. Follow-up inspections will be made to assure the required changes are being carried out.

Tyree said large downtown structures would be inspected first with other three story apartment structures to follow.

He said copies of the ordinance are available at his office in City Hall.

Three Men Booked On Petty Theft Charge

Three men were booked for petit larceny Wednesday after they allegedly stole sweaters from the London Shop, 103 E. Pikes Peak Ave.

The owner or the store, Howard Bernard Sheldon, told officers that two of the men looked at the sweaters while the third purchased a hat Tuesday afternoon. Sheldon said he became suspicious and followed the men to the Arrow Hotel and called the police.

Officers said four sweaters from the shop were found in the mens' room at the hotel. Sheldon signed a complaint against the men.

segregation in the public schools. The school board denies this.

About 11,000 pupils and 500 teachers are affected in the school shutdown. The announcement was made by Charles D. Long, superintendent of Chester schools, in the wake of the earlier arrests.

Demonstrations began last March 27 and there was a one-day school boycott before that, with about 30 per cent of the pupils staying out of classes.

Most of the demonstrations were peaceful, except when they first started and six persons were injured after a street sit-in, including two policemen.

Meetings between the school board, the Chester Human Relations Commission and the protesting groups, the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and the Committee for Freedom Now, all broke up in angry denunciations and no agreement.

Wednesday night, 177 demonstrators were arrested as more than 500 sang and marched to the home of State Sen. John J. McClure, a Delaware County Republican leader.

Police arrested 132 in front of the McClure home. Some of them were bleeding when herded into the buses.

Another 45 were arrested in front of the Chester Police Station. All, including Stanley E. Branche, chairman of the CFFN, were charged with disorderly conduct and failure to obey a police order.

Most of those arrested were sent to Broadmeadows County Prison in nearby Media. Some were being held in a county garage building in Media, used as a courthouse annex.

Three of the seven or eight persons reported injured were admitted to area hospitals.

Earlier, 39 persons, including two Negro ministers, were arrested during sit-in demonstrations at the Chester School District administration building, the Municipal Authority building and inside and outside schools.

The school closing affects about 500 teachers and some 11,000 pupils.

Chester, about 20 miles south of Philadelphia, has 11 elementary schools, three of them all-Negro, four junior high schools, one senior high school and two special schools.

point where a hard push might settle them.

So Johnson met with both sides and pointed out they had an important stake in preserving 7 million jobs and the future of collective bargaining. An overnight recess was called to let his words sink in, and then heavy, intensive bargaining got under way Monday and went on through the night.

Labor and management drafted separate statements of their positions at that point and laid them on the table about 1 a.m. Tuesday. After hours of discussion, the mediators took on the job of boiling 20 or 25 pages down to eight—written in long hand—that were ready by Tuesday noon.

Talks started up again then and one informant said: "That's where you really started to get some hard, sharp offers."

By Tuesday night, the unions had agreed to settlement terms but management offered only a qualified "yes."

Demonstrators March, Chant At NY Fair

our captains to go easy," said Lt. Robert Como, leader of one detail.

Opening day attendance was 92,646, about a third of what had been expected. Officials blamed the rain and demonstrations.

Chanting "freedom, freedom" demonstrators nearly drowned out one of President Johnson's two speeches, and they sat down through the national anthem.

They forced temporary closing of at least two of the modernistic commercial pavilions.

A much-heralded auto "stall-in" to create a huge traffic jam around the fair site in Queens did not develop. Traffic was only 25 per cent of normal and moved better than usual, said Traffic Commissioner Henry Barnes.

But the leader of the planned "stall-in," Isiah Brunson, chairman of the Brooklyn chapter of CORE, claimed the threatened demonstration reduced traffic, and called that a victory.

Among those arrested was James Farmer, national director of the Congress of Racial Equality, which planned the demonstrations inside the fairgrounds and suspended its Brooklyn chapter for planning the "stall-in."

Farmer said the demonstrations were intended to point up the contrast "between the glitter and the fantasy of the World's Fair and the real world of discrimination."

Also arrested was Bayard Rustin, a leader of last summer's civil rights march on Washington.

Demonstrators said they were protesting what they called discriminatory hiring practices of some companies sponsoring exhibits, and segregation and discrimination both South and North, especially in schools and housing.

There was no charge that the fair itself was guilty of discrimination.

Demonstrators stopped a subway train bound for the fair by pulling an emergency cord, and then ran onto the tracks and blocked the car doors. Police wrestled them away.

Ten demonstrators sat down on the Ford pavilion's escalators. The company closed the building to the public because, a spokesman said, it was unwilling to forcibly eject the demonstrators, and afraid people would be injured stumbling over them.

The Schaefer beer exhibit also closed as pickets staged sit-downs and yelling, stomping processions. More than 100 of the arrests were made at the Schaefer pavilion.

Herbert Callender, head of the Bronx CORE and one of those who refused bail, was jailed for a loud protest at a police station.

"You and your officers are mishandling my people," he shouted.

In a Senate speech, Sen. Richard Russell, D-Ga., urged an investigation of alleged police brutality at the fair.

One New York police officer told a reporter: "You just tell Sen. Russell he's plain crazy. These people have been treated with kid gloves."

Another officer said there were bound to be bruises. "What do you expect when you have four patrolmen dragging a man out and he is kicking away like mad?"

In Washington, Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., said that if "this sort of thing had happened in the South, we would see big headlines screaming 'police brutality.'"

Farmer carried an instrument with him to the fair and a sign reading, "This is a cattle prod used by Louisiana police."

Lt. Gov. C. G. Aycock of Louisiana commented at Baton Rouge that cattle prods were more humane than nightsticks.

The New York City police said they didn't use their nightsticks. There was one report a Transit Authority officer used a nightstick in a subway tunnel, the department said.

At the Florida pavilion, police reported a demonstrator being pulled down from a pole kicked a plain clothes detective in the face and knocked him five feet.

Man Accidentally Falls On Sharpened Knife

Herbert Lee Chapman, 29, of 417 S. Weber St., was treated for a self inflicted stab wound suffered when he fell while sharpening a knife at 205 S. Wahsatch Ave., Wednesday night, police reported today.

Chapman, who received three stitches to close the wound and was admitted to Memorial Hospital for observation, told officers he went to the hospital when he could not stop the wound from bleeding.

Light Opposition Attends Sign Committee Meet

attracting a motorist traveling along the freeway at 70 mph.

The Pikes Peak Advertising Club went on record with a prepared statement read and submitted to the committee by J. D. Hill opposing any legislation, national or local, which restricts legitimate advertising media.

"In the atmosphere of American free enterprise, we (The Pikes Peak Advertising Club) believe that all avenues of communications with the consuming public, should, within legal limits, be uncluttered by confining governmental regulation," Hill said.

He quoted the club's agreement with a recent statement of U. S. Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges stating that: "Advertising has strengthened our social fabric in a significant way. It has broadened our cultural horizon by stimulating an expanding interest in travel, music, books and periodicals, fashions, artistic pursuits, and higher education."

"Our churches have benefited by advertising support of religious worship, family prayer, and brotherhood."

"Our charities have received enormous support through advertising's public service efforts that have focused public attention on urgent social and health problems," he continued.

"The advertising industry has labored with dedication and zeal in the service of our national purposes and public needs. It has made outstanding contributions for which America is grateful," he said.

Also supporting the cause for more lenient sign laws was Craig Ramsey, of Ramsey Associates advertising firm, who maintained that there was no connecting relation between highway signs and accidents.

Local sign manufacturers were also present in support of more leeway in signs. They generally contended that the signs were designed to add to the general attractiveness of the area rather than detract, and that the sign men bent their efforts to do the best job possible in that direction.

Going on record opposing more lenient sign laws was the Colorado Springs Charter Association. Mrs. W. L. Abbott, secretary of the some 300 member organization, spoke on behalf of overall welfare in the looks of the city, and cited increased highway hazards as a result of larger signs.

Also in opposition was the Springs Area Beautiful Association (SPABA), with a statement entered on record at the meeting, opposing any change in the existing ordinance.

At the close of the meeting, Dr. Sondermann said that a meeting would be held today at 4 p.m. at the Little Theater on the city portion of the sign controversy.

GOP Candidates To Receive Policy Briefing

"noted interest in private property." He said some unhappiness might be natural before the November election, but "after November I'm sure they'll be happy—with what the economy is doing."

—Asked about the possible selection of Secretary of Defense McNamara as his vice presidential running mate, Johnson said: "I don't plan to conduct any evaluation scores" on possible running mates before the Democratic nominating convention. Question about McNamara's past Republican associations, Johnson said: "I've never been a man who believed in guilt by association."

On other points, Johnson declared:

He saw a very few civil rights demonstrators Wednesday at the opening of the New York World's Fair whom he considered rude. "I pity them," he said. "They served no good purpose."

The President will tour areas of heavy unemployment and poverty in Indiana, Kentucky, West Virginia and Pennsylvania Friday.

Additional defense savings of $68 million a year were announced.

Johnson said the installations affected by the economies and specific actions to be taken would be announced later by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara.

Johnson raised the prospect of spending more money to pursue the anti-Communist war in South Viet Nam. And he said he hoped "we'll see some other flags in there" as a result of discussions at the recent conference of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization.

Peace Talks to End Laotian Crisis Continue

pro-Communist Pathet Lao forces into a strong coalition government. This is the coalition that Souvanna formed after the Geneva agreement, but the Pathet Lao has refused to cooperate for 14 months.

The coup leaders in offering to back Souvanna at the head of a new coalition, said he must first resign as premier, a request he has steadfastly rejected. If Souvanna failed to put together a government, the rightist leaders could turn to someone else.

Etam said the aim of the coup was to end the political paralysis.

In the talks at Luang Prabang the king told Souvanna he still considered him premier, informed sources said. In addition Souvanna received the backing of U.S. Soviet, British, French, Australian and Indian diplomats who also went to Luang Prabang.

Peking Radio said Red China would ask for another Geneva conference if the crisis in Laos worsens.

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Adolph Rupp, University of Kentucky basketball coach, is known as "The Man in the Brown Suit." This title was given to him because of his superstitious preference of brown as the color of his game-night suit.

Agreement Ends Threat Of Rail Strike

rels in the annals of collective bargaining.

The unions won pay increases for railroad yard employes, expense money for overnight layovers, maintenance of present mileage payments, and seven paid holidays for hourly-paid employes.

The railroads gained the right to cut the number of employes now required to man self-propelled track maintenance equipment and limited use of train crews for yard work under certain conditions.

Union withdrawal of demands for overtime pay for road employes and night pay for all classes of train crewmen also represented gains for management.

The only unresolved issue was the railroads' proposal to combine some divisional train runs, thus lengthening the number of miles before crews must be relieved.

This issue will be referred to a national committee of labor and management and two private mediators, Dr. George Taylor and Theodore Kheel. Although Taylor and Kheel, called in by Johnson to help solve the dispute, have no authority to decree a binding solution, government spokesmen said there is no possibility of a renewed strike threat over the issue of divisional runs.

In Syracuse, the two dissident unionists said the Central's line east of Buffalo would be struck at 12:01 a.m. Saturday. The dispute is "not settled as far as we're concerned," said Joseph Kenefick and Michael W. Herr.

Kenefick, general chairman of the railroad trainmen on the Central lines east of Buffalo, said "from what we've heard of the agreement it's not satisfactory."

Herr, strike chairman of Central employes, said a strike against the carrier would tie up the ports of Boston, New York and Philadelphia and curb transportation elsewhere.

Taylor and Kheel will have the final say in translating the general agreement on the other issues into contract language.

Spokesmen said this is not expected to take long.

Johnson said the settlement averted a strike that would have slashed national production 13 per cent and sent prices spiraling upward as the flow of goods was choked off.

"I am glad to tell you that all of this is now avoided. Our robust economy can continue its healthy and encouraging forward movement," Johnson said.

"Business and labor can take new encouragement. All of us can remain optimistic. My heart tonight is filled with the pride that I hope every American must feel," he said.

"This agreement is American business and American labor operating at its very best," the President added.

Wirtz said the settlement of the lengthy dispute was made possible after "it became perfectly clear that the President of the United States was going to insist on a voluntary settlement."

Said Johnson:

"The terms of the agreement are just and fair. This is a good day for our country and our system of government."

The agreement has no effect on the two issues which brought the nation to the brink of a nationwide strike last year and caused Congress to step in with the first compulsory arbitration law in peacetime history.

The two issues resulted in an arbitration ruling permitting the railroads to eliminate some 30,000 firemen's jobs and review on a local basis the number of other train crew members.

The arbitration ruling is now being appealed by the unions before the Supreme Court. The railroads have agreed not to start eliminating firemen or seeking review of train crew size until after the high court rules.

Although the firemen's issue could conceivably result in another strike threat after the two-year arbitration ruling expires, union sources indicated this was unlikely.

The five unions involved in the frequently bitter dispute are the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, the Switchmen's Union of North America, the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen—all AFL-CIO — and two independent unions, the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and the Order of Railway Conductors and Brakemen.

President, Thousands More Going to World's Fair Today

By HENRIETTA LEITH

NEW YORK (AP)—President Johnson and thousands of other Americans are going to the fair today.

The fair is that sprawling collection of ultra-modern architecture, art and industry, national and state pride, "Futurama" Guy Lombardo, dinosaurs and Disney characters, rides and shows known as the New York World's Fair of 1964-65.

It opens with flag-raising bands and speech-making. Before this opening day is over it may have been inspected in part—they say it would take a week or more to see it all by quarter to a half million people.

The attendance estimates vary because of the plan by civil rights demonstrators to stall cars on highways leading to the fair, form non-paying queues at ticket windows, and use various other devices to keep people out of the fair.

An impressive opening day program, from the 9:15 a.m. flag raising at the Court of the Universe to a Fountain of Planets show 12 hours later, was planned.

President Johnson's midday appearance was the highspot but there also were to be brief speeches by former President Harry S. Truman, Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, Mayor Robert F. Wagner, and India's Mrs. Indira Gandhi.

Also special on opening day are the premiere performance of Ferde Grofe's "World's Fair Suit," by a full symphony orchestra, presentation of first folders of the World's Fair commemorative stamp by Postmaster General John A. Gronouski, two band concerts, and a parade including Miss America, Miss Universe and Miss USA as well as antique cars, an Alaskan dog team, a stagecoach, folk dancers and innumerable bands.

The official ceremonies center around the huge hollow, ribbed globe called the Unisphere, the theme structure of the fair.

Spreading out from the Unisphere are landscaped roads to all corners of the mile-square park—with 3,500 benches for the foot-weary.

In a two-acre space park sponsored jointly by government agencies and the fair tower the biggest collection of spacecraft ever displayed outside Cape Kennedy, Fla.

In the international area, 43 pavilions show everything from Africa's famed Watusi dancers and drummers to a reproduction of an old Belgian village.

Attractions sponsored by American industry include the world's strongest man-made beam in the Tower of Light; a money tree with a million dollars in real currency of many nations; a ride through the future from the ocean floor to the moon, a time-tunnel ride to the days of cave men and prehistoric monsters., and life-sized, animated models of dinosaurs in an authentic setting reproduced from fossil evidence.

State pavilions show off features of each state's geography and industry and culture—an igloo from Alaska, a coal mine from West Virginia, Dixieland jazz from Louisiana, Indian art from Montana.

Many of these attractions—about 75 per cent of the fair—are free once the visitor buys admission to the grounds—$2 for adults and $1 for children 2 to 12.

Other shows and rides cost anywhere from 25 cents to $6 extra—and a hot dog will be 30 cents.

The fair cost about a billion dollars and took four years to put up. Despite around-the-clock labor by thousands of workmen, today's visitors will not see quite all of it. Only about 90 per cent of the fair was finished for opening day.

Bear Hunters Rescued From Arctic Icepack

BARROW, Alaska (AP) — Four bear hunters, two of them injured, were rescued Wednesday from the Arctic icepack 85 miles northeast of here, where they spent more than 48 hours after making a forced landing.

They were picked up in a light plane piloted by Bob Cooper of Fairbanks and flown to a larger plane on smoother ice nearby, which flew them to Barrow. They left behind their two damaged planes and a bear they had shot.

Pilot Juels Thibedeau had cuts on his face and Stan Dale, a passenger, an injured leg. Olly Huddleson, the other pilot, and Army Sgt. John E. De Frehn, the other passenger, were unhurt. All are from Fairbanks.

The hunters left Barrow Sunday and radioed for help Monday.

Income Tax Refunds Total $12 Million

DENVER (AP) — Income tax refunds totaling $12,501,664 have been sent to 321,967 Coloradans by the State Revenue Department. The average check is $38.83.

Director Hugh Weed Jr. said the department expects to complete by mid-June the processing of refunds which will total about $17 million.

Looking at Hollywood

By HEDDA HOPPER

© 1964. By the Chicago Tribune

HEDDA RINGS BIG BELL FOR MARY TYLER MOORE

HOLLYWOOD — Why we run all over the world looking for talent when we've got Mary Tyler Moore right under our nose, I wouldn't know. She can do anything — and did on Danny Kaye's last TV show. It moved so fast you didn't realize until it was over that Danny who suffered third degree burns after pouring boiling water on his leg and foot, sat throughout the show. But Danny's as funny sitting as hopping, and with Mary to keep him company he didn't have a worry.

When I called to congratulate her, she told me she started dancing at 8; gave it up at 15. Last fall she began studying again and was ready when Kaye called. Since then she's signed for two Sullivan shows. She has three months off from the Dick Van Dyke show — plenty of time to make a picture. Mary can do anything Doris Day does — and in spades.

Loretta Young's helping raise a million dollars for St. Anne's Maternity hospital. They turned away 700 girls last year because they had no room. Loretta has absolutely no desire to resume her career; hasn't enough hours in the day to do everything she wants to do. Our conversation was interrupted by her son who wanted his weekly allowance.

Col. Tom Parker isn't upset that the Beatles are giving his boy, Elvis Presley, some competition: "They're the greatest. Those boys play the finest tune on the cash register I've ever heard. When they went on Sullivan's show, Elvis sent 'em a wire. I signed my name, too — it didn't cost any more." When a fellow from Mississippi called the colonel to tell him the good business "Kissin' Cousins" was doing, he said, "Yes, since we started making artistic pictures, business has been great."

Fabian, just back from Hawaii and "Ride the Wild Surf," expects smoother sailing in his next, "Erasmus with Freckles" with Jimmy Stewart. They had bad luck on "Surf." The first director was canned, then Don Taylor took over. He had to leave for three days when his mother died, and Phil Karlson stepped in. He drew the three days when they were filming all the water scenes. I asked when he'd get a vacation. "Who wants it?" he said.

Ian Fleming's latest James Bond thriller, "You Only Live Twice," is out and the jacket features a fat, loathsome toad, sitting on some bamboo canes under a pink flower, crushing a beautiful blue dragonfly in its paw. It was treated as a special news event in London. Fleming drives a 1939 Bentley, buys his coffee beans in a special store in Oxford street, eats speckled eggs from French marans hens, buys Norwegian heather honey, and uses Smith and Wesson's automatic holstered in a Burns-Martin triple-draw holster. I'll bet Al Capone didn't know about that.

Lucille Ball's writer, Madelyn Martin, sent this: "The item in your column about my coming marriage to Dr. Richard Davis served as a wedding announcement. Dick and I have been getting letters from friends all over the country. From the amount of mail I've received from Hoosiers, you must be the biggest thing in Indiana since James Whitcomb Riley."

Dobbie Reynolds looks so well, you'd never know she's a very sick girl. She's suffering from some glandular problems and has been told by a specialist that she'll have to slow down. She'll do no more pictures this year and only one in '65. The minute she starts feeling better that physician will have to tie her down to keep her quiet, but right now she doesn't feel like arguing.

Sam Marx, who was a fixture in the story department at Metro for 18 years, has gone TV with a vengeance. Has sold three shows for this fall. Couldn't happen to a brighter man.

Dick Chamberlain's delighted with the script of "Joy in the Morning," about a young married couple during the depression years, and starts the picture opposite Yvette Mimeux on May 11. When I asked Dick if he'd gotten himself engaged to anyone, he gave me an emphatic no! "I'm playing the field for the first time and I like it," he said.

Esther Higgins of Collingswood, N. J., writes "Hollywood stars have invaded TV. Why not the other way around? For insance, how about full length color movies of Perry Mason, Hillbillies, Bonanza, Katie and Bachelor Father?" Good heavens, girl, we've got enough trouble as it is.

CBS would like Tony Bennett for a weekly variety show this fall. He opens at the Grove this week and everyone will be there to hear him sing "I Left My Heart in San Francisco." Well, who hasn't?

HYPERBARIC OCYGEN CHAMBERS

Many hospitals are installing hyperbaric chambers to treat a variety of emergency conditions, including heart attacks, gangrene, tetany, carbon monoxide poisoning, gas gangrene, and decompression sickness (the bends). The technic is said to be of value also in emphysema and impaired circulation.

Operations are performed in the chamber of blue babies and X-ray treatments are given to fight cancer. This is the type of tank that was used to treat Patrick Bouvier Kennedy, who died shortly after birth from hyaline membrane disease.

The gas is administered to individuals sitting or lying in a high pressure chamber. The procedure can be likened to administering oxygen to a person in a caisson 33 to 66 feet under water, where the pressure is two to three atmospheres.

The blood in the lungs absorbs many times the normal amounts of oxygen because of the high pressure in the tank. As the blood circulates it provides the tissues with all the oxygen they need for survival. This is the aim of oxygenation.

Hospital closets and basements are filled with unused gadgets, machines, and instruments purchased at the suggestion of an overly enthusiastic member of the staff. These devices were discarded when the medico or his staff found them only half as good as originally reported. Others were impracticable, expensive to run, or had no advantage over routine procedures.

I am not trying to underestimate the value of hyperbaric oxygenation. But time will tell whether the treatment will be successful and an improvement over existing remedies. It may be lifesaving for those with gas gangrene or carbon monoxide poisoning. An unanswered question is whether oxygen always gets through the membranes of the lungs and how it reaches bloodless (gangrenous) tissues when the involved artery is plugged.

In addition, we are dealing with excessive air pressures and 100 per cent oxygen. Both can be dangerous, depending upon the physical condition of those exposed and the experience of the operator. Furthermore the chamber holds several people and the hazards are shared by patient, physician, and nurse. Until more is known about the device, its use should be confined to the larger medical centers.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self - addressed envelope accompanies request.

Asthma And Sensitivity

Mrs. R. writes: Is bronchial asthma in children caused by allergy to certain foods?

Reply

This is one cause. Other cases are due to sensitivity to inhaled substances such as house dust. In still others, infections like colds or bronchitis play a role. Send stamped, self - addressed envelope for leaflet on bronchial asthma.

Painful Tongue

M. M. writes: Is there any way to get relief for neuritis of the tongue?

Reply

Yes. A consultation with a nerve specialist is suggested if ordinary pain killers and vitamins have not helped.

Chubbines

J. S. writes: Do overweight children always become fat adults?

Reply

Not always, but many obese adults were chubby oyungsters.

Enlarged Ovaries

H. B. writes: Why do the ovaries enlarge?

Reply

Tumors and cysts are the most frequent causes.

FRENCH "DIXIE"

One of the most plausible explanations of how the South came to be called "Dixie" is that before the Civil War a bank in New Orleans printed $10 bills using the French word for "ten," which is "dix."

Warm-Weather Items Appear in U.S. Markets

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Produce counters at the nation's markets are filled this week with warm-weather items such as asparagus, green beans from Florida, cauliflower from California, yellow corn, avocados and strawberries.

Prices on many of these items are rapidly declining toward the best buy level.

Stores are also placing seasonal emphasis on dairy products, according to the U.S. Departments of Agriculture and Interior. In many areas eggs, especially the larger sizes, are selling at extremely attractive prices.

Strawberries are in good supply almost everywhere.

In the vegetable line this weekend you'll find major displays of yellow squash, broccoli, cabbage, radishes, onions and spinach.

At the meat counter, beef and pork continue to dominate the "special" offerings. In beef, steaks and roasts are at the top of the list. In pork, a wide variety of steaks, butt roasts and hams are offered.

At the fish counter smelts, clams and swordfish are the best buys in the Northeast. In the Southeast crabmeat, shad and whiting are considered attractive. Clams and smelts also are popular in the Midwest while in the Far West shoppers will find plenty of salmon, halibut and sole.

Green Mountain Falls News

By CAROLYN McADAMS — 687-9065

Highlighted as one of the most outstanding meetings of the year, the April 13 Ladies' Night covered dish dinner meeting of the Woodland Park Lions Club was attended by some 160 persons. It was held in the Community Building, Green Mountain Falls, at 7 p.m. Hobart Brown program chairman for the month, presented the annual appearance of the orchestra from the Colorado School for the Deaf and the Blind of Colorado Springs. Allen Uhles, director, Ida Hutchinson, pianist, and 18 members of the orchestra were guests at the buffet dinner. The musical program opened with the "Oklahoma Medley," "People Will Say We Are in Love," "Oh! What a Beautiful Morning," and "Surrey With the Fringe on Top." Following was "Kringleville Polka," featuring intermittent train signals in the melody; "The Waltzing Cats," a waltz by Le Roy Anderson; "Baha," a rock and roll trio by the Three Naturals playing guitar, banjo and bass violin; "The Green Back Dollar," a vocal solo with guitar accompaniment; "Pipe Line," a guitar ensemble; "My Buddie Polka," a trumpet duet; "Lets Have a Little Fun" an accordian solo; "Beer Barrel Polka"; "Poor Old Kalija" and "The Bath Ballad of David Crew Cut," a take-off from Davey Crockett, bass violin solos; "Green Green," a hoot-n-nanny chorus with six girls; "Lets Get Acquainted," a girls' quartet; also "We Are Siamese"; then "Everybody Loves a Lover"; "Wheels Go Round and Round"; "Zoro of Spain" and the finale "Cimmeron." Allen Uhles announced the orchestra had taped "The Waltzing Cats" and "Cimmeron" as the two numbers the D and B School would enter in the National Competition to be held in Boston, June 25. All of the blind schools in the United States (one from each state) would compete. The audience gave the group a standing ovation for their wonderful program. Hobart Brown, on behalf of the Woodland Park Lions Club, presented Mr. Uhles with a check for $100 which is an annual gift from the club, used for musical repairs and supplies. A reservation for the orchestra to visit Woodland Park Lions Club next year on the second Monday in April was made.

It was announced at the business session that the annual Lions Club Carnival and pancake supper would be held Saturday, Aug. 8, in the Community Building in Green Mountain Falls. Junior (Herman) Fleischer will serve as general chairman for his third consecutive year, assisted by Bill Cornie and Ray Kassler. Kenneth Quinn, past president of the Woodland Park Lions Club and a candidate for district governor, was accompanied by Hobart Brown, Max Salisbury, Elmer Tesker, L. C. Jackson, on a visitation to Simla Tuesday night; then to Rocky Ford Wednesday noon, with George Roth, Hal Brown, Dee Crumbaker and L. C. Jackson. There are 13 clubs in the district which will have been visited by a delegation of at least five members during the district governors contest, held through March and April. The state convention will be held May 22, 23, 24 in Durango, with election of new state officers.

Les Gayler, fire chief of the Green Mountain Falls - Chipita Park volunteer fire department reported 10 men attended the first two-hour training session on First Aid held Friday, April 17, at the fire station, from 7:30 to 9:30. Four more classes will be held on Friday nights each week, with Rod Lewis, of the Manitou Ranger Station, the instructor.

Larry Lindholm, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Lindholm, left April 17 for Fort Leonard Wood, Missouri where he will undergo basic training in the Line Section of the National Guard. Larry's enlistment will be six months active duty, then in the reserve for five years. He will have a two weeks' leave in June, then go to Camp Gordon, Ga. to attend a school for pole training.

Mrs. Les Gayler is wearing a cast on her right foot and using crutches, as the result of an injury she suffered last week, stepping in a small hole in her back yard and breaking a bone. Mr. and Mrs. Les Gayler received word from Bolling Green, Ky. that Noble Burford had died on April 14. Mr. Buford has been a summer resident for many years with three cottages "Kaintuck," "Stone Hoven" and "Highland Lodge." The community extends sincere sympathy to the family.

Substitutes last week were Jane Dzwons, Donna Kohl, Susie Denman and Doris Kincaid.

Mrs. Maxine Haynes and Mrs. Jane Dzwons, were substitute players last week on the Woodlanders Bowling League playing on the Woodland Park Pharmacy team.

Miss Elaine White, pianist for W. Mark Sexson Assembly LT of Rainbow Girls, attended the regular meeting Monday, April 13, at the Masonic Temple in Manitou Springs. A business session with questions and answers about Rainbow Girls organization, was held. Other members from Ute Pass are Karen Gafford, Linda Houchin, Elizabeth Pole, Linda Kohl and Pat Treece.

Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Dobbins, 102 Oklahoma Road, Manitou Springs, are the owners of Dustins Kitchen in Green Mountain Falls and are busy painting and redecorating for their opening May 1. Mrs. Dobbins for approximately seven years was secretary to Supt. W. W. Bundy at Manitou Springs High School, and resigned from her office a week ago. Replacing her will be Mrs. Carol Walker who has for the past two years served as secretary to grade school principal, Mrs. Cleone Beedy. Mrs. Patricia (Dwight) Bradley has accepted the position of secretary to Mrs. Beedy. Mr. and Mrs. Bradley reside at 914 Osage Avenue, Manitou Springs.

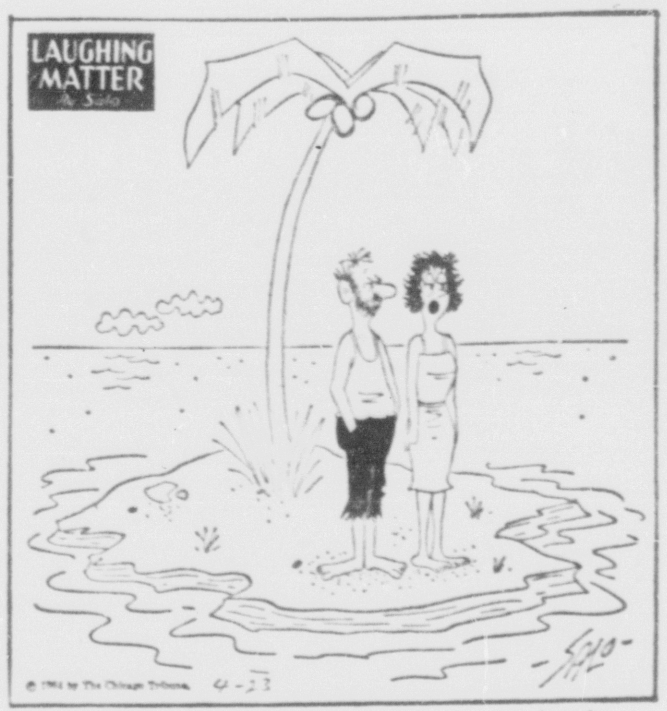
Mrs. Zella Houchin arrived in Colorado Springs last Friday to spend several days with her daughter, Mrs. Esther Poulson, before opening her "O'Gee" cottage for the summer. Mrs. Houchin has a winter residence in Phoenix, Ariz.

Guest of Mrs. Edith Roberts for a short visit is her daughter, Mrs. Lloyd Travis, from California. Accompanying Mrs. Travis is Mrs. Theodore Longwell, who is here to visit her sister, Mrs. Lois La Haye and family.

The Crystola Inn five-man team, playing in the Ute Pioneer Bowling League Tuesday nights at Ute Lanes, won all four scratch games last week having a total of 74 won, and 54 lost, for the season. For the three game series Ralph Singmaster scored 560, Kenneth Lefland 545, Jack Elston, 537, Rex Speckman, 534 and Rusty Houchin 490, all scratch scores.

Mrs. Penny Tillman drove her daughter, Miss Candy Tillman, and Miss Regina Dillon, members of the 4-H Food Group, to the Judging Contest of the High Country Home Economics Association, held in Fairplay, Colo., Saturday April 18. The all day session was held at the Fairplay Extension Building, sponsored by the Central Colorado Cattlemen's Association. Sixty girls from Teller, Park, Chaffee and Jefferson Counties competed. Six catagories were judged including place settings, teen age menus, Sweaters, materials for bed spreads, shears for sewing and methods to polish silverware. Candy Tillman was awarded third place for her judging ability and Regina Dillon placed 14th.

Mrs. Penny Tillman was the guest officer for the secretaries station, at the Friendship Night meeting of Pueblo No. 7 Order of the Eastern Star, held April 14. Attending the meeting were several grand officers of the Grand Chapter of Colorado. Mrs. Pearl Tillman accompanied her daughter-in-law.



"Will we still owe the 'Go now—pay later' people when we're rescued?"

Driver Fined On Three Counts

Louis Marvin Berardi was fined a total of $70 and $12 costs on three separate charges in Justice of the Peace James F. Quine's court Monday. Berardi, 27, 1621 Lorraine St. was charged with driving without an operator's license, driving while under susepnsion and failing to obey a summons. UN Group Studies Sheep in Russia

ROME (AP) — Sixteen technicians of the United Nations Food and Agricultural Organization have gone to the Soviet Union for a first-hand study of the Karakul sheep. These are the sheep whose wool is used to make valuable Persian Lamb coats. They are an important source of export earnings of the U.S.S.R., Iran, Pakistan and Afghanistan.

Pennies Put Indian Sign on Robbers

BRANSON, Mo. (AP) — If anyone goes on a spending spree around here with Indian Head pennies, authorities are going to be pretty suspicious. Thieves broke into the Shepherd of the Hills Farm Museum near here and stole 640 of the coins.

Male Cook Takes Honors From Women

MASTIC BEACH, N. Y. (AP) — Anthony DeMeglio, the only male finalist in a cooking contest held in high schools throughout southern suffolk county, walked off with top honors.

The 18-year-old senior won the Bake-Off with his orange crumb coffee cake. He is a member of a homemaking-for-boys class at William Floyd High School.

PICKLEBURGER

NEW YORK (UPI) — Chopped dill pickles and ground lamb combine to make a great new 'burger to cook on the grill.

Combine 1¼ pounds lean lamb, round, with ⅛ teaspoon marjoram, 1 teaspoon salt, dash pepper and ½ cup chopped dill pickles. Mix well and shape into 6 patties. Broil 3 to 4 inches from source of heat, or cook on outdoor grill, 8 to 10 minutes on each side, or until done. Serve on hamburger rolls, split and buttered. Serves 6.

Researchers Designing Robot Cabbage Picker

ITHACA, N. Y. (AP) — Cornell University researchers are in the "early stages" of designing a mechanical cabbage picker. Preliminary work is said to indicate that the most practical type would pull the cabbage from the ground, root and all, then convey it past a cutter to remove roots and bottom leaves. The heads would then go to a truck or bin.

Cripple Creek-Victor News

By NAOMA POPE — 277J

Mr. and Mrs. George Dern returned home from a three weeks vacation trip. They visited friends in Sun City and Scottsdale, Ariz., and were guests at the Flamingo Hotel in Las Vegas, Nev. They also reported they had a very interesting and enjoyable trip through Death Valley. In San Francisco, Calif., they were house guests of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Volkert, and grandson Jimmy. En route home they stopped in Yucca Valley, Calif., where they were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Patton.

Mrs. B. G. Robinson spent the weekend of April 11 in Goodland, Kan., where she attended the annual state convention of the Kansas Federation of Music Clubs.

A large number of people from Woodland Park, Colorado Springs and surrounding areas attended the Democratic dinner-dance held at the Cripple Creek Inn Saturday night.

Betty Ann Sperry and Rouchelle Duzan and a friend, of Denver, were Sunday guests of Miss Virginia Wood in Cripple Creek.

Betty Merchant and Ronnie Jo Heifner were Colorado Springs visitors Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Richardson spent Saturday and Sunday visiting in Denver.

Jerry Heifner, Dennis Carter, John Mentzer and Kenny Fuller attended the auto show in Denver Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Ford and children of Colorado Springs were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Hoolihan and children in Cripple Creek.

Wayne Heifner and son Jeffy were Colorado Springs visitors Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Heifner were Pueblo visitors Sunday afternoon, where Wayne attended a business meeting for the United Church of Christ.

Mrs. Clarine Andrew entertained the WBA at her home in Cripple Creek recently. A short business meeting was held, followed by card games and a social hour. Delicious refreshments were served to: Mrs. Edna Nichols, Mrs. Rena Vetter, Mrs. Mary Swift, Mrs. Lou Mentzer, Mrs. Velma Johnson, Mrs. Lulabelle Neppel, Mrs. Catherine Rodgers and Mrs. Loretta Tremayne.

George Hammers, of Colorado Springs, spent a few days here last week visiting friends.

"The Night of January 16th," a three-act play presented by members of the Cripple Creek-Victor High School, was well received by a large audience Monday night. The play, directed by Miss Betty Merchant, was held in the District Court room in the court house in Cripple Creek.

Mrs. Tom Jones and son Leslie, of Colorado Springs, were dinner guests at the Wayne Heifners Monday evening and attended the play, "The Night of January 16th," presented at the Courthouse by high school students.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gassmann and Jack Richardson were among Colorado Springs business visitors Monday.

Mrs. Joe Swift entertained the ELE-TNT club at her home in Cripple Creek Tuesday evening. A short business meeting was held, after which card games were played. At the close of the evening the hostess served delicious refreshments to: Mrs. Ralph Davis, Mrs. Lee Ray Hawkins, Mrs. Robert Trumpy, Mrs. Leslie Wilkinson, Mrs. Richard Williams and Mrs. Walter Witcher. Guests for the evening were Mrs. Robert Mentzer and Mrs. Edna Nichols.

Mr. and Mrs. John Tremayne, Mrs. Helen Comstock and Mrs. Virginia Yonkers, of Denver, attended funeral services here Tuesday afternoon for Mrs. Nettie Chollak and Mrs. Juanita Devitt. While here Mr. and Mrs. Tremayne were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Tremayne and family and Mrs. Comstock and Mrs. Yonkers were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Fay and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald B. Jaynes and Mrs. Roy Stitt drove to Pueblo Tuesday, where they attended Friendship Night at Chapter No. 7, OES. Mr. Jaynes was guest sentinel.

Mrs. George Carter was hostess at a one o'clock luncheon Wednesday afternoon to Fortnightly Club members. Mesdames George Dern, Joe Vetter, Jack Richardson, C. H. Carlton, and B. G. Robinson.

A Chinese motif was followed in menu and table decorations, the luncheon concluding with the reading of "forecasts" in fortune cookies. A business session was conducted by Mrs. Catrer, including officers' reports and election of officers for 1964-65 club year. Those elected to serve were: Mrs. Robinson, president; Mrs. Richardson, vice president; Mrs. Carter, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Dern, courtesy chairman; Mrs. Vetter, telephone chairman. Members voted to continue present scheduling of one meeting per month from October through May, with meetings to be held on the first Wednesday of the month. Mrs. Richardson was in charge of the afternoon's program, giving a resume of articles from "venture," publication of American Express, on the cities of New York and Tokyo. A luncheon meeting May 20 in Colorado Springs will be the concluding event of the current club year.

The Misses Margi and Sharon Heisel, of Boulder, spent the weekend here visiting their family and friends.

Cripple Creek-Victor PTA will meet tonight, April 20, at the Victor Elementary School. Mrs. Richard Myers, president, will be in charge of the meeting. Business to be dispered will be the election of president to replace Mrs. Arthur Stanker, who had to resign, election of first and second vice presidents, reading of revision to by-laws. This will be "hobby night" and anyone with hobbies to display are asked to contact Mrs. Myers, Mrs. Verna Moore or Mrs. Lou Mentzer. A report will be given on state convention by in-coming president, Mrs. Louis Moore.

Gold Nugget Chapter No. 30, OES, will observe Obligation Night when they meet at the Masonic Hall in Cripple Creek Thursday evening, April 23.

Congressman Disagrees With RFK's Assessment

WASHINGTON (AP) —In the news from Washington:

COSA NOSTRA: Rep. John J. Rooney, D-N.Y., disagrees with Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy's assessment of testimony about Cosa Nostra such as that given by ex-mobster Joseph Valachi.

In testimony given Rooney's House Appropriations subcommittee last Jan. 30 and released Tuesday, Kennedy called testimony such as Valachi's "one of the most significant developments in the field of law enforcement in recent years."

But Rooney said Valachi was "utterly cockeyed" about the death of an important witness years ago and implied that everything Valachi had said has been known for 20 or 30 years.

BRIEFINGS: Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona calls unwise a proposal by President Johnson to give intelligence briefings to "major candidates for the office of president."

But perennial GOP candidate Harold E. Stassen quickly accepted Johnson's Monday offer and said he will ask that intelligence officers come to him in Indiana, where he is campaigning in that state's GOP presidential primary.

Goldwater said the President should wait until the Republicans pick a candidate before offering any secret data. He said too much security information is already being discussed politically—especially by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara.

New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, like Goldwater a candidate for the GOP nomination, said in New Orleans he wouldn't comment without knowing more about the President's proposal.

The office of Sen. Margaret Chase Smith announced: "She looks forward to receiving a formal and official invitation."

There was no immediate comment from Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania, Gov. George Romney of Michigan and former Vice President Richard M. Nixon—all of whom say they are not presidential candidates.

ARRESTS: Authoritative sources say the United States and Soviet Union are close to a consular agreement after the Soviets agreed that whenever an American is arrested in the Soviet Union the American consul must be notified and permitted to visit him in prison.

The sources said Tuesday that the Soviet Union had been told that the United States would not consider a pact without this proviso.

COMMUNIST: The Justice Department has asked the Supreme Court to review a federal appeals court ruling that overturned conviction of the Communist party on a charge of failing to register as an agent of the Soviet Union.

The U.S. Court of Appeals last year threw out the Dec. 17, 1962, federal court conviction. The party was convicted of violating the Subversive Activities Control Act and given the maximum penalty of a $120,000 fine.

In its ruling the appeals court said the government had failed to prove that there was a volunteer available who would step forward and register for the party under the 1950 act.

Ersatz Cigarettes Tested by Scientists

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—Scientists at the Roswell Park Memorial Institute are testing different plant leaves for use as substitutes for tobacco in cigarettes. They have tried sugar beet leaves, dandelion, swiss chard, lettuce, catalpa and others. Most successful so far, the researchers say, have been cabbage leaves with added flavoring. The question now is: are cabbage leaves less harmful than tobacco?

Two East Germans Escape to Berlin

BERLIN (AP) — Two young East Germans rammed a truck through barbed wire barricades on the East Berlin border Monday night, then swam a canal to reach West Berlin.

East German border guards retrieved the truck and repaired the barbed wire.

Integration in South Africa Is Predicted

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Four U.N. experts say they believe segregation in white-ruled South Africa will be abolished eventually.

"What is now at issue is not the final outcome," they reported Monday, "but the question whether on the way the people of South Africa are to go through a long ordeal of blood and hate. If so, all Africa and the whole world must be involved."

The four, appointed by Secretary-General U Thant last December, are Mrs. Alva Myrdal, Sweden; Sir Edward Asafu Adjaye, Ghana; Sir Hugh Foot, Britain; and Dey Ould Sidi Baba, Morocco.

Spanish missionaries who followed the conquistadors into Latin American helped spread the ancient Inca language of Quechua. The missionaries learned the language, then imposed it on tribes that had never spoken it.

Philippines Senate President Resigns

MANILA (AP)—Fredinand E. Marcos, president of the Philippine Senate, resigned today from the presidency of President Diosdado Macapagal's Liberal party and joined the opposition Nacionalista party.

Marcos said he could "no longer stomach the abuses in the government." He has been feuding with Macapagal for months and is considered a likely aspirant for the presidency next year.

Spouse Balks At Recitations Of Shakespeare

By EDDY GILMORE

LONDON (AP)—In the middle of the night, Shakespearean actor and producer Frank Grocott, 81, would get up and boom out long passages from Macbeth or Hamlet.

There came a time when Mrs. Grocott, 52, had to draw the line.

"I don't care if it is Shakespeare's 400th birthday," she said. "I can't stand him anymore."

"Frank was continually reciting Shakespeare. He would get up and rattle off large slices of him."

"Now, I like Shakespeare, but not that much. Inevitably, there were words between my husband and me."

Being reasonable people, the Grocotts worked out a solution.

Mrs. Grocott sleeps in their bungalow. Grocott sleeps in what he calls Anne Hathaway's cottage at the bottom of the garden. Anne Hathaway was Shakespeare's wife.

The veteran Shakespearean actor put it this way:

"Shakespeare must be recited out loud. It's a great pity my wife doesn't appreciate him like I do. Trying to win her over was worse than the taming of the shrew but now if I feel like reciting in the middle of the night, I disturb no one."

Mrs. Grocott answered: "I'm quite happy about the situation."

Physician Says Women Live Longer, Never Retire

By FRANCES LEWINE

WASHINGTON (AP) — White House physician Dr. Janet Travell thinks women live longer than men nowadays because "a woman never retires."

"She keeps on doing the things she's been accustomed to doing all her life," Dr. Travell notes.

The ever-present chores of housekeeping, the dusting and the cleaning up, may be what's behind the longevity of the ladies, Dr. Travell said. "In the older age groups," she added, "women keep much more active than men."

Gray-haired Dr. Travell, an ex-New Yorker, came to the White House in 1961 at the request of President John F. Kennedy, who had been her patient for years for treatment of his back ailment. She was the first woman ever to hold such a job.

This week, Dr. Travell joined Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson on a trip to Cleveland, Ohio to look at a new low-cost public housing development for the elderly.

Dr. Travell evidenced a long-time interest in the study of geriatrics. She thinks, with many other doctors, that keeping mobile and keeping going plays a large part in keeping people living longer. There's a great deal for the medical profession to learn about aging and "we need more research programs," she said.

On the Cleveland trip Dr. Travell, who hasn't been talking much with reporters lately, pulled out some statistics about the elderly.

Armed with Census Bureau reports she called attention to these facts:

—There now are 18 million Americans 65 or over and more than a million over 85.

—12,000 are over 100 years of age.

—In the 95 to 99 bracket, there are twice as many women as men—26,000 to 13,000.

—For every 100 men in the 65 or over population, there are 125 women.

Although Dr. Travell is 62, an age when many persons start to think about retiring, she has no such plans. She continues working daily at the White House as well as serving on the staff of George Washington Medical Center nearby.

She and her husband, John Powell, an investment counselor who have two daughters, are a familiar part of the Washington social circle.

Dr. Travell had a bit of advice too: "never lose your enthusiasm and your drive."

Red Economic Bloc Meets in Moscow

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet bloc's economic organization began an executive meeting today with delegates on hand from Bulgaria, Czechoslovakia, East Germany, Hungary, Poland, Mongolia and Romania.

The meeting of COMECON — the Council of Mutual Economic Assistance—may see an effort by some of the smaller nations to take advantage of the Moscow-Peking feud to avoid Soviet dictates that they mold their economies to fit the Soviet Union.

Soviet emphasis on independent decisions of bloc members in the dispute with Red China gives the smaller countries some room to maneuver away from Moscow's economic control.

Convicted SS Officer Escapes From Lockup

BRUNSWICK, Germany (AP) —A former SS officer who was sentenced Monday to four years in prison for war crimes escaped from jail today.

The prosecutor's office said the escape of former 1st Lt. Hans-Walter Zech-Nenntwich, 47, was "a complete mystery."

Zech-Nenntwich defected to Britain in 1943 and made anti-Nazi broadcasts from there.

He was sentenced with three other members of the SS Elite Guard for taking part in a massacre of Jews during the Nazi occupation of Poland. Zech-Nenntwich was convicted of complicity in the murder of 200 persons.

He was being held in a Brunswick jail until his transfer to prison.

In 1943, while waiting to face a court-martial, he escaped from an SS prison in Warsaw, got aboard a troop ship with forged papers, and faked an attack of appendicitis as the ship passed Sweden. Put ashore, he made his way to Britain.

In 1944, he joined the British Secret Service. He returned to Germany in British uniform and became a consultant to the military government.

Zech-Nenntwich is said to have had many influential friends in Bonn, the West German capital. He went into private business and in 1952 was sentenced to three months in jail for bribing a civilian guard in an army establishment. He was caught rifling through papers in an army purchasing office, searching for competitors' bids.

World's Fair Mastermind Turns to Other Tasks

By BERNARD GAVZER

NEW YORK (AP) — Having masterminded the New York World's Fair, from drawing board to ribbon-snipping, it might seem that at 76 Robert Moses would relax.

But today's official opening of the extravaganza means merely that Moses will turn to other tasks.

What sort? Well, the approaches to the Verrazano-Narrows Bridge, the new span that will link Brooklyn and Staten Island, for example. Moses has called them the most complicated in the world.

How is it that at the moment of his achievement as president of the World's Fair he should be looking to something else?

That quality, in substance, marks most of Moses' public life—a career that covers nearly four decades. It also is a career marked by explosive controversies in which Moses, personally, has confronted the combined forces of the city, state, federal government.

When Moses had a disagreement with Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller in 1962 he resigned from five state positions.

He sometimes moves with a sort of "I'll-go-ahead-while-you-boys-tinker" attitude. He started construction of a bridge once while legislators were arguing about authorizing it.

Opposition to Jones Beach, a prime example of public beach development, was strenuous, and in pushing ahead on the project Moses obtained a growing army of enemies. It has been said he gets enemies by platoons.

The awards, degrees and honors attending him form an imposing list. It is said that Moses has built his monument in steel and concrete, sand and land.

Jones Beach and Fire Island and the St. Lawrence power project and parkways and recreation centers and zoos and gardens are but a few of the monuments.

Of all the things at the fair he has said he personally admired the work of Walt Disney, who worked on four pavilions. Disney, he said, exemplified the spirit of fun which should be a major characteristic of a fair.

"There will be no freaks, shills and dubious side shows," Moses ruled from the beginning.

His disdain for the side show may be the natural position of a scholar — Yale graduate, Rhodes scholar with honors in jurisprudence, doctor of philosophy from Columbia.

A native of New Haven, Conn., he began his public career in New York, as an assistant to the late Gov. Alfred E. Smith.

When annoyed, Moses can unleash a lexicon of vituperation. He has called his enemies, at various times, pompous, greedy, shortsighted, boondoggling, malicious, maundering, exhibitionist, slickers, mountebanks, crackpots.

Less than 24 hours before today's opening, he was asked about plans for counter-measures should civil rights demonstrators invade the fairgrounds.

Moses tossed his glasses to his horse-shoe shaped desk and stalked out, leaving his interviewer with pencil poised.

Turkish Chief May Mediate in Kashmir

ANKARA, Turkey (AP)—Premier Ismet Inonu of Turkey says he has been approached to act as mediator in the Kashmir dispute.

Inonu, 80, told newsmen Monday both India and Pakistan want him to mediate but he won't decide until Foreign Minister Feridun Cemal Erkin returns from the Central Treaty Organization meeting in Washington this week.

Power Failure Blacks Out Much of London

LONDON (AP)—A power failure which blacked out much of London Monday night was blamed on two simultaneous accidents—a fire at a generating plant and a relay station breakdown.

The failure put Buckingham Palace and Picadilly Circus into darkness.

Subway trains were stranded and even the Windmill burlesque theater, which boasts it never closed during World War II was forced to cancel its night show. Another casualty was the opening of the British Broadcasting Corp.'s new channel 2, which had to be postponed 24 hours.

A spokesman for the Central Electricity Board said normal supplies were restored to the city this morning by emergency hookups into the national power grid.

PARIS — A private French firm is buying nuclear radiation detection devices.

First Policewoman Wife of Policeman

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — If Detective Sgt. Vernon Walker of the Franklin County sheriff's office wants to talk shop at home, his wife is an understanding conversationalist.

Mrs. Walker, 32, became the first policewoman on Ohio State University's 31-member force recently, and before that was a member of the Columbus police force. The Walkers have two daughters.

OVER ZEALOUS

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—During a recent home show, one manufacturer sent out a high-salaried engineer to demonstrate a new stove that cleans itself by the high heat method.

The engineer opened the oven and found the job already had been done for him.

A young workman, hired the night before to clean up the "model home," spotted the dirty stove and cleaned it.

Town in England Knowledgeable Concerning Fleas

TRING, England (AP) — This small Hertfordshire town has become a center of the world's knowledge of fleas—and a vital aid to science in studies of bubonic plague.

It all started with an eccentric millionaire's interest in fleas. He was the brother of the late Lord Rothschild and started a collection which now is the most comprehensive in the world.

In 1893 he collected his first specimen. It still is one of the 1,500 in the collection. Then fleas were considered only a nuisance. It was not until a few years later that scientists discovered fleas were carriers of the bubonic plague.

Now, the collection which has specimens of 1,500 of the world's 1,750 known types of flea, has become the reference center for siphonapterologists — the people who study fleas — throughout the world.

Collection Catalogued

The collection is now being catalogued, a long and arduous task. One of the collection's three scientists, Harry Hopkins, an entomologist, has been working at it for 11 years.

He works with Charles Rothschild's daughter, Miriam, now Mrs. George Lane, of Elsfield Manor, near Oxford, who keeps the family interest in the collection alive.

Custodian of the collection is 42-year-old Frans Smit, a Dutch landscape gardener who became a siphonapterologist after collecting fleas as a hobby.

Collection Mecca

He says "The collection is the mecca for people studying fleas throughout the world. They write to us for information about various fleas, and send a steady stream of new specimens."

He goes on: "The importance of correct description of fleas was illustrated only recently. American scientists studying bubonic plague were getting contradictory results. They sent some specimens here.

"Then, contrary to all previous beliefs, we discovered there were in fact two kinds of human flea instead of only one. One spreads the disease, the other doesn't.

"So all the American research was wasted. They have started all over again trying to find out which of the two types carries the disease."

TUNING IN

BOSTON (UPI) —Tomorrow's cardiologists may "monitor" their heart attack patients electronically to detect otherwise silent signs of dangerous arrhythmias.

The technique was devised at Massachusetts General Hospital by Drs. Edwin O. Wheeler, James F. Spann Jr. and Edgar Haber.

The monitor will detect numerous heartbeat irregularities —tachycardia (excessively fast heart action), bradycardia (abnormal slowness), cardiac stoppage and other ailments.

Five Criminal Cases Filed in District Court

Five criminal cases were filed in District Court Wednesday.

Gail Dennis Weber, 29, 15 Narrow St., Manitou Springs, was charged with statutory rape and bond was set at $10,000 by Judge David W. Enoch.

According to the information filed against the defendant, he molested a six-year old girl April 20. Weber was arrested Monday while he was with the child in the Garden of the Gods area.

Patrick Melvin Zigmunt, 18, Ft. Carson, had a charge of no account check filed against him. He is accused of issuing a $10 check March 31 to Widefield Chevron.

Judge Enoch set bond at $1,000.

A charge of forgery was filed against Robert Middleton, 38, 314 W. Brookside St. The defendant is alleged to have forged a $63 check March 13 with the signature "Ken L. Schmidt" with intent to defraud Ute Liquors, 19 E. Las Vegas St.

Barbara Fisher also known as Kay Cagney was charged with forgery. Mrs. Cagney who is 21 years old and lives on Route 4 is accused of forging a $75 check Oct. 4 and giving it to Safeway Stores. It was signed "Capt. R. L. Carlson."

Both defendants had their bonds set at $500 by Judge Enoch.

Bennie Crawford, 25, Mount Holly, Ark., was also charged with forgery.

According to the information filed, Crawford issued a $17 check signed "Arthur Hildret" to the Six Point Market, 227 E. Costilla St., July 16, 1960. Judge Hunter D. Hardeman set bond at $1,000.

Exchange Seminar For Realtors Set For Saturday

A special Exchange Seminar for Realtors will be held Saturday at the Walker Building, 2324 E. Bijou St. The one day real estate conference is sponsored by the Colorado Springs Board of Realtors.

Lecturers for the day are two Denver Realtors, J. David Huskin and Joseph O. McDowell. It will be a comprehensive course in the practical application of exchanging principles and exclusively for Realtors. Only members of the Colorado Springs organization are authorized Realtors.

Among the topics to be covered are "Counseling the Exchange Client," "Taxes in Exchanging," "Depreciation," "Estate Building and Pyramiding," "How to List for Exchange" and "Exchange Contracts and How to Prepare Them."

The seminar will open at 9 a.m. and lunch and coffee breaks are included in the registration. Only advance registrations are being accepted at $15 each.

Theft Cases Reported To Sheriff

Three cases of theft were reported to the sheriff's department Wednesday.

The first happened at the home of Mrs. Eloise Bonicelli who told Deputy Sheriff Bob Snuggs that a set of golf clubs worth $221 had been stolen from the basement of her home at 105 W. Arvada St.

The theft happened sometime during the month of February.

The second incident was reported by Dorothy Parsons, Palmer Lake. Two tires worth $20 were stolen from her mother's garage also at Palmer Lake, Deputy Sheriff Bob Stone said.

The third theft took place sometime Tuesday night when a tire and wheel worth a total of $23 was stolen from William C. Luffman, 1139 Norwood Ave. The missing items were taken from the trunk of his car which was parked in front of his home.

LEARN SWAHILI

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — "Jamba, bwana." (Hello, sir.)

"Habari gani?" (How are you?)

Swahili is being taught in the nearby University City Adult Evening School.

The teacher is James C. Munio of Kenya, a high school student in St. Louis, a youth still in his teens.

One of Munio's students in the adult class is George Falgier, Munio's science teacher in high school.

Munio speaks English and Swahili. He said Swahili is spoken by about 10 million persons in East Africa.

Shriners Will Converge on Pueblo Saturday

Hundreds of Shriners will converge on Pueblo Saturday for the spring ceremonial of Al Kaly Shrine Temple. It will be a day of festivities for the wearers of the red fez as they initiate a class of novices.

The Shriners will include the public in their fun-making with street stunts and a parade through the downtown business district at 11 a.m.

Registration will begin at 10 a.m. at Al Kaly Temple, 101 N. Union St., while Potentate Harold Florman and his divan have a business meeting.

Following the parade the nobles will gather at the temple for luncheon, after which the first and third sections of the ceremonial will be conducted. At 3 p.m. the Camel Herders will induct new members into their organization, followed by the second section of the ceremonial.

Ladies of the Shrine will enjoy a luncheon and fashion show at Minnequa University Club at 1 p.m.

Shriners and their ladies will have a dance and party at Minnequa Club starting at 9 p.m.

Al Kaly members live in the southern half of Colorado, from Colorado Springs to New Mexico. Many members of the El Jebel Temple jurisdiction of Northern Colorado also will take part.

In the parade will be the colorful uniformed bodies, motor patrol, band, chanters, oriental band, mule train and drum and bugle corps.

Principal work of Shriners is to raise money to operate hospitals throughout America where crippled children of all races, creeds and colors are treated. Only those whose families cannot afford the costly straightening of twisted limbs are considered for care. Al Kaly sends crippled children to the Shrine Hospital in Salt Lake City.

Teacher Awarded GE Graduate Fellowship

A former Wasson High School history teacher, C. M. Holloway, has been awarded a General Electric Graduate Fellowship in economics, presented annually at Claremont (Calif.) Men's College.

Holloway is instructing economics and modern European history at Claremont High School, and is working on his Ph.D. in history at the University of California at Riverside.

He received his masters in history at the University of Colorado. Holloway, a former resident of Green Mountain Falls, had planned to teach history at the CU Extension Center here this summer, but had to cancel this when he was notified of the award.

Mock Bomb Attack 'Hits' County Area

More than 100,000 persons in El Paso County were either killed or disabled Wednesday in a mock atomic bomb attack on Wyoming.

The persons would have died from radioactive fallout, Civil Defense officials who conducted the test said. They declared the exercise, designed to test the CD communications system, a complete success.

Col. C. W. Willoughby, City-County Civil Defense director, said that the training exercise was originated in the Office of Civil Defense, Region VI, and was carried out throughout the state.

One phase of the test called for two simulated nuclear bombs to be dropped — one in Wyoming and one near the neighboring state.

The resulting fallout caused "a heavy loss of life," Willoughby said because of inadequate fallout shelter protection areas.

He said a large number of persons were declared "sick or injured" with an estimated 75,000 persons in the county declared "available for use."

"We tested all communications equipment installed in the emergency operating center in the Colorado Springs Police Building, except the sirens, and received messages from radiological monitoring station and from fallout shelters," Willoughby said.

City councilmen and city officials took part in the exercise.

HAROLD GURESKIN

Grueskin Will Head Evans for Congress Group

Harold Grueskin, owner of Dividend Bonded Gas, has been named chairman of the El Paso County Evans for Congress Committee.

Announcement of his appointment was made today by Frank Evans, Pueblo attorney, who is a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Congress in the Third Colorado District.

Grueskin, 18 Second St., Broadmoor, is a native of Sioux City, Iowa. He was educated in Sioux City's public schools, attended the University of Iowa, and served in the armed forces from 1943 until 1945.

For the past six years, Grueskin, 40, has owned and operated Dividend Bonded Gas here. He is a member of the board of directors of the Colorado Springs Symphony Orchestra, the State Democratic Advisory Board, the Colorado Springs Chamber of Commerce committee for the Pikes Peak Hill Climb, and Temple Beth El.

"This is my first active political experience," Grueskin said. "As a businessman interested in the sound growth of this city, I know that we need not only representation but leadership in Congress, the kind of congressman who can move Colorado Springs and this area into the next decade on an energetic, dynamic basis. That's why I'm for Frank Evans."

"As a Colorado Springs businessman," Grueskin continued, "I know that our region's growth and prosperity will continue to be linked to federal programs for many years. I want a congressman who can return our district to the kind of national leadership that matches our local effort."

No Delivery For Parcel Post On Wednesdays

Effective May 6, there will be no delivery of parcel post packages on Wednesdays in Colorado Springs, according to Postmaster R. H. Wardwell. The curtailment in service is part of the Post Office Department's effort to save $12.7 million in the present fiscal year.

First class parcels, airmail parcel post and perishable articles will continue to be delivered on a six-day basis, Wardwell stated.

There also will be a cutback in Saturday window service at the main post office and all postal stations. Money order sales and postal savings business no longer will be transacted, and meter settings, trust fund deposits, box rent collections and other miscellaneous services will be discontinued on Saturdays. Postal patrons are urged to transact as much postal business as possible before Saturday.

Local Dogs Win At Littleton, Denver Shows

Two local dogs won honors at Denver and Littleton last Saturday and Sunday.

Diplomate of Oakdale, a black and tan Cocker Spaniel owned by Earl Bowman, 607 N. Institute, Colorado Springs, finished his Novice Dog Obedience work to earn his CD degree (companion dog). The obedience trial in which Bowman's dog won his degree was part of a show sponsored by the Colorado Kennel Club and was held Sunday in the Denver Coliseum.

At the Mile-Hi Kennel Club Toy Specialty held in Littleton, Saturday a female Italian Greyhound, owned by Catherine Beidler of Colorado Springs, won five points toward her championship by going winners and best of opposite sex in a class of thirteen Italian Greyhounds.

Fifteen Mayors Will Visit NORAD Center

Fifteen will be the magic number at North American Air Defense Command headquarters on Thursday, April 30.

On that day fifteen mayors representing fifteen of the nation's leading cities from fifteen different states will watch the NORAD air defense system in operation from the combat operations center here.

That afternoon, under the guidance of U. S. Air Force Brig. Gen. Dorr E. Newton, Jr., NORAD assistant chief of staff, the fifteen city officials will be briefed on the operation of the joint Canadian-United States air defense system.

Tentative plans for this scheduled NORAD and Colorado Springs visit also call for nine members of the American Municipal Association Executive Committee to be in the party. Additions to the visiting city fathers group may be added between now and the actual date.

They will talk with the staff of NORAD Commander in Chief General John K. Gerhart during their NORAD visit. They will see the Canadian and American members of his staff working side by side in the common cause — protecting the North American Continent from surprise aerospace attack.

The group is also scheduled to visit the Air Force Academy. That same evening they will attend a Law Day Dinner at the Ent Air Force Base Skyline Club. Hosts for this occasion will be the American Bar Association.

At the present time the following Mayors are scheduled to make the proposed visit: John F. Collins, Boston, Mass.; Lew Davis, Tucson, Ariz.; Jess Lanier, Bessemer, Ala.; Roy B. Martin, Jr., Norfolk, Va.; George M. Miller, Takoma Park, Md.; Victor H. Schiro, New Orleans, La.; Allen C. Thompson, Jackson, Miss.; Raymond R. Tucker, St. Louis, Mo.; Thomas G. Currigan, Denver, Colo.; Charles F. Iles, Des Moines, Iowa; Henry W. Maier, Milwaukee, Wisc.; James B. McKinney, Sacramento, Calif.; Arthur Naftalin, Minneapolis, Minn.; James H. J. Tate, Philadelphia, Pa.; Harold M. Tollefson, Tacoma, Wash.

The distinguished group of city fathers will be accompanied on their Colorado Springs visit by Maj. Gen. E. B. LeBailley, chief of information for the United States Air Force and Col. William H. Huntley, a member of his staff.

Scout Troop 107 Holds Court Of Honor Event

Scout Troop 107, sponsored by the Colorado Springs Lions Club, and composed of sightless boys from the Colorado School for the Blind held its first Court of Honor in several years, Tuesday evening at the School Auditorium.

Elmo Clark of the Lions Club presented the Troop with its charter for the year. Clark also presented the special recognition ribbon given by the National Council of the Boy Scouts to units which register promptly. Clark was introduced by Mr. Allan Russell, neighborhood commissioner of the Skyline District.

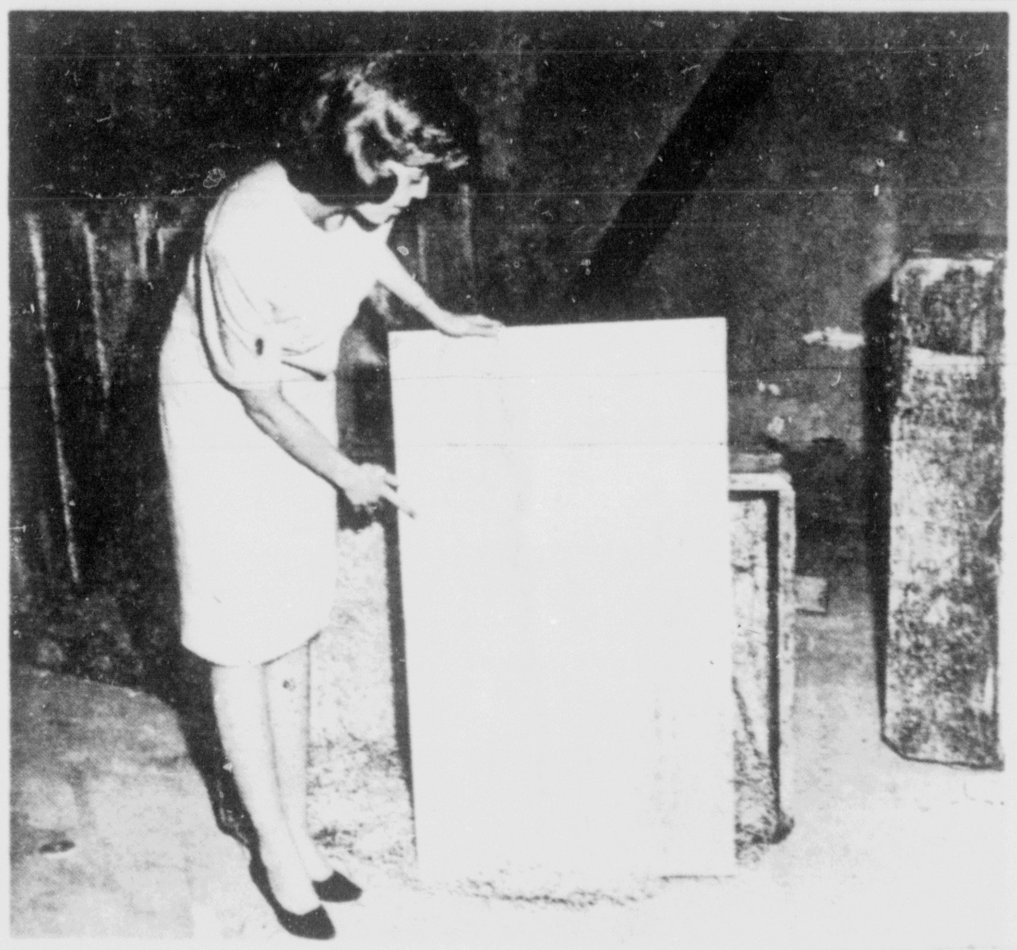
A Tenderfoot investiture ceremony was conducted for Gail Allen, John Croy, Stevin Davis, Tom Fletcher, Lewis Peterson, Kevin Shields, Lance Wheeland and Rocky Zamora.

The ceremony was conducted by James Wiant, district scout executive, who was assisted by Sea Explorers Stephen Patrock and David Wohlgemuth of Sea Explorer Ship Kittyhawk. Donald Teague, scoutmaster of the Troop presented the Scouts with their Tenderfoot pins during the ceremony.

John Hill, of Ent Air Force base, and assistant scoutmaster of the Troop, presented the Falcon Trail Patch to John Croy, Stevin Davis, Junior Caine, Gail Allen, John Jones, Lewis Peterson, Kevin Shields and Rocky Zamora. This patch is given to all scouts who complete the sixteen mile hiking trail set up by the Air Force Academy. Airman Hill took the boys on this hike several weeks ago.

A special ribbon was presented to all the Scouts for completing a tour of Peterson Field.

Donald Teague, the scoutmaster of the Troop is a teacher at the Colorado School for the Deaf and Blind, and under his leadership this Troop has participated in almost all of the events which are open to Scouts of all Troops. The Troop will have a special booth at the Scout-O-Rama next week.



HERE AT LAST — Nan Powers, a teller at the Columbia Savings and Loan Association admires part of a shipment of Carrara Marble which will be used on the exterior of the Mining Exchange Building, Pikes Peak and Nevada Avenues. The bronze and white marble arrived here from Leghorn, Italy, Wednesday after a three-month delay which held up remodeling at the Columbia Savings headquarters in the building.

North Dakota Governor to Visit NORAD

North Dakota Governor William L. Guy and a party of ten will arrive at the North American Air Defense Command headquarters and Colorado Springs Tuesday.

Arriving during the afternoon, the group will be hosted at dinner at the Cheyenne Mountain Country Club that evening by Brig. Gen. R. S. Abbey, NORAD deputy for plans and policy.

On Wednesday morning, the group will be briefed on the Canadian-United States Air Defense system and will visit the NORAD combat operations center, key location in the entire North American continent air defense complex.

They will later visit the Colorado Springs Civil Defense facility in the downtown area and the Air Force Academy.

Justice Fines Driver $31 on Two Charges

James Leroy Hazelwood was fined a total of $31 and $8 costs by Justice of the Peace H. C. McShane Wednesday for passing where it was prohibited by markings and reckless driving.

Hazelwood, 20, of Ft. Carson was ticketed April 20 on Colorado Highway 27 by State Patrolman Ken Shiflet.

Zoo Building Construction Planned Here

Construction is expected to get underway this summer on a new building to house the gorillas and orangutans at the Cheyenne Mountain Zoo.

Officials also revealed plans to remodel the old commissary at the zoo into a series of nocturnal exhibits. This will get underway next year.

Now under construction at the zoo is the North American Panorama. Future plans call for remodeling the bear and feline pits, a new main concession, a walk-through aviary and a sea lion display.

Hispanico Will Hold Spring Fiesta Friday

The Circulo Cultural Hispanico will hold its Spring Fiesta at 8 p.m. Friday in the Palmer House.

Miss Ellen Claydon, instructor in Spanish at Colorado College, said the party would be open to all members of the Colorado Springs community interested in the cultural affairs of Spain and Latin America.

The party will be the last meeting of the year for the Spanish-Latin American cultural society, organized last February.

Woodland Park Voters Approve School Bonds

Voters in Woodland Park this week approved a $37,000 bond issue to furnish and equip their new school and remodel an old one.

Of the 134 votes cast in the special election, 107 voted for the issue, 25 were against, and two ballots were spoiled.

Officials said that the money would be used to furnish and and equip the new junior-senior high school and to remodel the old high school building.

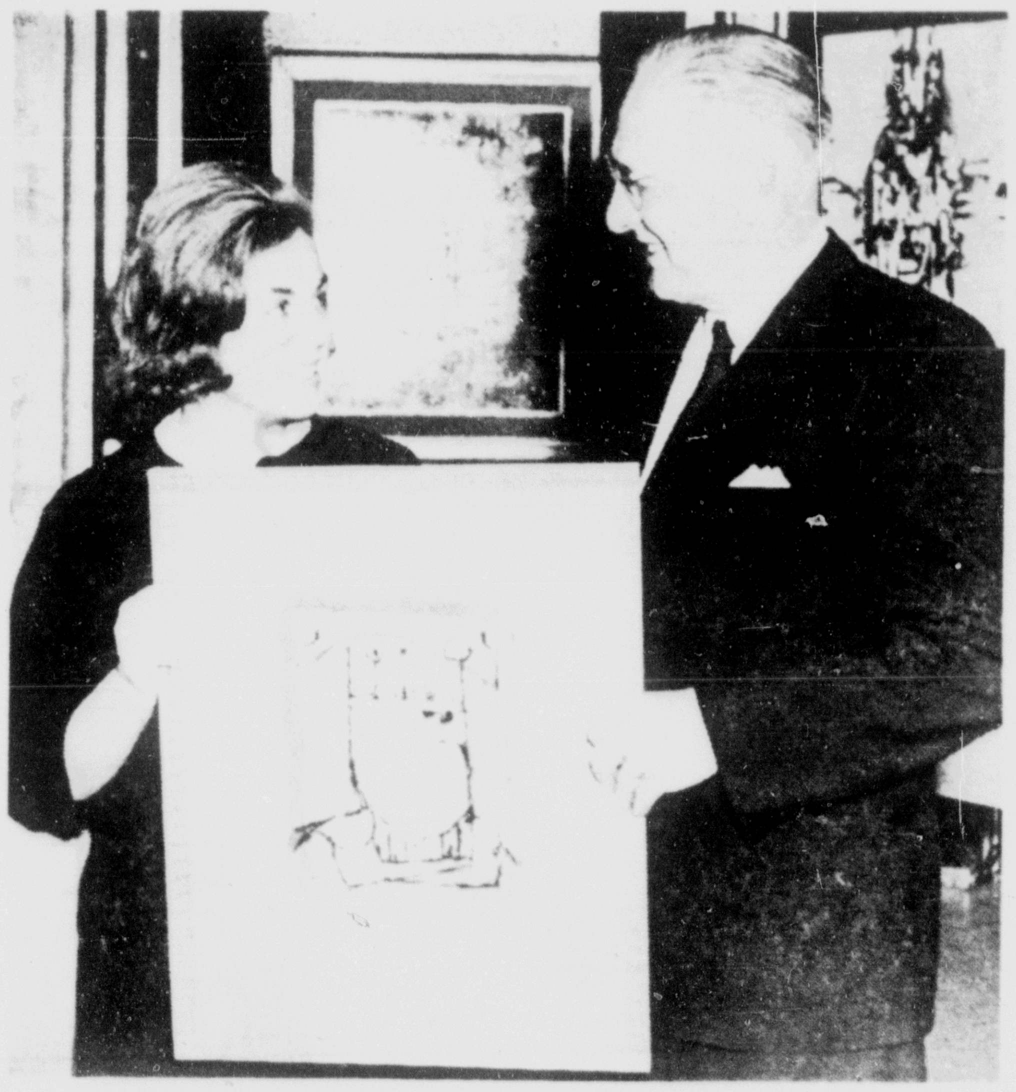
The work will get underway as soon as school is out this year.

The old high school building will be remodeled on the interior and converted to an elementary school. The former industrial arts shop will be converted into a kindergarten.

Army Association To Meet at Moors

The Association of the United States Army will meet April 30 at the Moors Restaurant.

Lt. Gen. Charles A. Duff, commander of ARADCOM, and Maj. Gen. John A. Heintges, Ft. Carson and 5th Division commander, will speak briefly at the dinner meeting which will get underway at 6:30 p.m.



WINNER OF ART CONTEST—Vivian Reubens, a Wasson High School senior, was named winner Wednesday in the high school art contest sponsored by Sears in connection with the Vincent Price Collection now on exhibit in the Southgate store. With Vivian above is G. A. Cheney, general manager of Sears. The talented young artist's work, a nude done in sepia tones, was chosen over fine paintings picked from a field of 200 submitted by art students from Wasson, Manitou Springs, Widefield, Cheyenne Mountain, and Air Force Academy high schools. Vivian's prize was an art work of her choice from the collection. She picked "Medieval King" by Jack Repper which she will present to her school in her name. Second prize went to Sherry Jacobs, Manitou Springs High School, and third place went to Carol Robinson of Widefield High School. The five finalists' works are on display with the Price Collection which closes its run here Saturday.

Col. Huffman Will Conduct Training Service

Deputy Fifth Army Chaplain (Lt. Col.) Cloma A. Huffman will conduct morning devotions at 9:30 a.m. Friday April 24 for all Protestant personnel assembled at Pershing Field at Ft. Carson as part of Religious Training Day.

A native of Albuquerque, N. M., Chaplain Huffman attended the University of New Mexico, and was graduated cum laude from Baylor University in 1942. He entered the service in 1945 after studying theology at Andover Theological School and being ordained by the Congregational Christian Church (United Church of Christ). Since, the minister has fulfilled assignments as the post chaplain at West Point, and abroad in the Philippine Islands, Germany and Korea.

Chaplain Huffman has been awarded two Freedom Foundation Awards, one in 1959 for work performed on behalf of Korean orphans, and the other in 1964 for a sermon, "Frail Men in the Hands of the Healing God."

Chaplain Huffman built the Chapel of the Three Stones using a bombed-out stable in Heilbronn, Germany. The alter and chancel were made with furnishings from destroyed Catholic, Protestant and Jewish houses of worship. This widely-publicized dedication in 1953 was featured in a Big Picture TV series.

Chaplain Huffman also organized the day-long German-American Protestant Reformation Day celebration in Coberg, Germany, in 1953 using the castle where Martin Luther remained during the Augsburg deliberations.

In Korea, where he worked closely with missionaries, he organized an orphanage and was personally given 22 children by Korean mothers for adoption in the United States. This work earned him a Freedom Foundation Award in 1959.

His Sunday School class at Fort Sheridan is attended regularly by three generals and six colonels, among others.

Oaks Installed As District Scout Chairman

Arthur Oaks was installed as district chairman Tuesday night at the annual business meeting and recognition dinner of the Rampart District of the Pikes Peak Council, Boy Scouts of America.

Others installed were Howard Carver and Tark Tarkington, vice chairmen; Robert Koernig, organization and extension chairman; Edward Bishop, advancement chairman; Dr. Harve Varner, activities chairman, and Elmer Maloney.

Lyle Norton, past president of the Pikes Peak Council, was installing officer.

The keynote address was given by Bill Mack Jr. of Troop 80. He was the Council representative to the "Report to the Governor" during Scout week in February.

Koernig reported on the district's activities during the past 12 months, using colored slides to show the Scouts' activities and locations where scouting is conducted.

Special recognition was given by District executive W. S. (Scotty) Kenton to District committee members, commissioners, and unit leaders. District Scouters received small trophies in the form of a key, commissioners received trophies in the form of a wrench, depicting their service to packs, troops and Explorer units, and cubmasters, Scoutmasters, and Explorer advisors received trophies in the form of spark plugs for their work in sparking the program for their boys.

Kenton and his wife were given a plaque by the District commissioners in recognition of their service to scouting.

Rampart District covers the northern half of Colorado Springs, Air Force Academy, Black Forest, Monument, Palmer Lake, and Elizabeth.

The meeting was held at the Air Force Academy.

Vandals Break Window, Slash Bicycle Tires

Two cases of malicious mischief were reported to the sheriff's department Wednesday.

The first happened at the home of Robert H. Herman, 1504 Main St., Security, where a plate glass sliding door window was shattered with a BB gun causing $45 damage.

Mrs. Kathleen Benda, 1902 S. Corona St., reported the second incident. She told Deputy Sheriffs Bob Walters and Ray Carey that two tires on his son's bicycle has been slashed.

HOLDS NATION'S HIGHEST HONOR — Medal of Honor Holder Desmond Doss, who received the award for service as a noncombatant medic, chats with Mark Simmons (left), an Air Force Academy third classman from Waldron, Mich., and Pfc. Leroy R. Dickhaut, a Ft. Carson soldier from McClusky, N. D.

Medal of Honor Winner To Speak at Public Meet

Desmond Doss, who has the singular distinction of holding the Medal of Honor without ever bearing arms in battle, will be in Colorado Springs this week.

He will be a visitor at Ft. Carson during Religious Training Day activities Friday and will speak that evening and Saturday morning at Colorado Springs gatherings open to the public. He will also appear on a local telecast Friday afternoon.

Known by fellow soldiers as a man of prayer, Doss was a company aid man serving with a medical detachment on Okinawa during fighting for the island in 1945.

What Doss did made his name "a symbol throughout the 77th Infantry Division for gallantry far above and beyond the call of duty," according to the citation accompanying the nation's highest military honor.

The battalion to which Doss, then a private first class, was attached, assaulted a rugged 400-foot escarpment on April 29.

"As our troops gained the summit," the citation stated, "a heavy concentration of artillery, mortar, and machine gun fire crashed into them, inflicting approximately 75 casualties and driving the others back.

Private Doss refused to seek cover and remained in the fire-swept area with the many stricken, carrying them one by one to the edge of the escarpment and there lowering them on a rope-supported litter down the face of a cliff to friendly hands.

Then, on May 2, Doss rescued a wounded man while exposed to heavy rifle and mortar fire 200 yards forward of the lines on the same escarpment. Two days later he treated four men who were cut down while attacking a cave. Doss advanced through a shower of grenades to within eight yards of the enemy forces.

On May 5, while under enemy shelling and small arms fire, he went to the assistance of an artillery officer, moving his patient to a spot shielded from small arms fire and administered blood plasma.

On the same day Doss crawled to a wounded American who had fallen 25 feet from an enemy position, rendered aid, and carried the man 100 yards to safety.

He was himself seriously wounded on May 21 when a grenade's fragments caught him in the legs.

Said the citation:

"Rather than call another aid man from cover, he cared for his own injuries and waited five hours before litter bearers reached and started carrying him to the rear. The trio was caught in an enemy tank attack, and Private Doss, seeing a man more critically wounded nearby, crawled off the litter and directed the bearers to give their first attention to the other man.

Awaiting the litter bearers' return, he was again struck, this time suffering a compound fracture of one arm. With magnificent fortitude he bound a rifle stock to his shattered arm as a splint and then crawled 300 yards over rough terrain to the aid station.

Through his outstanding bravery and unflinching determination in the face of desperately dangerous conditions, Private Doss saved the lives of many soldiers."

President Truman awarded Doss the Medal of Honor in a White House ceremony the following October.

The meetings open to the public will be at 7:30 p.m. Friday in the new Seventh-day Adventist School, 1033 N. Franklin St. and at 10:45 a.m. Saturday during the Seventh-day Adventist Church service, to be conducted in the First Southern Baptist Church at Palmer Park Blvd and E. Uintah St.

City Jury Trial Vacated; Driver Changes Plea

A jury trial scheduled for Wednesday in Municipal Court was vacated from the docket when the defendant decided to change his pleas to guilty to two of the five charges.

Joe Greninger, 42, 3632 W. Colorado Ave., had been charged on two separate complaints with careless driving, reckless and careless driving, resisting police, and breach of peace.

At the request of Deputy City Attorney Bob Isaac, the first careless driving charge was amended to read the improper turn violation. Greninger pleaded guilty to this charge and was fined $10.

He also pleaded guilty to reckless driving and resisting police and received fines of $50 and $25 on each. At Isaac's request, Judge Allan Asher dismissed the second careless driving charge and the breach of peace charge. Greninger was represented by attorney Jack Agee.

Roger Hultgren, 22, 323 N. Institute St., asked to change his plea to not guilty to a reckless driving charge. Following a consultation with the complaints, Isaac was granted an amendment to the charge, making it careless driving. Hultgren pled guilty to the lesser charge and was fined $15.

Judge Asher said he was not given to guessing in the case of two defendants who claimed they were not guilty of signal light violations in a companion case. He found both, John Hilliker, 61, Denver, and Mrs. Lois Risk, 47, 823 N. Corona St., not guilty.

Robert Porter, 47, of Denver, had a $15 bond forfeited when he failed to appear in court on a speeding charge. A $275 bond was ordered forfeited by Bobby Glenn, 21, Albuquerque, who failed to take care of damages in a charge of injury to city property.

Mike Morales, 18, 2424 W. St. Vrain St., pleaded guilty to riotous conduct and was fined $15. A $15 fine was also levied against Clarence Barymen, 52, of Manitou Springs, who was found guilty of breach of the peace.

Russell Lyons, 32, Security, had a $50 bond ordered forfeited on a charge of riotous conduct.

Fines or sentences were also imposed on the following: Moses Deguero, 64, 702 E. Kiowa St., drunk, 30 days suspended; Donald Mitchell, 31, 519 E. Cimarron St., disorderly conduct, 15 days, and drunkenness, $25, and Lee Naranjo, 40, Denver, drunk, $25.

Suspended Sentence Given in Check Case

Klaus V. Michels, 22, 323 W. Colorado Ave., was given a suspended sentence of 90 days in county jail plus a $25 and $7 costs by Justice of the Peace H. C. McShane Wednesday after he pleaded guilty to short check.

The defendant issued a $30 short check to the Broadmoor Hotel Feb. 20.

Electronic Aids For Boating Are Demonstrated

By JACK WOLISTON
United Press International

The value of electronic navigational aids never was better proved than a few weeks ago when these devices played a big part in helping avert a near-tragedy off the coast of Mexico.

The story began when the 85-foot party fishing boat Red Rooster ran aground on a rocky stretch near the southern tip of Mexico's Baja California, 850 miles south of San Diego, with Lee Palm, the owner, and 28 other persons aboard.

Palm's frantic "MAYDAY" distress call was picked up by John Tanner, en route aboard his 83 - foot motor yacht 4F from Acapulco to San Diego. Using an automatic radio direction finder to home on the call, Tanner reached the scene about 10:30 p.m., two hours after he heard the call for help.

Tanner, whose 4F draws 7½ feet, used his radar and Fathometer depth sounder to work his way to within 125-feet of the rocky coast and pass a line to the Red Rooster.

By dawn, the passengers from the disabled boat had been transferred to the 4F. An inspection of the Red Rooster showed a hole in her bottom 18-feet long and 8-feet wide, but the bulkheads on either side were holding and preventing further flooding.

Using a high seas radiotelephone, Tanner talked with the U.S. Coast Guard station at Long Beach, Calif., 1,000 miles away, and requested aid.

A Coast Guard plane soon brought pumps and rubber life rafts. The rafts were stuffed inside the hole and inflated to lift the Red Rooster's bow further out of the water while the pumps kept ahead of the flooding water.

The passengers from the Red Rooster were transferred from the 4F to two other sport fishing boats which had arrived on the scene, and Tanner and his guests, all members of the U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary, began the task of towing the holed beat to the nearest boatyard, 140 miles away.

Tanner said that had it not been for his boat's electronic equipment the rescue might not have been possible and certainly would not have gone as efficiently as it did. The 4F has three Raytheon radars, a 150-watt ship - to - shore radiotelephone, two Fathometer depth sounders, an automatic pilot and a citizens band two - way radio for short-range communications.

Tanner and his friends also gave credit for the successful venture to the training they had received as members of the Coast Guard Auxiliary, the civilian volunteer arm of the U.S. Coast Guard.

Fifty-one firm entries already have been received for the Newport-to-Bermuda sailing race. The Cruising Club of America believes the 635-mile biennial classic, scheduled to start June 20, may attract a fleet of 130 to 140 yachts, possibly breaking the record of 135 craft which competed in 1960.

Entries received to date include three overall winners of previous Bermuda Races—Nina, a 59 - foot staysail schooner owned by deCoursey Fales, 1962 winner; Daniel D. Strohmeier's Malay, a 39-foot yawl, 1954, and Chee Chee V, owned by Philip Handelman, which, under the ownership of Richard S. Nye and the name Carina, took the 1952 event.

Overseas entries include the 73-foot ketch Stormvogel, from Steelenbosch, South Africa; Thunder, a new boat from Halifax's Royal Nova Scotia Yacht Squadron; and two boats from Bermuda: Sir Bayard Dill's steel sloop Duchess of Devonshire and William Kempe's cutter Chicane.

IMPROVING GOLF

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (UPI)—Golfers serious about improving their game are making increasing use of 8 mm. color movies to check back on that backswing and follow through.

Since teaching pros began a few years back to film their lessons, the practice of shooting film has spread rapidly, according to experts of Dynachrome color film laboratories here. A high percentage of the millions of feet of color film produced and processed here shows golfers in action, either in lessons or in practice rounds—or just taking a few swings in the backyard.

American Indians Find New Life in Chicago Area

By EDWARD S. KITCH

CHICAGO (AP) — "You're looking at a self-made man," Dr. Bernard Keppel, a radiologist, said, nodding toward Conrad Silk.

"He has overcome many problems. He has demonstrated you can make something of yourself if you really want to."

Dr. Keppel is on the staff of the Norweigan - American Hospital, where Silk, 27, a Sioux Indian, is chief technician and Clara, and their supervises the work of six X-ray technicians.

An estimated 8,000 Indians from various parts of the country have left their traditional homes to find a new life in the Chicago area.

Silk's story is not unlike those of other young American Indians who have migrated to cities and adjusted to a new way of life with the help of the U.S. Bureau of Indian Affairs.

He had campleted two years Army service when he was 19 and returned to the Standing Rock Reservation at Fort Yates, N.D., to live with his grandmother, who received a government pension.

"There was absolutely nothing to do at the reservation except bowling and dancing," Silk said in an interview.

Then he and Clara, his childhood sweetheart, visited the Bureau of Indian Affairs office to find out about enrolling in the relocation program.

The bureau, part of the Department of Interior, has since 1952 operated eight relocation centers in a large-scale program for Indians.

One of its biggest problems has been that Indians move to the city untrained for any kind of work. So, it started a training program four years ago and offers living expenses and tuition for Indians who wish to enroll.

Silk says, "I heard a lot about Chicago from boys who had been here from our reservation."

But what he had heard, he says, was mostly about the wild night life of the Skid Row area, which has caused trouble for some Indians enjoying freedom from federal supervision in the city.

After their visit to the bureau's relocation office, though, Silk and Clara decided to come to Chicago—she to train to be a beautician, he to train to be a mortician.

He discovered after arriving in Chicago that there were no openings for apprentice morticians but that there was an opening for an X-ray technician at a Chicago hospital. He decided to try that.

"I never hit the nail so squarely on the head as I did when I took that job," he says.

Red China's Food Shortage Has Improved

By GEOFFREY HO

HONG KONG (AP) — The once critical food situation in Communist China appears to have improved slightly but it remains a riddle to the outside world.

Official Chinese Communist statements, accounts given by refugees from Red China and facts generally known are sometimes diametrically contradictory.

The Chinese Communist press has painted a rosy picture about food production yet no general increase in food rations has been reported.

The Communists have bought grain from abroad but have continued to export rice, the Chinese people's staple food.

For years, Red China has been Hong Kong's biggest supplier of foodstuffs, yet Hong Kong sends hundreds of thousands of food parcels to the mainland every month.

Despite Communist claims of bumper crops, basic rations for the ordinary people in major cities have remained unchanged —from 24 to 26 catties per month. One catty is equivalent to 1 1-3 pounds.

In rural areas rations are smaller and inferior in quality. In some localities, montly rations are as low as 10 catties, comprising rice, sweet potatoes and millet.

A healthy man consumes about one catty of rice daily.

One can buy food on the official open market, but only those who receive remittances from friends and relatives overseas can afford this high-price food.

While an importer of wheat and rice, Peking has kept exporting food abroad, even during the critical famine years of 1959-62.

7-Year-Old Girl Sings Praises Of President

PARK FOREST, Ill. (AP)—President Johnson's announcement of the nation's railroad dispute settlement has gained him the special friendship of at least one 7-year-old.

"He's nice," said Cathy May Baker. "He mentioned my name."

Two weeks ago, Cathy May wrote to the President, asking him to "keep the railroads running" so her grandmother, May Coyle of Yonkers, N.Y., could be present at the girl's first Holy Communion last Saturday.

Wednesday night, via network television, President Johnson answered the second grader.

"Cathy May," he said in announcing the settlement, "if you are watching tonight, I am pleased to tell you that the railroads are going to continue to run without interruption."

The letter, written two weeks ago, read:

"Dear President Johnson:

"I am 7. My grandmother lives in New York. She is coming to see me make my first Holy Communion. Please keep the railroads running so that she can come to see me. Thank you."

Cathy May's grandmother, who could not be reached for comment, arrived on time for the event last Saturday. The President on April 9 had obtained a 15-day strike postponement.

The letter to President Johnson was written by Cathy May during the brief Illinois Central Railroad strike two weeks ago, the girl's mother, Patricia, said.

At first, Mrs. Baker said, Cathy May intended to include her telephone number with the letter, but her father vetoed that idea. Her father, John, a field engineer for the Burroughs Corp. in Chicago, commutes on the IC.

Now, Mrs. Baker said, Cathy May is wishing she sent the telephone number. "Maybe the President would call her," the mother said.

To most persons, perhaps, a letter from the President might serve just as well as a telephone call. But Cathy May isn't so sure.

"Well," she said when asked if she was looking forward to getting a letter, "I might and I might not be."

Then Wednesday morning, Johnson conferred in the White House living quarters with J. E. Wolfe, chief negotiator for the railroads, and Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz. Wolfe wanted to bring in various railroad presidents who were on the negotiating squad, and that was arranged for late afternoon.

The meeting was held in Johnson's oval study, over coffee cups, with management still a bit uneasy about settling.

Johnson went over the whole situation. He stressed the heavy national interest in avoiding a strike, reviewed some of the figures such as the 7 million jobs that would be affected, and finally got an assent from the rail executives.

The question of a joint announcement was disposed of with a decision that the best way was for everyone to be seen on television, and with the cooperation of the networks the time was set for 6:45.

Roy Davidson, spokesman for the unions, already had a statement ready. Wolfe needed a little time to prepare his. Johnson and some of his staff started in on a final draft of his.

All hands were called to the White House Cabinet room for a final session that had to be short. This was a little before 6:30, and the television studio was miles away through traffic. Johnson congratulated everybody who had a hand in the settlement and told them he appreciated the job he said they had done for their country.

As one onlooker described it:

"Everybody was in a damned good mood, including Wolfe and Davidson, who had been glaring at each other for God knows how long. There was a real air of jubilation in the room."

Cars rushed the President and the others to the studio. On the way, Johnson pulled from his pocket a letter he read from a 7-year-old Illinois girl asking that he "please keep the railroads running" so her grandmother could come and see her.

"To him," one of those present said, "this summed up the meaning of this thing to individual human beings."

CAPITOL STUFF

By TED LEWIS

WASHINGTON — In the next few weeks developments in the Barry Goldwater drive for the GOP Presidential nomination will produce solid evidence that he will go into the San Francisco convention within shooting distance of victory.

The steady gain he is making in delegate strength, to the point where he will be hard to stop, has been somewhat overlooked. Anti-Goldwater forces, for example, concentrated more on pointing out the bigger - than - expected vote Margaret Chase Smith got in yesterday's Illinois primary than on the fact that Goldwater picked up 48 delegates. Or that he is also assured of 10 more Illinois delegates to be selected by the convention route.

In the next few weeks he is virtually certain of victories in the Texas, Alabama and Indiana primaries which will give him 108 more delegates.

Counting Illinois, Goldwater now has a solid bloc of at least 150 delegates.

On the basis of the other primaries and conventions yet to come in April and May, particularly in Dixie, the Goldwater organization is estimating a minimum of 450 delegates by June 2 when the key California primary is held.

This, incidentally, is an estimate that even anti-Goldwater leaders concede is realistic. And should Goldwater win the June 2 California contest over Gov. Rockefeller, he would pick up 86 more. Following California's voting, there will be eight various state conventions at which 75 delegates will be chosen, with Goldwater getting a share.

This statistical resume points to the likelihood that Goldwater will go into the July 13 nominating convention with probably 550 delegates at a minimum if he carries California, and a hard core for 450 if he doesn't.

Professional politicians doubt that he could be deprived of the nomination if he carries California, and they give him a fighting chance even if he doesn't.

Yet, despite the fact that Goldwater is emerging clearly as the man to beat, efforts to confuse the situation have had considerable success. Consider, for example, an idea that has taken root that Goldwater and Rockefeller forces will deadlock the convention, which will then have to turn to a dark horse.

This theory is premised on Rockefeller having sufficient delegate strength to halt Goldwater short of the 655 votes necessary to nominate out of the 1,308 delegates at the convention.

Even if Rockefeller carries California, he would not have more than a 200-vote bloc. No state except New York, with its 92 votes, has shown any interest in his candidacy.

The fact is that if Goldwater enters the convention with 500 delegates, party pros think the only way he could be stopped would be by way of a gang-up of "favorite son" states with Rockefeller, which would last for several ballots.

THE FAVORITE SONS HAVE SMALL BLOCS

There will be plenty of these favorite son states, of course. Henry Cabot Lodge, if he wins the May 15 Oregon primary like he did the March 10 New Hampshire primary, would have a bloc of 66 votes, counting his home state of Massachusetts.

Then there would be Gov. William Scranton with Pennsylvania's 64, Gov. George Romney with Michigan's 48, Rep. John W. Byrnes with Wisconsin's 30 and Gov. James Rhodes with Ohio's 58. Add to this Kentucky's 24 for Sen. Thruston Morton, and the difficulties of an organized gang-up on Goldwater become apparent.

What has happened in the past in convention efforts to cut down a front-runner would most likely happen again. Goldwater's indicated delegate strength is comparable to that of Gov. Dewey's in 1948 when he won the nomination on the third ballot.

On the first ballot Dewey had 434 votes, Taft 224 and the rest spread among a batch of favorite sons, including Harold E. Stassen, Earl Warren, and Arthur Vandenberg. Dewey made deals and had 515 votes on the second ballot, 33 short of victory, and went over the top with ease on the next go-round.

The prospect that the San Francisco convention may get into a heated factional row for ballot after ballot is already disturbing party leaders, although they see no way of preventing such a blowup.

Visitors to Fair Should Befriend NY Cab Drivers

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Visitors to the World's Fair here will find their stay much more pleasant if they give a little forethought to getting along with New York cab drivers.

They are a race apart, a law unto themselves and are sometimes as hard to predict as the weather. A few hints as to their nature and strange ways may be in order.

Naturally, the stranger on entering a cab here believes the driver must be speaking in Albanian or some equally foreign tongue.

Actually the language is Brooklynese, a form of communication whose vowel sounds were borrowed from the screech of subway wheels. Its main words generally can be understood by an out-of-towner after three days of concentrated listening.

The New York cabby is a proud man and refuses to wear a uniform. If prizes were given for sartorial neatness, he would win the booby prize. His usual garb consists of a beat-up cap, an old sweater or wrinkled windbreaker, and the kind of odd trousers other people wear on Halloween.

Our cabbies also pride themselves on lack of service. If the driver leaps out of his vehicle, opens the door, and salutes you smartly as you enter or leave, you'd better look at your road map again. You undoubtedly are in some other city. That just don't happen here.

Don't be surprised if your driver bursts suddenly into song or starts reeling off a string of Joe Miller jokebook gags. Four out of five hackies here are convinced they are born singers or comedians. They go through their acts hopeful that sooner or later one of their passengers will turn out to be a television producer looking for new talent.

As to destinations, it is better for you to choose one of three—Penn Station, Grand Central terminal, or the Empire State Building. These are the only places in New York City that most cab drivers have heard of, although now and then you may ride with an old-timer who recalls where Grant's Tomb is.

Never tell a driver your troubles or ailments. He'll top you every time. If you tell him you have a toothache, he is almost certain to reply, "What's a sore tooth? My cousin has gallstones—and never a word of complaint out of him."

Unless the sun is shining brightly, there isn't much point in trying to hail a cab. At the first sign of rain or snow, every cabbie automatically locks his doors, puts up his "Off Duty" sign and drives off for coffee.

One final point—the matter of tipping. Manhattan cabbies are convinced to a man that anybody hailing from west of the Hudson River, north of the Bronx, or south of Staten Island is a tightwad.

To really please a cabby after paying your fare, you should hold out your wallet and let him have at least 20 per cent of all you have left.

Or you might simply arrange to adopt him. That would be cheaper.

Litterbugs Reported To Be Modern Problem

NEW YORK (AP) — Litterbug, litterbug, fly away home. Other litterers are doing to your front yard what you are doing to theirs.

Littering is a modern problem caused largely by the 20th century way of life, according to a study conducted by the Institute of Motivational Research.

A decline of social responsibility in an age of abundance allows the litterbug to throw things away without worrying about where they land. It's easier to toss a candy wrapper out of a car window than it is to carry a litter bag in the car.

Previous eras, with neither candy wrappers nor cars, lacked the ingredients that make the litterbug problem a growing one in this country.

Carelessness, not maliciousness, is the root of most littering according to the study. The litterer is the average citizen who would probably not treat his own home with the same thoughtlessness that he shows for other people's yards and the nation's highways, beaches and byways.

Public education, better disposal facilities and anti-litter laws are suggested by the study to combat the problem.

Lodge Seen as Serious Competitor for Barry

By BRUCE BIOSSAT

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Moving into a critical spring phase, the 1964 Republican presidential race poses new obstacles for front-running Barry Goldwater and shows every sign of widening to include Henry Cabot Lodge as a serious competitor.

Conceivably, Goldwater could be hurt sufficiently so that even a decisive California primary victory would leave him well short of nomination.

This outlook—well documented by Newspaper Enterprise Association in a coast-to-coast survey of major Republican leaders—has given new lift to the candidacies of Ambassador Lodge, former Vice President Richard Nixon and others currently figuring in the race.

Goldwater's once - commanding position, damaged originally by President Kennedy's assassination, suffered further serious erosion in the February - March period, a vital time for fattening.

It is dealt a fresh blow with release of polls showing sudden ascendency for Lodge and Goldwater's drop to a bad third behind Nixon. New York's Gov. Rockefeller lies far back.

To gauge the shifting mood, take this sample from Virginia, often rated Goldwater territory, where a leader says:

"Four former Goldwater supporters from different parts of the state tell me they don't think the senator has a chance now."

A top party man in Illinois, also heavily laden with Goldwater partisans, thinks the most recent slump is less a matter of delegate numbers than of spirit. Says he:

"His likely delegates here are still holding. But I sense some wasting of confidence among his people."

Goldwater's presently projected delegate potential is indeed still strong—nearly 500 votes of the needed 655 in hand or likely to be so in the weeks ahead. In an inquiry (aimed at washing out all propaganda claims) NEA found this figure a solid estimate.

Yet if heavy new erosion now follows upon the weakening events of February - March, as some politicians think probable, Goldwater's big core of strength could be sufficiently eaten away so that no late upturn in his fortunes—including a triumph in California — could wholly restore his nomination prospects.

On the other hand, if he should find the means of halting the wasting process, or perhaps reversing it, he has enough of what politicians call "leaning potential" so that California's 86 votes thrown into the balance could put Goldwater close to the prize.

In the days now unfolding, these factors strike many GOP politicians as offering added hope to Nixon and Scranton and posing fresh threat to Goldwater:

1. State conventions in N.D. (14 votes), Kan. (20) and Iowa (24) could yield the senator as few as 23 of the 58 total. In a basically conservative belt, all three states are now trouble spots for Goldwater. A strong showing would be a significant sign.

2. More stress on how much may be kept from Goldwater's column can be felt when Wis. (30), Pa. (64) and Mass. (34) opt for favorite sons in April primaries, and Ky. (24) and N.J. (40)—if they follow plan—put a firm "uncommitted" stamp on their important delegations.

3. Offsetting April state convention gains for Goldwater in his own Ariz. (16), Nev. (6) and—with a state committee doing the choosing—La. (20), may be largely discounted.

The same danger may confront Goldwater in Ill., where he is figured a big winner over minor opposition in the state's purely advisory April 14 primary. A low vote would hurt and only an unexpectedly huge vote would help. He is given today some 45 of Illinois' 58 delegates, though some are shaky.

4. The prospect exists that a markedly negative word - of - mouth in party circles on Goldwater may continue as strongly as in the months just past.

In NEA's broad survey, this bearish talk turned up in such scattered states as Maine, N.J., W. Va., Va., Tenn., Ohio, Ind., Ill., Mich., Iowa, Colo., Mont., Utah, Ore. and Calif.

Heart of the complaint is that Goldwater is said to be at once a somewhat colorless, dispirited campaigner and one given to "reckless" statements that rattle the bones of voters and politicians alike.

A Utah Republican says that if any single thing will deprive Goldwater of his present heavy delegate edge in his state, it will be further conclusive sign that his campaign shakes popular confidence in him.

A New Jersey party man says Goldwater may once have had 30 per cent of the state's 40 votes in prospect — "but not since he began putting his foot in his mouth."

"Too many wild statements," says a West Virginia observer.

5. A further notion is taking hold, fed first by the reaction of New Hampshire voters and now by those in California and Oregon, that many Americans are not in the mood for political harangues from anybody, Goldwater included.

Some appraisers ascribe this attitude to a general wish of people to be "left alone" in a time of mostly prosperous preoccupation with their own concerns.

Others see it as perhaps a part of the "John F. Kennedy syndrome"—a widespread distaste for the hollow cliches, the fixed grins, the over-worked handshakes of politics less than a half year after his violent death. Every campaign move is inevitably a reminder of his own immensely vigorous effort four years ago.

Should these listed factors combine in one way or another to undercut Goldwater's position in April, so also may other things in the obstacle - strewn month of May. Tennessee, troublesome for him since he said he favored selling TVA, completes its 28-member delegation that month. And on May 15 is the multi-entry Oregon primary, very much up for grabs.

Many politicians believe that a Goldwater base seriously contracted by June 1—possibly to 430 votes or less—not only would make the senator's California primary effort a futile gesture but would rob him of any real voice in choosing the nominee.

NEA's canvass of delegate possibilities shows heavy evidence that a winning moderate coalition behind Nixon or Lodge might be put together without dependence on any of Goldwater's basic core.

Such a combination, gravely feared by Goldwater leaders, could conceivably find a large nucleus in the favorite sons (332 delegates, if held tight).

Additions could come from southern defections, currently figured at 30, from New Jersey's 40, from a big pool of delegates expected to be either uncommitted, tied to other candidates, or loosely bound to Goldwater.

In these speculations by GOP professionals Nixon is thought of as one of the prime beneficiaries. But some party men, stunned by Lodge's rise in the polls, now say that if he wins the Oregon primary — as first reports suggest—then he will have to be taken very seriously.

Cross - checked inquiries by NEA in its nationwide survey of Republican presidential prospects show Arizona's Sen. Barry Goldwater with this support, in hand or potential, as of early April:

OLD SOUTH—Va., 20 of 30 delegates; N.C., 25 of 26; S.C., all of 16; Ga., 22 of 24; Fla., all 34; Ala., all 20; Miss., all 13; La., all 20; Tenn., 15 of 28; Ark., 8 of 12; Texas, all 56. Total, 249.

MID-ATLANTIC — Nothing set, nothing counted, though some good prospects among Maryland's 20, West Virginia's 14, Delaware's 12. N.Y., 92, Pa., 64, N.J., 40, left blank.

NEW ENGLAND — Nothing counted, though some prospect among Maine's 14. Other five states presently blank.

MIDWEST—Ind., all 32; Ill., 45 of 58; Mo., all 24; Mich., 8 of 48. Prospects shifting in Minn., 26, Iowa, 24, Ohio, 58, Wis., 30, favorite sons. Ky., 24, likely uncommitted. Goldwater total, 109.

PLAINS STATES — Okla., all 22; Neb., 15 of 16; N.D., minimum 3 of 14. Prospect of several among Kansas' 20, subject to change. Delegate conflicts currently fog-up strong Goldwater outlook among South Dakota's 14. Counted, total of 40.

MOUNTAIN — SOUTHWESTERN—Ariz., all 16; N.M., all 14; Mont., all 14; Nev., all 6; Wyo., 10 of 12; Utah, 12 of 14; Idaho, 12 of 14; Colo., 18, confused, possible favorite son. To total, 84.

PACIFIC — Wash., 18 of 24; Calif., 86, settled in June 2 primary; Ore., 18, in May 15 primary. Alaska, 12, and Hawaii, 8, nothing counted. Goldwater total, 18.

MISC.—District of Columbia, 9, not set; Puerto Rico., 5 and Virgin Islands, 3, nothing counted.

Grand Total for Goldwater, 500.

Montana Family Moves Out West To Aleutians

SEATTLE (AP)—Rufus Choate and his family are pulling up stakes to head for where the West really begins — where, if you go much farther, you'll be in the East.

They've bought an old freighter and soon they'll be off for the Aleutian island of Alaska where they've leased 100 square miles from Uncle Sam.

Things were getting too crowded back on the home spread near Miles City, Mont.

"When you can hear your neighbor's rooster crow," Choate said Tuesday, "then you know it's time to move on."

So they've bought the little freighter, Robert Eugene, built in 1890 and used by the Ketchikan Merchants Cooperative Association to haul freight to Alaska.

The 96-foot vessel is in drydock now, and when she's afloat again, she'll resemble a modern Noah's Ark. In about a month, the Choates plan to sail north with 500 sheep, eight horses, a dog, a cat, a hive of bees, some chickens and some rabbits. On her second trip the Robert Eugene will carry cattle.

The Choates — Mr. and Mrs. and Jim, 19, and Susan, 20, and Ted, 10—are living on the ship. They've turned one hold into a bunkhouse, with a sewing machine and ironing board and television set and a watercolor of a cowgirl on a bulkhead (painted by Susan) and books about Alaska mixed with books about ranching and Montana.

For the trip north, the Choates will move aft into the cabins, and this hold will be filled with hay and concentrated feed.

The Choates are putting in tweendeck levels to carry the sheep, and they're converting the ship's refrigerator gear to pump in fresh air because even to people used to it, a sheep's odor is unlovely.

The Aleutians will be cold and windy, but this last frontier is what the Choates have been looking for. At 52, Rufus Choate isn't too old to move on with new ambitions.

Young Jim expresses the family's feelings this way:

"Montana's closing up. There's no room for expansion. The government kept trimming down on the amount of land they'd lease us to go with our property, and taxes kept going up."

DOG-GONE

ABILENE, Tex. (AP)—H. H. Greer now knows what happened to his pick-up truck that was stolen, but he would still like to know where is his dog that was in the vehicle when it disappeared.

Ten days after the truck and dog disappeared, a man living 250 miles away wrote to Greer offering to buy the pick-up saying it was abandoned near his home. But no sign of Greer's Boxer has appeared, and he's still trying to find out "where oh where has my little dog gone."

A professional photo coloring class will be offered by the YWCA at 8 a.m. on April 27. Classes will be held in the studio of the teacher, Mrs. Peggy Bartlett.

All those wishing to attend this professional art course are urged to register immediately. Mrs. Pat Bresett, program director, announced that this will be the only professional photo coloring class offered this year.

For further information call Mrs. Peggy Bartlett, 635-0484 or the YWCA office, 634-5515.

Registration Required for Girl Scout 'Campference'

Registration and fees for all Girl Scouts attending the annual SO-CO-KA (Southern Colorado Kansas) Campference must be in to the Girl Scout Office, 518 N. Nevada Ave. by May 1. Registration forms have been mailed out to all registered Senior Scouts and 9th grade scouts. If there was an overlook, forms should be picked up at the Scout Office as soon as possible.

Each year there is an alternating SO-CO-KA Conference or Campference. Last year, scouts of the Wagon Wheel Council in Colorado Springs hosted the Conference. This year, scouts of the Columbine Council will hostess the Campference at Camp Lazy Acres, 39 miles southwest of Pueblo in San Isabel National Forest.

Cost of the affair includes registration and transportation. From June 9 to 12, all registered Senior and 9th grade scouts who attend will participate in exciting events including a chuck-wagon dinner, hikes to interesting sites, a sunset Scouts Own, and in interest groups from Archaeology to Zurprise. It will be a time of good food, singing and fun with new and old friends.

Girls attending the Campference will meet at the Girl Scout Office at 518 North Nevada in the back yard at 8 a.m. on June 9 and return there June 12 about 1 p.m.

The Scout Office emphasizes that this Campference is open to 9th grade registered Scouts as well as registered Senior Scouts. Application deadline is May 1.

The bidding

North	East	South	West
1 ♡	1 ♠	1 NT	Pass
2 NT	Pass	3 NT	Pass
Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Seven of ♠

South's free bid of one notrump may appear on the conservative side to some, inasmuch as his 11 high card points consists of three quick tricks. However, when the one notrump response is made directly over an adverse bid, it may be based on a slightly better than average hand and—with no fit as yet indicated—a slightly conservative course is in order. When North invited a game by raising to two notrump, South cheerfully accepted.

West opened the seven of spades and dummy's queen held the trick. With only seven top tricks in sight—three spades, two hearts, and two clubs—declarer decided to work on the club suit first. He led the four from the dummy and when East played the ten, South followed with a small club.

East continued with the ten of spades which rode around to North's king. Assuming that the club suit was divided three-three, South could count his long club as an eighth trick. Prospects for a ninth hinged on being able to score with the dummy's king of diamonds; however, the normal procedure of leading toward that card appeared useless since East's vulnerable overcall clearly marked him with the ace of diamonds.

South felt that his only chance was the try for an end play. In a preliminary move to strip his opponent of exit cards he cashed the two top hearts and was gratified when East showed out on the second round discarding a diamond. The clubs were played next and, when the ace and king showed the suit to be evenly divided, declarer's three became established as a "thirteener."

On the three of clubs both North and East threw diamonds. Now South played the ace and another spade to throw East in. The latter was able to take two tricks in that suit but, since he was down to the ace-queen of diamonds, he was obliged to surrender the game fulfilling trick to the dummy's king.

Portly Chicken

Chicken with white port is a classic Portuguese main dish.

In a deep lidded skillet brown a 4½ to 5 pound roasting chicken whole in 3 tablespoons of melted butter over moderate heat, turning until golden brown on all sides. Add ½ pound of fresh button mushrooms or larger mushrooms sliced, 3 tablespoons of white port, ½ cup of either concentrated chicken stock or bouillon or white vinho verde, and salt and pepper to taste. Cover, reduce heat to low and simmer gently about 40 minutes. Add 1 tablespoon of white port and 1 cup of light cream. Stir, cover and cook 20 to 30 minutes more or until chicken is tender. Adjust seasoning. Remove chicken to heated serving dish and keep hot. Stir a few spoonfuls of sauce into 2 egg yolks, well beaten. Add this mixture to sauce. Stir over low heat, stirring constantly with wooden spoon. Do not boil. When sauce has thickened slightly, pour over and around bird. Serves 4 to 5.

Johnson Schedules Press Meeting Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson holds another news conference today.

After rereading for newsreels and photographers his announcement of the rail dispute settlement Wednesday, he asked the assembled newsmen: "Do you want a press conference tomorrow?"

Hearing a chorus of "sure," Johnson said: "We'll give you one."

He didn't specify time or place, but promised: "I won't make it too early."

Honorary Life Memberships Awarded Home Economists

The Colorado Home Economics Association presented at its annual meeting April 18 on Colorado State University campus honorary life memberships to two home economists who have long been active in the professional organization, Mrs. Lottie More of Denver, and Miss Ruth Appelthun of Colorado Springs. Both are nearing retirement after nearly 50 years of combined service in Colorado.

Miss Appelthun, Extension Home Agent for Colorado State University in El Paso County since 1937, has received other awards for distinguished service in the field of home economics. She was the first Colorado extension agent to receive the national Florence Hall Award for distinguished service, and the people with whom she has worked in the Colorado Springs area established a scholarship which bears her name to be awarded each year to young women from that area majoring in home economics at CSU.

Mrs. Lottie More has been supervisor of adult homemaking education for the State Board for Vocational Education during the past 18 years in Colorado, and during that time has served as president of CHEA and of the Colorado Adult Education Council. She has served on the Senior Citizens Council of Metropolitan Denver for a number of years and is currently working with the U.S. Office of Education to develop curriculum materials to help train women in new wage-earning opportunities.

HINTS FROM Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Folks:

There was a little gal named Clara Harper and she wasn't bright, she was (even) smart!

This darling has written with what I think is a fabulous idea.

Know how we cook those fruit pies which have a top and bottom crust, and the edges of the top crust get too brown on the outside before the center is completely done? Or the apples thoroughly cooked?

Here's what Clara did:

She took an aluminum pie tin and cut the center from it. (Discard the center and you end up with a ring.)

Cook the pie as usual until the edges start to brown, then put this [illegible] ring over the top of the pie and continue cooking until the center of the crust is brown and the filling completely done.

[illegible] using the same ring and putting it in an empty pie shell I was baking [illegible] has cooked a wee bit the crust doesn't get too brown on the outside, nor does the shell shrink or come out of shape.

Thanks, Clara! —Heloise

Dear Heloise:

To keep recipes that are written in ink from running if something gets spilled on them . . . rub a piece of paraffin over the entire card, front and back, before filing it away.

You don't have any paraffin? Why not use that candle stub you have been saving . . . just because you thought that "some" day you might need it for "something." —Charlene

I have found a new way to exercise . . . I turn my son's tricycle upside down and put it next to the couch so it won't slip away. Then I sit on the floor and pedal with all my might. It's great for the thighs and legs. —Mrs. Paul S.

Dear Heloise:

Your famous nylon net again . . .

I used the frames from worn-out vanity lamp shades and put strips of nylon net about 1½ inches wide (they do not have to be perfect). I wrapped the strips around, overlapping each strip until I had gone around the frame two or three times.

I used white net and bought a pink trim with a little gold thread in it for a band and sewed these at the top and bottom of the shade.

A beautiful new shade and easy to wash. —V. A. M.

Gal . . . you really are clever! —Heloise

Dear Heloise:

Never tear a stamp off an envelope . . . always tear the envelope off the stamp!

Lay the envelope on the table with the stamped side down. Pick up the corner of the envelope, use your fingernail to loosen the corner of the stamp, hold that corner of the stamp down against the table, and pull the envelope off the stamp. Easy?" —Betty Hofele

Dear Betty:

I just tore two stamps off envelopes . . . result: torn stamps!

Then I tore two envelopes off two stamps by your method . . . perfect stamps!

Thanks, gal. Now, tell us why . . . somebody? —Heloise

Flavorable

NEW YORK (UPI) — Chicory, coffee's natural partner, pre-dates the discovery of coffee by 5,258 years. At first, according to an ancient papyrus dated 4,000 B.C., chicory was eaten raw and was valued by the ancients as an aid to digestion.

Today, most of the world's chicory is grown in Orchies, France, and in the low countries of Europe. Chicory root, ground and roasted, is blended with coffee to produce a more lasting flavor and aroma and a deeper color.

A little lemon juice or vinegar added to the water when cooking cauliflower keeps the vegetable nice and white.

COLORADO SPRINGS
GAZETTE TELEGRAPH
Your Freedom Newspaper
Ever striving for the Pikes Peak Region to be an even better place to live

This newspaper is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is self-control, no more, no less. It must be consistent with the truths expressed in such great moral guides as the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Absentee Ownership

We have noticed a strange reversion to early anarchist thinking among modern intellectuals who contend vigorously against anarchy. Their contention is that property (in land, air waves, water rights, natural resources of any kind) cannot really become property until the labor of the owner is somehow "co-mingled" with the resource.

Now, this is the position of Proudhon and the syndicalists. The former would have classified the relationship between a man and property he was using or developing, not as ownership but as "proprietorship." That is, Proudhon would have contended that a man may rightfully take proprietorship of something that he is using. However, if he presumed to possess or own something that he was not using, that was "property ownership," as such, and was wholly immoral.

The syndicalists were to develop this thesis, which has found a curious echo in the American trade union movement, wherein "absentee ownership" is viewed in some sort of baneful light and only the owner who is present and accounted for (and can be picketed?) is considered to be worthy of the title of landlord.

Still, here and there are persons who contend vigorously that they favor private ownership and the free market system, who, in the same breath, contend that property originally comes into the possession only of the man who puts it to use.

Thus, in a discussion of air-waves and the allocation of channels for broadcasting purposes, it has been contended that the rightful owner of the airwaves is the man who experimented with radio broadcasting so that a value was created in this field. It is assumed that had a man with foresight anticipated that such a value MIGHT BE created and managed to possess himself of the ownership of the air-waves, but who had invented or developed nothing, he would have been unable (morally) to acquire the airwaves.

Similarly, it has been claimed in other writings that a man who claimed a large area of land with the ultimate intention of farming some of it, keeping some of it for sale to other comers, keeping still other acres in forest and untilled would properly be entitled only to that portion he developed, and was committing a trespass against "society" since he claimed some of the land he did not intend to develop.

Both of these views are consistent with anarchy. The curious thing is that some persons who profess an aversion to anarchy still adhere to this position.

Actually, what is discernible in this position is a carryover of the general antipathy toward the speculator.

A man may speculate and in so doing serve the market well. If he acquires, through purchase, first claim, or other moral manner, a piece of peoperty of any kind, there is nothing in the nature of man nor in the nature of property that demands that he develop it. To make such an assumption is to presume that man must be governed by what he owns, not that man is to govern what he owns.

Take the famous Swiss farmer, John Sutter, who at an early date in the 19th century acquired extensive acreage near the confluence of the Sacramento and American Rivers in California. His purpose was to farm and to develop, in time, a huge settlement of peaceful citizens. To do so, according to his plan, would require that many acres would always remain idle.

Part of his property he acquired by a grant from the King of Spain and part he acquired through a treaty with the Indians.

His total holdings were vast and probably beyond his ability ever to develop fully. As we indicated, he had no intention of making a full development.

Gold was discovered at his lumber mill by one of his employees. The resulting gold rush brought in a host of property violators who simply filed claims on land he had earlier possessed and owned. Sutter was ruined and his property wrested from him.

We would contend that Sutter was unjustly treated. The anarchists and those who share their theories concerning nonownership for unused lands and for "absentee ownership" would contend that Sutter got what was coming to him when he lost out through violence.

Retrospect

The shiftless and lazy worker sometimes sneers at his boss because of all the things his boss doesn't know. The same worker, when he is fired, marvels at all the things his boss has found out.

Development in Time and Space

If we continue to consider this matter of ownership of resources on the grounds of an "admixture of human energy" as the principle which makes ownership possible, we run into a most uncomfortable philosophic dilemma.

Let us assume that this is now the guiding principle by means of which natural resources, the gifts of nature, pass into the hands of private persons.

Here is a man who wishes to build a transcontinental railroad. To put in such a major facility, extensive financing is required. Before such financing would be likely to be forthcoming, the entrepreneur is going to have to convince his possible stock holders and backers that he will be capable of successfully completing his enterprise.

Therefore, he is going to have to chart out a route his rail line is to follow.

If we assume the land is in an undeveloped condition, as was the case when the American railroad building episode occurred, we would discover that the railroader will be called upon to "claim" certain strips of land over a very long route.

But he cannot build the entire railroad in the twinkling of an eye. He must begin somewhere and cause his construction to move forward as funds are available, as men are willing to work at the wages offered, and as patronage of existing portions of his line makes feasible an extension.

Suppose that another man appears who would like to build a home on the land already claimed (but not developed) by the railroader.

Must the would-be home builder conclude that the entrepreneur WILL be successful?

What if he profoundly doubts that a transcontinental rail line could ever be built?

If land becomes property ONLY when it is used, then the land claimed by the railroader which is NOT IN USE, is up for the claim of any other person who will use it NOW.

What right has the railroader to tie up good land for years, possibly forever, when he may actually never complete his project? This might well be the argument in a society where the use of land is the basis upon which property rights are acquired.

Suppose, to change the illustration, a man claims ten thousand acres, intending to develop all he can as farm land. Let us suppose that in his lifetime he is only able to clear and plant a thousand acres. Is his ownership of the other land that he claimed, invalid?

Would not every major undertaking which must be developed through time and space be subject to claim jumping IF the basis upon which ownership derives is the admixture of human energy?

A man claims a square mile of territory and builds a factory in a single quarter-section. Before he can develop it further, another man moves into the same square mile and in another quarter-section puts in a dairy. It would make no difference to the second man that the factory builder really requires all the land. He would contend that the factory owner was not USING the land AT THE TIME he moved in and put in his dairy.

We will contend that the anarchistic theory of ownership of resources (proprietorship) being dependent upon an "admixture" of human energy is invalid. Indeed, we will contend that it is contradictory to the real meaning of ownership.

The owner of ANY property is the master of what he owns. He may do AS HE PLEASES with whatever he owns, including keeping it idle. He may develop all, or part. He may neglect part, or all. He may obtain it for speculation and sell it when it is advantageous for him to sell it. He may give it to others, or he may, if he chooses, finally abandon it and own it no more.

Man must be viewed as the owner of the property, not property as the owner of the man.

Thus, in the beginning, if a man had been clever enough to anticipate that future developments would make air waves valuable, and had he found a way to possess them, he would have been on sound moral grounds to do so.

Similarly, if a man in 1880 had anticipated that one day uranium would have a value, he would have been morally within his rights to claim all the uranium mining sites he could find, even though he contributed nothing to the value of uranium ore.

It is always a great curiosity to us how certain persons, claiming to be in favor of private ownership of property, take pains in limiting and curtailing private property in their arguments.

Beatniks Without Beards

By GEORGE BOARDMAN, PhD

The majority of the voting population strongly embraces one idea or another. One segment wishes to continue to exist under the present set of faults. Most of the balance wish to exist under a completely different set of faults. A single reason motivates the wish to live under one set of faults or another. Nothing is perfect.

Nothing is more conducive to a complacent acceptance of the socialist equalizing process than a willingness to accept a faulty system, bankruptcy, criminality and intellectual mediocrity and despondency as a way of life. The urge for abysmal mediocrity is one of the unpleasant signs of immaturity. It refuses to recognize the one perfect shot on each hole during each full round of golf, because every shot is not perfect. Oh yes, there is one perfect shot on each hole during every round of golf, the putt you sink to finish each hole.

Perfection is a matter of individual preference. The French bread my wife bakes is a thing of beauty and taste perfection to me. We have had a great many perfect moments together, from my point of view. To ignore the perfect moments because of imperfect moments is childish.

Out of a hundred spectacularly beautiful Arizona sunsets, many seem perfect to me, even though each is different. Shall I refuse to see the most beautiful of the sunsets because every sunset is not "beautiful"? Shall I refuse happiness now because ten minutes from now I may stub my toe or think about the foolishness of those who embrace the cult of mediocrity with consuming witlessness?

There have been many perfect moments in my life — the times my very small daughter said, "Tell me a story, daddy," and her voice and her words put music in my mind and I wrote down the notes. The sight of my grandmother brushing her long, very black hair as it dried in the sunlight. Capture of a 165-pound marlin swordfish, a rain storm marching e a s t on Santa Monica Boulevard, block by block as I watched from a hill high above Hollywood.

Yes, I could jot down a book full of perfect moments, maybe enough for two books or a dozen. The final, high, clear notes as sung by Pons or Bea Hagen or Shirlie Ford, those final perfect notes which leave you waiting as they die out of your memory. No less perfect is the flight of a golden hawk or an eagle or a robin or sparrow. To pretend that "perfection does not exist is to be a nasty child, screaming because the ice cream has been eaten.

Why should human beings settle for anything less than perfection? Why should they settle for dullness and apathy, refuse to bathe because they'll get dirty again, accept discontent only because happiness may be fleeting and perfection occasional?

Certainly, humans have succumbed to the bribes and threats of tyrants throughout history but this does not mean that people cannot live in freedom, it only means they have not tried hard enough or long enough. Because governments admit to imperfection, is that a reason to accept tyranny and oppression eternally on earth? I believe it is not.

More and more respectable people who want no part of the beatnik-socialist urge for mediocrity are thinking and talking and writing for freedom. Ironically, a good many peddlers of the socialist con game are also talking unthinking nonsense about freedom — freedom to be totally enslaved by government — and this is another of the socialist goals which will never be accomplished.

You don't need a beard to be a beatnik. Look at the U.N., with losers in American politics trying to rule the world while mouthing such platitudes as "Of course the U.N. isn't perfect but it's our last hope for peace." Hitler also was going to bring peace to the entire world through the use or the threat of aggressive force. I reject the idea that my neighbors are bent on destroying me. Only governments destroy with impunity.

Good luck and good health to you, in Freedom.

Question Box

QUESTION No. 485: "Should non tax-supported colleges invite communists to lecture at their colleges? If not, should they invite them to debate on communism where each debater was required to answer each question in one minute's time?"

ANSWER: The answer to the first question is no. There is no reason why they should furnish them a platform to indoctrinate the youth of the land.

The answer to the second question is that they certainly should invite them to debate as to whether communism is good or practical where each debater was required to answer each question in a minute's time, or forfeit $100 a minute to the college for each minute they used over a minute in answering a question.

That would require, of course, that the college get men who were able to defend the free market, liberty, and private property against any communist.

The following would be able to do so: Dr. Orval Watts, F. A. Harper, Joseph Galambos, Henry Hazlitt, Leonard E. Read, Robert Segal, Clarence Manion, or T. Coleman Andrews who resigned as Internal Revenue director because he did not believe in the graduated income tax. Any of these men could defend the free enterprise system and since they respect private property, they would respect the private property (the time) of the audience and would not encroach on their time. They also of course would pay the $100 a minute for violating the agreement.

The communist who does not believe in private property and has no respect for private property would have to have the penalty of putting up $100 a minute for violating private property.

A debate of this kind would be informative, if the Communist Party would permit a communist to engage in a debate of this type. They do not really want to have their ideas tested; they want only to indoctrinate other people. They do not want to improve their previous selves; they are so egotistical that they think they know how to run the lives of other people. They have stopped learning and it is very doubtful that they would ever go into this kind of debate.

But when colleges refuse to let them talk and do not propose the above alternative, then the communists leave the impression with the students and the public that the colleges have no real conviction as to the benefits of private property, and cannot defend private property. Voluntaryists are not afraid of communist arguments, they are afraid of their propaganda where they can make long speeches at a college without being required to answer questions without evasion or contradiction. This kind of a debate would be a great education to the students and would be the proper solution to the questions of the communists going onto the campuses of private colleges.

Written questions from the floor should be given to either debater that the writer of the question wants to have either debater ask his opponent. There is objection to having questions screened by anyone but the debater. The debater will not screen any questions to protect his opponent as a third party might.

Questions are limited to general human relations questions that will improve the well-being of all mankind on this earth.

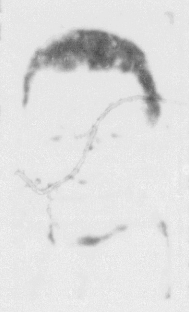
The Local Scene

Of Good and Evil

By RUFUS L. PORTER



Our worthy editor is doing such an excellent job of defending the innate goodness on mankind that I hesitate to add my two cents worth. But it has occurred to me that if man were basically evil he would never have discovered good or, having discovered it, would constantly bend all his efforts toward its destruction, instead of vice versa, as is the case.

If we were basically evil then evil would appear to us as good, we would worship an evil god and have no moral code. Rather, we would have a code of evil with perhaps 10 commandments of evil, the last five of which would read something as follows:

Thou shalt commit murder as often as possible.

Thou shalt commit adultery including rape.

Thou shalt steal anything you can move.

Thou shalt bear false witness against everybody.

Thou shalt covet anything that is thy neighbor's, including his wife.

But fortunately that is not the way it is. If we were basically evil then in the savage state we would be evil indeed. But from all accounts most savages are less evil than so-called civilized peoples. To my knowledge, no savage tribe has yet been found, even among the lowliest ones, that did not have some sort of moral code or set of taboos which consisted of "shalt nots" similar in style, if not in content, to our commandments. If men were naturally evil, the human race could not survive for 30 days.

To believe that man is basically good is not to believe he is incapable of evil, for we all are. And few of us go through life without breaking some of the rules at one time or another. The perfect man would break none of them. But there was only one of Him, and He died for the benefit of the imperfect ones, which includes you and me.

According to our standards there is evilness and badness. A thing is considered as being bad, but not necessarily evil, but all evil things are bad. In law, these are distinguished by the words felony (an evil) and misdemeanor (a bad thing). But man-made laws must be discounted in the degree they are at variance with natural laws.

Considering the fact that the Bible is far and away the best seller and has always been, and that we have produced much more "good" literature than "bad" or evil literature, and that we always hiss the villain and cheer the hero and are disappointed whenever the "baddies" win, I believe that most of us aspire to be good. Nor do I believe that children are "born delinquent," as one distinguished jurist recently remarked.

There is, however, such a thing as a deterioration of morals, a time when there seems to be more evil than good in the world. But it only seems so. The vast majority of people remain on the good side. It seems so because the evil makes news and the good does not, because men are EXPECTED to be good. And at any given time most of them WANT to be.

Because we are capable of evil does not mean we are evil at heart. If we were, we would be incapable of good. I recall a quatrain written, I believe, by Ella Wheeler Wilcox which goes like this:

There is so much good in the worst of us
And so much bad in the best of us
That it ill behooves any of us
To talk about the rest of us.

Many men who have been considered as totally evil have died as heroes. And many convicts have offered themselves as guinea pigs to medical science. If they did not have good in their hearts, why should they do such a thing?

As for pornography, it has been always with us, and will be with us always. There are books written hundreds of years ago that can top anything on the market today. But, in the long run, pornography is difficult to define and no definition is accepted by any two people. It all boils down to what King Edward the Third said when a lady lost a garter on the dance floor. The king gallantly retrieved it and, slipping it on his arm, said: "Honi soit qui mal y pense" (evil to him who evil thinks) — and there was born England's greatest and oldest (1346) order of knighthood — the Order of the Garter. But Edward was considered by many as an evil man.

Spiritual Values

By FRANK McDONOUGH Jr.

In a recent sermon, the minister of one of our largest churches became worried greatly over the absence of young people, not only in his congregation, but in the membership of churches in general. He had statistics showing that while the general membership of churches throughout the land had grown, the proportion of high school and college young folks was declining. It is a worrisome situation but it does not seem that the answer is too hard to find. The teaching of spiritual values has fallen far behind in this modern age, and it must turn about face in order to catch up. It can be done. The teaching of religion in most of our churches today is archaic.

To those of us who believe in an all-powerful Creator, this planet and our life upon it is according to a plan, otherwise, all would be chaos. There is a distinct cleavage in this plan on one side of which is all that is material and on the other side that which is spiritual. Men such as Galileo, Isaac Newton, Albert Einstein and others gave starts to unlocking the secrets of the metals, gases and other material things and with modern laboratories increasing desire for research interests the younger generation. They are in the laboratories.

On the spiritual side of our existence, Moses, Christ and others gave us the basics are long years ago. These material greater than the spiritual living truths because material accomplishing fails [illegible] with them. The plishments in the decadence of people from Egypt to Rome, and the consequent ruin of their physical accomplishments. In departing from the truths which Christ taught, and giving adulation to the teacher, we are bringing about our sure downfall. We need laboratories to study what He wished us to learn. And taking nothing away from the sacred aura which surrounds Him, we need laboratories free from beads and baubles, creeds and quarrels, parades and pageantry. The works of man are fleet and the accomplishments of today will crumble with the passing of the ages. But if we observe with rectitude the moral and spiritual teachings pronounced by Christ all the material things we have attained may be retained in perpetuity. Let's get our youngsters into spiritual laboratories — and then into church.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

A Jolt From Wisconsin

By THURMAN SENSING

The drive to regiment the American people through the means of the so-called Civil Rights Act of 1964 received a tremendous jolt when Gov. George Wallace of Alabama won more than a quarter of million votes in Wisconsin's preferential presidential primary.

Political writers in the North are openly acknowledging that grassroots disapproval of the "Civil Rights" bill is much greater than anticipated. The votes that went to Gov. Wallace represent a great awakening on the part of citizens outside the South. For years, the Southern States have been presented in national news media as a benighted region. Politicians automatically assumed that a Southerner couldn't win support north of the Mason-Dixon line. But Wisconsin proves that times have changed.

Despite the outpouring of abuse directed at Gov. Wallace and at Southern opposition to federal force bills, more than 30 per cent of the Democratic voters of Wisconsin, including those in heavily urbanized areas, went to the polls to throw their support to a Southerner who stands for opposition to totalitarian democracy.

From now on out no politician or "liberal" agitator will be able to dismiss Southern leadership.

It is tremendously heartening to know that so many people in Wisconsin, a state with a long tradition of progressive politics, have not been fooled by the pressure groups' campaign in behalf of the Civil Wrongs bill. They have seen the significance of its contents, and realize that the legislation represents a blow at American liberty.

Wisconsin is not the only area in the North where people are waking up to the danger of coerced association as decreed by federal bureaucrats and agitation front leaders.

The thousands of New Yorkers who marched earlier this spring in behalf of neighborhood schools are part of the nationwide movement of emancipation from "liberal" left dogma. In Chicago, legal citizen groups are enlisting talent to defend [illegible] from a courts and pressure of liberal social [illegible] groups' school system into a theological experiment.

In Cleveland, Ohio, the public is beginning to learn of the anarchists in their midst, the vigilantes who in the name of "civil rights" are determined to take the law into their own hands and plunge the community into chaos. The people of Cleveland are learning about the Black Muslims, the formation of rifle groups with Mau Mau names, and of the role of Castro supporters in the local agitation.

In the space of a year, the country has had revolutionary groups grow up in its midst. Agitators openly discuss turning a city like Cleveland into another Cyprus. Dangerous men talk of Molotov cocktails and hand grenades being thrown. Finally the press, public authorities, the police and the courts are beginning to comprehend what has been going on. In Cleveland, a judge warned that in the future he will throw the book at demonstrators who create violence. A large daily spoke plainly of "anarchy" in the city's streets.

Responsible citizens in communities north and south, east and west, cannot allow this country to be taken over by a handful of lawbreakers and left-wing extremists who to prove a point would give American cities a bloodbath. No doubt this summer these extremists hope to plunge the nation into internal chaos. They are planning for this. Responsible [illegible] communities [illegible] should be forewarned and ready for prompt and effective community action. Congress should let the agitators know that it will not be intimidated into passing legislation that would not only regiment law-abiding citizens but would give irresponsible lawless elements the privilege to [illegible] the nation. Preservation of the republic requires an alert citizenry that will not tolerate social terrorists who [illegible] of "civil rights."

RED-INK WAR

To the Editor:

A cartoon came to my attention recently suggesting a war to which our leaders in Washington should give first consideration. But we know that won't happen as long as we have a Democrat administration.

The cartoon asks, "How about a war on PRODIGALITY? — on wasteful expenditures, red-ink financing, and requests for new spending authority?"

Such a war is a must. There is nothing that can match this administration's inexcusably reckless use of money. They are operating on the assumption that even wasted money can keep the economy going, that red ink is better than a sound dollar, and that they are justified in offering guaranteed prices and subsidies for unwanted goods. They must be out of their minds.

Can't leading Democrats see how inexcusably silly and ultimately destructive their philosophies and practices are? For example — as a result of many years of gigantic debt-creating binges, 70 cents of every dollar spent goes for taxes direct and hidden. You pay 6 cents for a loaf of bread and 2 cents for a gallon of gas — the rest is for taxes whether you are rich or poor.

The federal feed grain program cost $768 million but it lowered production only 5 per cent. The proposed irrigation dam in the West would cost $848 for every acre irrigated. With one-sixth of the factory capacity idle we are still spending $15 billion for imports. Countless cattlemen are going broke yet 11 per cent of the meat we consume is imported. That isn't all — the government has been working on a proposal to subsidize new cattlemen to get them started — six agencies were created to teach poultrymen how to get more eggs — then a seventh one to buy up the surplus eggs. Money is spent to survey the habits of skiers, to study the depth of a baby monkey's love for its mother, to investigate what is contained in echoes, etc. etc. No wonder the average citizen works from January 1 to April 22 to pay his taxes.

How about a war on PRODIGALITY? That won't happen until there is a change in Washington. When LBJ turns out one light, he feels free to turn on two or three some place else.

FALSE IMAGES

To the Editor:

What this country needs is a good iconoclast.

Imagery has become the order of the day. The image of the United States abroad, the image of peaceful co-existence, the image of security through disarmament, the image of wealth by debt and deficit and the senseless adulation of "images" of politicians, stars in entertainment and sports.

There is false and misleading realism in these images, the reality often being the exact opposite of the image. We are in danger of sacrificing ourselves, our independence and our principles to these modern-day images if we do not exercise a great caution.

MacARTHUR'S ADVICE

To the Editor:

The death of General MacArthur is almost agonizing sorrow to millions of Americans who not only revered this towering man, but believed with him, that "there is no substitute for victory."

Had General MacArthur's advice, fruit of his giant intellect, been heeded; millions of people now communist slaves would be free men. America's leaders, to their shame, ignored this military genius and statesman and took the weak, the co-existence with evil way out. Now, faced with a merciless enemy, America must suffer the consequences of her gutless folly.

With his noble inspiration, America must recapture her past glory and like her heroic General MacArthur, be a symbol of bravery, truth, and liberty for all mankind.

State District Realignment Necessary to Congressmen

By GORDON G. GAUSS
Associated Press Writer

DENVER (AP) — The most powerful force working to bring an agreement among Colorado Republicans on realigning the state's congressional districts is the prospect that—unless something is done — federal courts might require all candidates for seats in the U.S. House of Representatives to run at large.

Such a move would force veteral Republican Rep. J. Edgar Chenoweth of Trinidad — whose margin always is thin at best— to face usually-Democratic Denver.

It would mean that freshman Republican Rep. Donald G. Brotzman of Boulder—who has had only two years to become known — might have to run against possibly better known names.

The same situation would apply to the two Democratic congressmen—Rep. Wayne N. Aspinall of Palisade and Byron G. Rogers of Denver. However, circumstances might tend to minimize the effect upon both of them.

As chairman of the House Interior and Insular Affairs Committee, Aspinall's name is more familiar to the voters than that of any other Colorado member of the House. Rogers lived in the third district when he first entered politics and his name still is known to many southern Colorado voters.

If all congressmen were required to run at large, the trend in the presidential election might have an especially strong influence upon the election of all of them. At present, Democrats feel that Lyndon B. Johnson has an excellent chance to win Colorado—even though no Democratic presidential candidate has accomplished the feat since Harry S. Truman in 1948. Whether this margin will hold after the Republicans nominate their candidate next July is anyones guess.

One of the principal reasons Gov. John A. Love is calling the legislature into special session starting at 2 p.m. Saturday to realign the congressional districts is to avoid the at-large voting for Congress. Under such a system the high four candidates for the House would be elected, regardless of residence or party.

So far the Republican senators have failed to agree on any system. If the session doesn't solve the problem, it is likely the courts might do so in considering the petition filed by David J. Miller, a Greeley attorney and a Democrat.

The Supreme Court of the United States ruled in a recent Georgia case that population must be approximately equalized among congressional districts within a state. Based upon 1960 census figures, Colorado's First District, Denver, has a population of 493,887; its second district, northern Colorado, has 653,954; the third district, southern Colorado, has 410,555; and the Fourth District, mostly the Western Slope, has 195,551. The districts have not been realigned for more than 40 years.

Love suggested Tuesday, when he announced the special session, that it might require a week.

A telegram praising the Republican governor for calling the special session was sent from Washington by Colorado's two Republican U.S. Senators, Gordon Allott and Peter H. Dominick.

Senator Rogers discussed with a reporter the possibility that a second special session might have to be called. This would result if the Supreme Court of the United States should overturn Constitutional Amendment No. 7 passed by Colorado voters in 1962. It is the basis for the new legislative reapportionment.

"We might get into this tragic predicament," Rogers said. "If any special sessions are called after next weekend, you have overrun the time set up in the statutes for complete election procedures. Such a session would require revision of the election laws."

Robert Maytag, state Democratic chairman, was non-committal when reporters asked him if he thought Democratic legislators would yield to pleas of Governor Love to support a reapportionment.

"I don't know," he said. "We haven't seen any plan yet."

Love mentioned the possibility that some other topics might be on the call as well as congressional reapportionment. Aides do not expect these to be of a controversial nature, however.

One of them may be a request that the date of the primary elections be shifted from Sept. 8. This date falls on Rosh Hashana, start of the Jewish High Holy day period. It might be advanced a week or set back a week.

Rockefeller Wants to Call Defense Talks

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)— Nelson A. Rockefeller wants an inter-American defense conference called to lay plans for dealing with "the Soviet Communist occupation of Cuba."

The New York governor, a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, said in a New Orleans speech Tuesday that such a conference should also work to halt "Communist subversion and sabotage throughout the hemisphere."

Rockefeller's appearance at the Pan-American press seminar was billed as non-political but much of his talk was devoted to sniping at the Johnson administration's Latin-American policy, which he called patronizing and haphazard.

No Louisiana Republican leaders conferred with Rockefeller. The state GOP convention last Saturday endorsed Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona for the presidential nomination and instructed the 20 national convention delegates to vote for Goldwater.

However, Rocekfeller met with his campaign leaders in other Southern states, including Charles Wilson of Tuscaloosa, Ala., and Clyde Pearson of Roanoke, Va.

"I don't want to mix politics with Latin America," Rockefeller told newsmen before his speech.

He received the International House 1963 Thomas E. Cunningham award for advancing inter-American harmony and then blasted the Democratic administration in his speech.

Rockefeller said the Alliance for Progress "has been an almost complete failure to develop a truly joint effort" in the Americas because "goals for the program have been set for our allies rather than developed with them."

High Level Conferences Underway Today in Laos

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—Laotian Premier Souvanna Phouma and foreign diplomats conferred with King Savang Vathana today after leaders of the rightist military coup defied Western pressure to restore Souvanna's coalition regime to power.

The neutralist premier flew to the royal capital of Luang Prabang, 120 miles north of Vientiane, Tuesday for his second meeting with the king since right-wing military leaders seized control of Vientiane Sunday and put Prince Souvanna under house arrest.

The king and Souvanna were joined in Luang Prabang today by U.S. Ambassador Leonard Unger, Soviet Ambassador Sergei Affanassiev, British Charge d'Affaires John Denson, Australian Ambassador Malcolm Morris, French Ambassador Pierre Millet and Indian Ambassador Bikram Shah.

All the countries except Australia were among 14 nations that signed the 1962 Geneva agreement guaranteeing Laotian neutrality and setting up the coalition government. The envoys are trying to get Prince Souvanna and his coalition of neutralists, rightwingers and pro-Communists reinstalled.

Souvanna was accompanied to Luang Prabang by several members of his Cabinet including Gen. Phoumi Nosavan, his right-wing deputy premier who insisted he is trying to get things back to normal.

In an unexplained change of plans, the coup leader, Gen. Kouprasith Abhay, and his deputy, Gen. Siho Lamphouthacoul, did not accompany the premier. They sent a lieutenant colonel.

Kouprasith and Siho had accompanied Souvanna to Luang Prabang Monday, when the king told them he did not approve of the coup and reportedly asked Souvanna to form a new coalition government.

The United States and other Western powers sought in vain Tuesday to persuade the rightists to abandon their power grab before it touched off violent counter measures. The pro-Communist Pathet Lao has warned that the coup could plunge Laos back into civil war.

William Bundy, assistant secretary of state for Far Eastern affairs, departed for Washington via Bangkok to report on his apparently futile round of meetings. President Johnson sent him to Vientiane from Saigon, where he had accompanied Secretary of State Dean Rusk on an inspection trip to South Viet Nam.

Kouprasith and Siho refused to give ground despite the urgings of Bundy, Ambassador Unger and diplomats of Britain, France and Australia.

The Western envoys met first for an hour with Souvanna in his villa surrounded by rightist guards.

The Western diplomats then spent an hour with Kouprasith and Siho. "No change," said one diplomat.

Finally Bundy and his colleagues called on Phoumi, who seemed embarrassed by the generals' power move. Phoumi told newsmen he had assured the diplomats he would try to restore normal conditions.

Bundy had little to say after his sessions with the rightist leaders.

"I don't know whether they'll see the matter in its true light or not," he said as he left Vientiane.

A high-ranking official close to Souvanna said the revolutionary committee was pressing the premier to resign.

Vientiane's cable office reopened today after being closed since the coup, but the military regime imposed censorship on outgoing press dispatches.

Red China made its first direct comment on the coup today, accusing the United States of seeking to set up a government in Laos which would exclude the Pathet Lao and its leader, Prince Souphanouvong. Souphanouvong is also a deputy premier in Souvanna's government, though he has boycotted it for 14 months.

Peking said the only solution to the crisis was to release Souvanna and all others arrested by the rebel group and to punish the coup leaders.

Volunteer Fire Fighting Group 25 Years Old

ORANGE GROVE, Tex (UPI)—This South Texas town of 1,109 persons boasts a volunteer fire department that has been an institution for a quarter century.

Five old timers still serving the community as fire fighters were among the original group of 26 men that formed the organization in 1937. Before that, local men headed for the station on a random basis when the alarm rang.

That system was unable to cope with a fire in 1928 that leveled an entire east side of Main Street. Another major blaze in 1933 destroyed several buildings on the other side of the street.

Still, the citizens were proud of their "modern" fire-fighting equipment—a two-wheel, hand-drawn foamite tank cart. They recall how it was first used to put out a fire on the Southern Pacific railroad that started in bales of cotton in a box car.

Three trucks now belong to the volunteer fire department, but the old handdrawn cart is still kept at the station. The tin building that once housed the fire department has been replaced with a brick station.

Soviet Navy Chief Dies in Moscow

MOSCOW (AP)—Adm. Fyodor V. Zozulya, 56, chief of the Soviet navy staff, died Tuesday after a short illness, Moscow newspapers reported today.

Boy Who Couldn't Fly Airplanes Did Anyway

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—Jimmy C. Willis, 16, loves airplanes.

Shortly after midnight Tuesday, officers said, Jimmy took a plane from a hangar, got it started and—although he had never flown a plane—took off.

Authorities said he flew for some three hours, almost crashed twice, and finally landed after clipping several trees and badly damaging the plane. He escaped injury.

FCC REFUSES ACTION

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Federal Communications Commission refused Monday to take action against Chicago station WCIU - TV for televising bull fights. But it said it would consider the matter when the station's license comes up for renewal later this year.

Attorneys for the National Anti-Vivisection Society asked the FCC to revoke the station's license or issue a cease and desist order against it. The lawyers said the televised fights violated Illinois law, but the FCC said the law seemed to prohibit bull fights in the state, not showing of pictures.

BERRY GOOD

NEW YORK (UPI) — Fresh California strawberries make the good shortcake. Here's a quickie recipe:

Blend ¼ cup butter and ¼ cup honey. Cut 6 hamburger rolls in half, spread with honey mixture and bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) 20 minutes or until crisp. Combine 2 pints fresh California strawberries and ½ cup sugar. Top shortcake halves with berries and serve with cream.

GOP Continues Attack On Policy in Viet Nam

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson had sharp notice today that the continued presence of Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge in Saigon is not going to blunt Republican attacks on Viet Nam policies.

Lodge had indirect advice from Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois that if he wants the Republican presidential nomination he had better come home and fight for it.

Dirksen and House Republican Leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana fired off a salvo at a news conference Tuesday demanding that Johnson end what they said was the fiction that Americans are not actively participating in the South Viet Nam fighting.

Unlike Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., a presidential aspirant, and former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, who is available for the nomination, Dirksen and Halleck declined to say whether they think the war should be extended to Communist North Viet Nam.

Dirksen said he had heard rumors that Lodge was unhappy about developments in Saigon and might be coming home soon. Pressed on this point, he said he had no information to substantiate reports of this nature.

But he added: "If I had presidential aspirations—and I want it noted that I do not—I would think very seriously of coming home. If you want something and want it badly enough, you go out and work for it."

Lodge, who won the New Hampshire GOP presidential primary and is rated a top contender in the May 15 Oregon primary, has given no indication how long he intends to stay in his diplomatic job.

At about the time Johnson was saying in a White House rose garden news conference that Republicans ought to support the President when he is right and oppose him when he is wrong, Halleck dismissed as "ridiculous" Johnson's plan to to brief GOP presidential aspirants on foreign affairs.

Halleck and Dirksen said such briefings might be of value to the top presidential and vice presidential nominees. But Halleck said "trying to brief all of the candidates at this time would be ridiculous."

Johnson cracked that "I am a fellow who likes small parties and the Republican party is about the size I like it." But he said there are able men in the GOP and the Democratic party has no monopoly on patriotism.

Johnson said he hopes the Republicans will not provide "opposition just for the sake of opposition." He said they ought to support legislation for the poverty program, civil rights, food stamps, government pay boosts, health care for the elderly and immigration.

Without knowing of these statements, Dirksen and Halleck accused Johnson of using "blow-torch tactics to heat up the economy to a full-fledged boom by election day."

They cited a statement in which Johnson had said he thinks "this will be a good year for the people from an economic standpoint and I think it will be a good year for the Democrats from a political standpoint."

"It is not clear which the President puts first—the economic welfare of the American people or the political welfare of the Democratic party," Dirksen said. "If politics comes first, we think the Johnson administration is engaged in a dangerous game."

Two Crewmen Walk Away From Jet Crash

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP)—Two of five crewmen walked away from the wreckage of a six-jet Air Force weather reconnaissance plane after it had crashed and burned on take-off Tuesday.

Maj. Franklin A. Ross, the aircraft commander, and Lt. Harry A. Lagerwell, the pilot, were seared on the face and hands by flames, but their conditions were listed as "not too serious." They are from McClelland Air Force Base near Sacramento, Calif.

The converted bomber, a WB47, appeared to lose power in its three right engines as it lifted from the runway at Eielson Air Force Base. It dipped to the ground, slid 1,500 yards off the right side of the field, and burst into flames.

The dead were listed as Capt. Warren S. Hillis, the navigator from McClelland; Maj. Conrad L. Lienhart Jr., instructor-navigator, Fairbanks; and T. Sgt. Charles F. Heckman, crewman, Fairbanks.

BETTER BELIEVE IT

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—Not long ago, Terry White told his fifth-grade class in Follansbee, W. Va., that it sometimes rains frogs in Florida. Doubt was expressed.

Terry, a former Floridian, wrote Gov. Farris Bryant of Florida. He said neither his teacher nor his classmates believed his story of seeing it rain green frogs when he was five.

His class better believe him now.

Bryant wrote back that frogs were sometimes swept up into clouds by high winds—tiny fish, too—and later fell back to earth with the rain.

Pete Plans Quiet Day For Bard

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Thursday is William Shakespeare's 400th birthday and Peter Ustinov plans to make a quiet, sane day of it.

No lifting of flagons. No gamboling on the green. Ustinov will have none of the celebrations that are taking place throughout the English-speaking world.

It's not that he is "anti-Shakespeare. Nay, sire. He even defends the Bard against those who claim his works were penned by Francis Bacon.

"Bacon couldn't have written the plays," says Ustinov. "He was too much the gentleman, too much the educated man. Those are the chaps who become critics. It's the less educated writers who create the real works of art. They haven't the assurance to be parasites."

Ustinov was delivering some thoughts about his fellow actor-playwright while wrapped in a bright yellow bathrobe on the set of "John Goldfarb, Please Come Home."

"Shakespeare is England's most reliable export," he observed. "Whenever the cultural ministry is in doubt about what to send abroad, it always relies on Shakespeare. He's safe.

"I've made it my business to elude playing Shakespeare. I've done some on radio, but never on a stage. Stratford—the No. 1 Stratford—wanted me to play Falstaff this year, but I wasn't able to arrange it. I should like to play 'Lear' some day.

"Scholars generally consider Shakespeare the greatest English playwright, but not the best. That is, his construction was a bit untidy at times.

"I always think of him as a farmer, which he apparently was. I have visions of actors asking him to rewrite the last act so it will play better and of him answering, 'Sorry, but I've got to go buy a cow.' He seems to have had other things on his mind.

Negro Youths Attack Group Of Hebrew Pupils

NEW YORK (AP)—About 50 Negro youths, shouting anti-Semitic epithets, attacked a group of Hebrew school pupils in Brooklyn Tuesday, injuring at least 15 of them, police said. Two rabbis who went to the aid of their pupils were beaten.

After calm had been restored, 10 Negro youths beat up Samuel Lipsker, 10, outside the school and fled, police said.

The first outbreak occurred during noon recess at a Hebrew grammar-high school in the Bedford-Stuyvesant section, a predominantly Negro neighborhood.

The Negro youths, boys and girls, some carrying sticks, bottles, chains and switch-blade knives, began to push and hit pupils on the school grounds. The pupils, ranging in age from 9 to 12, fought back with their fists, witnesses said.

Rabbi Abraham Barnetsky, 46, took on a boy he supposed to be a leader of the Negro youths. "Two of my fingers were cut by this garbage can lid," the rabbi said.

Another teacher, Rabbi Isidore Kolodny, was punched in the abdomen during the 10-minute fight.

It ended when Leo Berkman, 43, a city building inspector, stopped his car and made a citizen's arrest of a 15-year-old Negro boy. Berkman said the youth clouted him with a belt buckle when he identified himself. The other Negroes fled upon hearing police sirens.

Rabbi Barnetsky, who had charge of 150 boys in the school yard, said the first indication of trouble came when two Hebrew students complained that several Negro boys had demanded a nickel from them, and hit them when they refused.

Two More Americans Killed in Viet Nam

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Two more Americans have been killed in the Vietnamese war, bringing the total U.S. deaths in action to 129.

An American officer and an enlisted man died Tuesday on a highway 55 miles southeast of Saigon when Viet Cong guerrillas touched off a buried bomb as the Americans' jeep drove over it. Three Vietnamese soldiers also were killed.

Loveland Fails to Sell Airport Second Time

LOVELAND, Colo. (AP)—The Loveland city government's attempt to sell 96 acres of land formerly used as an airport has failed for the second time within a year.

Mayor Roy Patterson told a City Council meeting Tuesday night that no bids were received for the land despite extensive advertising. The proceeds of the land sale are to be used to pay part of Loveland's share for joint construction with Fort Collins of a new airport near the Cloverleaf dog track.

Patterson said the 96 acres has been appraised at $170,000.

Loveland is to pay $125,000 toward the cost of the new $800,000 airport. Fort Collins will contribute $250,000 and the Federal Aviation Agency the balance.

LOSE SOMETHING?

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The gasoline gauge read "empty" and Guy V. Whitener Jr. telephoned for help.

While he was waiting, the Newberry, N.C., man peered into the refueling spout of his rented automobile. He could see daylight below. No gas tank.

Police found the tank 18 blocks and nine traffic lights away where it apparently tore loose and fell off.

"I can't understand how the car ran that far without a gas tank," an officer said.

Chipita Park News

By CAROLYN McADAMS — MU 7-9065

The ESCAP (Emergency Service Civil Air Patrol) Squadron being organized in the Ute Pass Area under the command of Bill Osborne, Chipita Park, 684-9675, has been named "The Ponderosa Emergency Service Rescue Squadron, CAP." Members enrolled at the present time are Raymond Smith, Chipita Park the executive officer; Dallas Lutz, Chipita Park, observer; Mrs. Zelda Smith and Mrs. Louetta Osborne, both Chipitians, assigned to communications; Glen Preshold, Colorado Springs, observer, and three pilots from Colorado Springs, David Barcus, with KKTV, Dixon Clay Locket, with KVOR, and Pete Gonzales with the weather bureau, who will serve as flight officer. The first meeting of the newly organized Squadron will be held Saturday, April 25, at Bob's Cafe, Fillmore Street and Nevada Avenue, Colorado Springs. One hundred thirty dinner reservations have been made for 6 p.m., including members throughout the state of Colorado. Group Commander Major Leo Wells, of Fort Carson, who is in charge of the entire outlying Emergency Service CAP, will be in charge of the meeting. Senior members of the Ft. Carson Emergency Service CAP and residents of Chipita Park are Harold (Laddie) Anderson, presently stationed in Nicaragua, and John Holm, Timpa Road.

The Senior Citizen Bowling League has selected names for the teams, some of which cleverly combine their own names. The BVD team members are Cy Bobard, Charles and Mary Vaught, Emmet Dye; B's and W's are Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Wright, Mr. and Mrs. Chet Benman; Kraas Fires Mr. and Mrs. Ted Kraas, Mr. and Mrs. George Miller; Nip and Tuck, Nip Challela, Algo Agustus, May Curtis, Bill Hicks; Thumbusters, Edna Aslin, Minnie Siegle, Lyle Hale, Roy Topliff; Homesteaders, Mr. and Mrs. Otha Gish, Mr. and Mrs. David Borton; Odd Fellows, Mr. and Mrs. Rollin Swartz, Jessie Hawley, John Peters; Beatnicks, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Egley, Lois Speer, Rus Walker; Sun-Downers, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Hodges, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Watson; The Drifters, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Tuemler, Harold Herring, Frank Bendish; Cutco's, Mr. and Mrs. Wm McLeod, Bob Milosvitch, "Pop" Oliver; Pin Splitters, Lucille Sullivan, Goldie Whitmore, Ray Brownewell, Oliver Galley. Last Saturday high scratch scores for single game 218 and series 584 was won by Otha Gish on the Homesteaders team.

Harold Herring hit a 200 game; "Pop" Oliver picked up pins 3, 6, 7, 10 in a split and Ray Brownewell picked up a split 5, 6, 10. Any interested person may call secretary Wini Kraas, Chipita Park 684-9118, to join in case there are drop-outs of present players. Age 55 or over is the qualification.

Layne Van Arsdale and Terry Thomson are junior assistant Scoutmasters for Boy Scout Troop 26, and will serve on the staff at Camp Alexander for the summer season of five weeks from June 14 to middle of July. Young Van Arsdale will work in the Scoutcraft area and Thomson with the handicraft program. Both JASM attended a training session at the Scout headquarters office in Colorado Springs Friday evening.

The regular Friday night meeting of Boy Scout Troop 26, opened with the flag ceremony conducted by Mike Isle, with David Kaufman bearing the American flag and Leonard Yoe the Scout flag. The Troop worked on Morse code procedures, sending and receiving messages. Individual meetings of each patrol will be held this week and names selected. Mike Isle supervised the Weblos who were at the meeting.

New residents and owners of the former home of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Mitchell on Mountain Road are Mr. and Mrs. Kirt Staudenecker and two children, former residents of Colorado Springs. The Mitchells have moved into their new home on Topeka Avenue in Cascade.

The sympathy of the community is extended Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Bilderback in the death of her mother, octogenarian Mrs. Speer in Chickasha, Okla., April 11. Burial was in Dallas, Tex. The Bilderbacks returned home this weekend.

Occupying their mountain residence during April were Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Reedy of Wichita Falls, Tex. They will return in July for a summer holiday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Willie attended the funeral services of Wallace (Buddy) Warner, world famous ski champion, which was held at the Methodist Church in Steamboat Springs, Friday, April 17, at 2 p.m. Mrs. Marlene Willie was a school chum of Buddy and since her marriage they had visited with each other. All of the Olympic team attended the services, with other skiers from Germany, Switzerland and France, to pay their deep sympathy and respect. Huge bundles of mail had arrived at the Wallace home from all over the world with condolences.

A full house crowded the Manitou Springs High School gym, Tuesday, April 14, to watch the basketball game of the nationally known Red Heads against an assortment of players called the Old Colts team, made up of all the coaches of Manitou Junior and Senior High Schools, several of the teachers and six townspeople. The score ended 42 to 44 in favor of the Red Heads. On a 60-40 per cent basis the School netted some $200, which will help pay for work on the new Richardson baseball field.

Wm. Phelps and Larry Olsen, coaches of Manitou High School, accompanied 15 junior and senior boys, members of the Track Team, for an all day meet at Pueblo, at the Pueblo High field. Ron Smith of Chipita Park, took first place award for Pole Vaulting and the Manitou team was awarded the third place team trophy with 22 points. The trophy will be displayed in the trophy case at Manitou School. Mrs. John Lobaugh was a driver for one of the three cars.

Jack Willie, athletic director for Manitou schools, has an average of 18-20 men present on Thursday's Recreation night for businessmen, in the High School gym. Two weeks ago 45 attended. This was the largest group. All of the men seem to be anxious to loosen up muscles before spring garden work. The program sponsored by the Manitou Chamber of Commerce, will end April 30, and is being evaluated for its renewal next year.

Speaking of spring, which seems to be on again then off again. A Mr. and Mrs. Flicker Woodpecker knocked on the eaves of our house last week, while our neighbors report that the mountain bluebirds, first migrant of spring, has arrived on "Blue Bird Hill," Highway 24, to start their housekeeping and raise families. Our yard is sprouting with the fragile anenomes, all the shrubs are bursting with budding leaves. Surely we can be jubilant.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Adamsheck, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Lofland and Rex Speckman, on the First National Bank team with the VFW Bowling League, have been conceded first place for the season, with the score 87½ wins, 36½ lost and winning three games last week, the score is sewed up for the remaining two more weeks of play. The same couples make up the KRDO team in the Ute Classic Scratch League and have won 98, lost 34, with 64608, putting them in second place. Fourth place is Garden Lane, who won 80, lost 52, with 62427. B and B Tires won 73, lost 55, with 60546. Neal's Candies won 57, lost 75, with 61505. American Electric won 53, lost 79, with 60051. Townhouse Lounge won 50½, lost 81½, with 58452. Ruth Ryan hit a 507 series, Barbara Lofland 503 and Oliver Knutson a 222 game. The season, with three more weeks, will close May 8.

At the April 13 meeting of Sweet Adelines, election of officers placed Shirley Janssen as president; Marie Sherman, vice president; Rhoda Cordry, recording secretary; Lanell Rockwell corresponding secretary, and Kay Peterson treasurer.

The Woodland Park Lioness Club made 46 reservations for its luncheon meeting Thursday, April 16, held in Fellowship Hall, Church in the Wildwood. The program was a most outstanding and unusual one, presented by Mr. and Mrs. Howard Rossitor, Lt. Col. and Mrs. Hall and their assistants. A dog style show with a German poodle, three toy doberman pinschers and a Hungarian doggie were the models, displaying the latest in Bikini's, squaw dance costumes, and mink coats among other different costumes. Several dogs from Mexico and Scotland gave a demonstration of obedience as watch dogs and work dogs. The luncheon was prepared and served by the Women's Fellowship, Church in the Wildwood, headed by Lucille White, first vice president, assisted by Martha Gayler, Anna Walter, Alberta Stout, Betty Reasonover, Margaret Quinn, Laura Jones, Maxine Van Arsdale and Lorraine Martin.

Approximately 75 ladies attended the Department of Women's Work meeting, Commission of Lay Life and Work of the United Church of Christ of Colorado, held at Camp La Foret, Black Forest, Monday April 13, all day. Churches represented were Buena Vista, Burlington, Idalia, Green Mountain Falls, Manitou Springs, First Congregational Church in Colorado Springs, Broadmoor Community Church, and First Congregational Church of Pueblo. Mrs. Bradley Skinner, president and state chairman for lay work conducted the program. The new curriculum for all departments of the church was outlined. Delegates going from the Church in the Wildwood were Martha Gayler, Hermine Bucher, Tina Warner, Ruth Roth, Doris Rerick, Betty Reasonover and Lorraine Martin.

Twenty-one members of the Ute Pass Eastern Star Fellowship met Tuesday April 14, at the home of Mrs. Carolyn McAdams for an all day work meeting. Sewing cancer bandages, bed pads and bibs for Sands House, under the direction of Mrs. Barbara Elwell, worthy matron of Snowflake Chapter No. 153, Order of the Eastern Star, was accomplished with three portable sewing machines and much needle work, etc. Several ladies took unfinished work home with them. The bundles will be taken to Denver around May 15 by Mrs. Dorothy Erb, of Florissant. A potluck luncheon was served at noon, the hostesses furnishing coffee and dessert. Co-hostess with Mrs. McAdams was Mrs. Barbara Elwell. Prizes were won by Henriette Dust, Ruth Elwell and Ruth Alexander.

YEASTY

NEW YORK (UPI) — Active dry yeast and compressed yeast are interchangeable in any recipe, home economics report. One package, or one tablespoon from a jar of active dry yeast is equivalent to one cake of compressed yeast. Active dry yeast, because it contains no moisture, stays fresh for several months on any cool, dry shelf. Compressed (fresh active) yeast is perishable and must be refrigerated.

Cascade News

By CAROLYN McADAMS—MU 7-9065

A former resident of Cascade on Severy Avenue, Sp. 7 Franklin J. Owen, Chaplain's Assistant, Mrs. Bette Owen and their children, Richard and Portia have sent letters to their friends and neighbors, telling of their recent experience in the Alaskan earthquake, and saying that they are all safe and well after the harrowing ordeal. "It was very frightening to see furniture jumping up and down, everything thrown out of cupboards, pictures wrenched from the walls, and the entire home in chaos. Neighbors' houses slid into hugh crevasses, streets just dropped out of sight, buildings standing at grotesque angles. One cannot believe the amount of property damage caused by a quake of this magnitude," said Mr. Owen. "Many people not only lost their homes, but their property literally slid into the ocean, so they have no ground left to rebuild on," Specialist Owen said. "Had I been asked what is the most frightening or terrifying thing a person could be caught in, I would immediately reply without hesitation an artillery barrage, but not any more, it's an earthquake." Spec. Owen formerly with ARADCOM Headquarters, was reassigned to headquarters of the U.S. Army Alaska at Ft. Richardson, the tour in Alaska being his third. He entered the Army in February, 1942 and completed 20 years of military service prior to his last assignment. The family plan to visit their former home in Cascade this summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Heltemes were among some 35 members of the Pikes Peak Chapter, Veteran Motor Car Club attending the April 17 meeting held in the Interstate Gas Co. office in the Plaza Building. The first summer run has been scheduled for Sunday, May 17, when a caravan of cars will drive to Palmer Lake. An original "Our Gang" comedy film was shown, with numerous antics of what automobiles could do in those days. Recent new members of the Pikes Peak Club are Mr. and Mrs. Marvin "Pete" Brown, who have offered their Browncraft Steakhouse on Highway 24, entering Woodland Park as the "Half-way" stop for a coffee break when a tour is driving this way. The Browns own a 1922 Model T coupe, a 1924 Model T truck, equipped with coal oil lamps and a four-door 1923 Studebaker sedan.

Harry Stout began his fourth year in charge of the Pikes Peak Rock Shop, located on Pikes Peak Highway and the Old County Road. Mr. Elmer Brown, owner, has moved his large stock of western jewelry, rock specimens and silver work from the former Chipita Lapidary on Highway 24, and has constructed out-door cabinets for display and additional counters inside the building.

Mrs. Phyllis Giles, leader, met with the Brownie Troop 110, out in the field behind Cascade School on Thursday, as the floor in the firehouse auditorium was being re-finished. Nineteen members were present, and elected a new president, Terri Owens, vice-president, Martha McCammon, and treasurer, Farrel Carson. The group then took a hike to the Cascade post office, where Mrs. Lucille Sanborn, postmaster, conducted a tour explaining the handling of mail, and allowed each Brownie to cancel a letter, which was a real thrill. Mrs. Sanborn served the visitors an ice cream treat.

The Ute Pass Homemakers April 16 meeting was canceled, due to the two car accident involving Mrs. Phyllis McConnel of Green Mountain Falls and her daughter Kim, age 5. The Ford pick up driven by Mrs. McConnel was overturned, both passengers receiving multiple bruises and abrasions. They were taken to St. Francis hospital for treatment.

Cub Scouts Den 3, Pack 33 met Tuesday after school instead of Monday, due to illness of Dale Bartley, mascot age 3, who had measles. Mrs. Polly Bartley, leader, began the rehearsal on a skit about nature which the Den will give at the Pack meeting, Thursday night. The Scouts are filling small film cans with items composing a survival kit.

Mrs. Fay Schumacher and Mrs. Francine Nelson, co-leaders of Den No. 2, Cub Scouts, met Wednesday afternoon with all present with their den chief, David Hey. Finally the plaques were finished by glazing the emblems Lion, Wolf and Bear heads mounted on a shield 8 by 8 inches, made of plywood. Two members were able to take theirs home that night. A rehearsal of the closing ceremony was held, which Den 2 will give at the monthly pack meeting. John Love brought cookies, which were enjoyed, followed by outdoor games, Capture the Flag and Pom Pom (tackle) Pull Away.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Mitchell formerly residents in Chipita Park for eight years, have moved into their new residence in Cascade, located on Topeka Avenue just above East Home Hotel. The tract of ground will eventually provide a second residence for Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell, with one a rental. The new home has a lower level family room, utility and garage, with living room, bed room, kitchen and bath on the upper level, and is of siding construction painted red.

Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Hendrickson visited their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Terry Reiman, in Smith Center, Kan., April 2, for a family reunion, the first in 16 years. Another daughter, Mrs. Willard G. Denkel of Kansas City, Kan., joined them. A dinner for 14 was given at the Smith Center Hotel observing the April 3 birthday of Mrs. R. A. Hendrickson with "R" being the host of the party.

DC7 Airliner Slated to Crash For Air Safety

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — A four-engine DC7 airliner was to roar down a Phoenix airstrip this morning in a take-off that never gets far off the ground. The big craft, guided by rail and occupied only by 15 dummies, was to reach a speed of 140 miles an hour before smashing up into a pile of twisted metal.

Barring unfavorable weather, the airliner was to be sacrificed in the hope of making future air crashes more survivable. The simulated crackup was to take only about four seconds.

As it reached the projected speed, barriers were to clip off the landing gear with the plane skimming along about six feet off the ground.

Next, a wing was to slice into a small mound of earth while the other sheared off three telephone poles. The battered plane, after a bounce or two, was expected to crumple up on the side of a hill.

Inside, 20 cameras were to take pictures of what happened to the dummy passengers, new safety devices and standard airplane equipment.

Shocks and stresses to various parts of the plane and the dummy human beings were to be recorded on 82 test channels. Main fuel tanks carry colored water to allow a study of spray patterns when they ripped apart.

Sponsor of the performance is the Federal Aviation Agency which awarded the research contract to Aviation Safety Engineering and Research, a non-profit Phoenix group.

Later this year a Super-Constellation will be smashed up as part of the $160,000 research project.

Joining in the tests are the Army, Navy and the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. They sought to test such equipment as cargo tie-down, seat design and arrangement, seat belts for adults and infants and galley equipment.

Victor Rothe, head of the Phoenix research organization, called the test "a simulated survivable accident" whose purpose is to make air travel safer.

The fatality rate for scheduled airlines is .23 per 100 million passenger miles, Rothe said, compared with 3.0 in 1940. Even so, he said the many more millions of miles logged makes it necessary to reduce this rate.

Texas Phone Company Has Own Party Line

ENGLISH, Tex. (UPI)—Ever heard of the English Transcontinental Telephone Co., Unincorporated? It runs probably the largest free party-line in the nation.

Ten years ago Dowdy English got a couple of surplus telephones and a roll of wire and strung a private telephone line from his home to that of a son. Other folks in the Oklahoma border community heard about the line and asked to hook on. English agreed, and today it serves 18 parties.

CHIMP'S NO CHUMP — Spanky, the skatingest chimpanzee in the world, is delighting audiences at the Denver Coliseum, where the Ice Capades of 1964 are being offered through next Sunday. Spanky's an 8-year-old chimp from Africa, and does adagio flips, comedy ballet and 18-foot barrel jumps. His skating partner is Dave Pitts, who gave up a song and dance career to concentrate on training Spanky. Ice Capades has performances at 8 p.m. through Saturday, matinees at 1 and 5 p.m. Saturday and performances at 2 and 6 p.m. Sunday.

Dear Abby--

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Listen to Your Parents!

DEAR ABBY: I am twelve years old. My bangs touch the end of my eyebrows and that's the way I like them. The kids at school like them that way, too, but my Mother and Dad want them cut. I think I should be able to have my hair the way I like it at my age. What do you think? —LORRAINE

DEAR LORRAINE: Even more important than how you wear your hair is obeying the wishes of your parents. BUT I wish more parents would worry less about how their children wore their hair (as long as it was clean and neat) and worried more about what was UNDER the scalp.

DEAR ABBY: The day after I was married my husband told me that he had paid $300 to have a thorough investigation made of my background because he knew I wasn't telling him "everything" I had done in my life before we met. He was right. I didn't lie. When he asked me, I told him I had made some mistakes, but they didn't concern him. (I had no illegitimate children or previous marriages to hide.) We have been married five months and a day has not gone by that he doesn't throw something of my past in my face. His greatest pleasure is taunting me about this. I cannot stand the torture any longer. He knew all this a month before we were married, but he kept it quiet until afterward. I think my marriage was a mistake. We were married in the church. What can I do, short of suicide? —TWENTY-TWO AND MISERABLE

DEAR MISERABLE: Run—do not walk—to your minister and tell him your story. It could have a happy ending. Good luck.

DEAR ABBY: I have a husband who hates to write letters. Even to his parents. He says he can never think of anything to say. His parents are the type who feel hurt if they don't hear from Sonny at least once a week. Well, they get that letter from "Sonny"—but guess who writes it? I do! But they don't know that because I use a typewriter and Sonny signs it. Don't use my name or I'll be in trouble. —SONNY'S WIFE

CONFIDENTIAL TO MICHAEL: No father really objects to having his son follow in his footsteps—if only the son would wait until his father got out of them.

Get it off your chest. For a personal, unpublished reply, write to ABBY, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif., 90212. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Hate to write letters? Send one dollar to ABBY, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif., 90212, for Abby's new booklet, "HOW TO WRITE LETTERS FOR ALL OCCASIONS."

Nobody Knows If Byrd Will Support Johnson

WAKEFIELD, Va. (AP)—The question of whether Harry F. Byrd would support President Johnson in the November election went unanswered as the Virginia Democrat set out to win a sixth term in the Senate.

Byrd, chief of the Democratic organization in Virginia, attacked the civil rights bill — a key Johnson measure — but omitted any mention of Johnson's expected candidacy for the White House.

Virginia has gone Republican in the last three elections.

Byrd, 76, was active in trying to get the Democratic presidential nomination for Johnson in 1960 when John F. Kennedy won it. But in the campaign, Byrd maintained his self-styled "golden silence."

The senator, speaking at the Wakefield Ruritan annual shad fish planking Wednesday, said the civil rights bill is "a monstrous grab for federal power."

Animals living at the bottom of the Grand Canyon include bull snakes, beavers, bobcats, deer and ring-tailed cats.

Electronic Equipment To Get Even Smaller

NEW YORK (UPI)—"Future electronic equipment will be further miniaturized through semiconductor materials packaged in thimble-size blocks hundreds of times smaller than electronic circuits of today, yet will perform the same functions." Malcom P. Ferguson, president of the Bendix Corporation, contends. Such blocks, he said, will be able to convert alternating to direct current, generate pulses, and perform many other functions.

ANKARA—A Brewery is to be built in Turkey.

Wall Street Report

NEW YORK (AP)—Rails advanced on a broad front, sparking a stock market rally early this afternoon. Trading was heavy.

The rails responded to news that the long-standing dispute over work rules had been settled and that the threat of a nationwide strike this Saturday had been removed.

Airlines, which had stood to pick up some traffic in the event of a rail tie up, were down rather sharply.

The rest of the list was up on balance, although there were some other soft spots.

The tone was generally higher among steels, Big Three motors, chemicals and oils.

Nonferrous metals declined. Cigarette stocks were mixed, along with aerospace issues and electrical equipments.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 1.6 at 308.0 with industrials up 1.7, rails up 2.5 and utilities up .1.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 2.79 at 826.36.

Texas Gulf trimmed an early gain to a fraction and Curtis Publishing showed a fractional decline.

Both stocks have been boomed by the mineral discovery in Ontario where they have interests.

Some rail stocks were up on sizable opening blocks. Gains of about 2 were posted for Soo Line, which has reported higher earnings, and Louisville & Nashville.

Pennzoil advanced more than 2.

Prices were higher on the American Stock Exchange.

Corporate bonds were mixed with rails higher. Few changes appeared among U.S. government bonds.

Scholar Claims To Know Name Of 'Mr. W.H.'

By DORMAN CORDELL

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—A literary scholar who claims to have solved the greatest mystery of William Shakespeare's sonnets — the identity of "Mr. W. H." to whom they were dedicated—says he even knows where to find a picture of the man.

Several scholars have maintained the sonnets were written to the Earl of Southampton or the Earl of Pembroke, but their evidence generally was considered flimsy.

Dr. Leslie Hotson said in an interview and in a lecture today, the Bard's 400th birthday, that he has conclusive proof that "Mr. W. H." was William Hatcliffe of Lincolnshire.

Hotson is a research associate in English at Yale.

About the sonnets, he said: "My evidence shows that all the previous attempts at identifying the friend are mistaken. No one has ever made any proof which is from evidence in the sonnets themselves. But I go at it right from the sonnets."

But who was William Hatcliffe?

"He is previously unknown to scholarship," said Hotson, "but Shakespeare's London knew him."

Hotson said he has evidence that Nicholas Hilliard's "Youth Leaning Against a Tree Among Roses"—famous English miniature—is a portrait of Hatcliffe.

Hotson has written a book, "Mr. W. H.," published this week in London, that describes his research.

It reports he concluded from the many references or allusions to a king or sovereign, Shakespeare must have been writing to some royal male, although England then had a queen.

He finally decided the subject had been a Winter Prince from one of the Inns of Court, roughly the equivalent of college of law.

Next, Hotson concluded they dated from the period 1587-89. Hotson came across a book listing the cast of a comedy presented before an Inn of the Court—in 1588. It noted that the play was presented by a Winter Prince—William Hatcliffe.

Hotson was convinced he had his man when he found that the Hatcliffe coat of arms contained four-leaved figures known among heraldry experts as true-loves. The theme of the sonnets is true love.

Hotson said he also found some 40 hidden interweaving of variations of Hatcliffe's name in the sonnets.

Mother Who Lost Three Sons Sees Fourth Honored

HANCOCK, Maine (AP) — A Hancock mother who lost three sons in World War II will see the fourth take command of a new warship today.

Lillian Crabtree will be a guest at the commissioning of the Polaris missile submarine Daniel Boone at Vallejo, Calif.

Cmdr. Alan B. Crabtree, 39, will command the "gold" crew of the 7,000-ton sub. A "blue" crew will alternate in running the craft.

Cmdr. Crabtree was in his teens when his oldest brother, Staff Sgt. Alfred E. Crabtree Jr., was taken prisoner in the Philippines and died in a prison camp.

The news reached Mrs. Crabtree and her late husband about the same time they learned their second son, Staff Sgt. Parker F., was missing on a bombing raid to Berlin. His death was confirmed shortly afterward. A few months later came the news that a third son, Lt. Robert S., had been shot down and killed over Italy.

Dirksen to Ask Vote on Changes In Rights Bill

By G. MILTON KELLY

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen said today he will ask the Senate to vote on his proposed changes in the civil rights bill before acting on a controversial Southern-sponsored amendment.

To clear the way, Dirksen told reporters, he will move Monday to set aside temporarily the jury trial amendment offered by Sen. Herman E. Talmadge, D-Ga.

Dirksen is viewed as a key figure in efforts to work out a compromise which would permit final action on the bill before midsummer.

Earlier, Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., the bill's floor manager, said he was willing to meet in part the demands of Southern foes of the bill on the jury trial issue.

They want the bill to include guarantees of a jury trial for persons charged with criminal contempt of court in connection with discrimination charges or other court action.

Humphrey's proposal, first concrete sign of a possible major compromise, would offer a limited right of jury trial.

Dirksen's move would provide additional time for maneuvering on the jury trial and other thorny issues.

The GOP leader said he was hopeful the Senate would grant the necessary unanimous consent Monday to set aside temporarily the Talmadge amendment "so we can start on the package of 11 amendments I have introduced."

All 11 would modify a section of the bill which seeks to outlaw discrimination in employment. Dirksen says the changes would enhance the chances for passage of the civil rights bill.

He said he hoped the Senate "would be kind enough to let me go through every one of these 11 amendments without interruption" before considering others.

Talmadge told a reporter firmly in a separate interview "I'm supporting my own amendment."

Professor Warns Anti-Democratic Growth Possible

An expert on Russian affairs today warned that Americans must be constantly alert to the dangers of "anti-democratic developments within our own ranks" in the struggle against the communists.

Dr. Frank H. Tucker, associate professor of history at Colorado College, spoke before the Pueblo Lions Club on "The Threat of Russia."

"We must beware of anti-democratic developments within our own ranks," Prof. Tucker warned. "It would be ironic if the strain and effort of resisting foreign totalitarianism actually helped to produce home-grown forms of totalitarianism."

The Colorado College professor, a leading Far East authority who did classified work for the Navy most of the time since World War II, listed the ways Russia has been a menace to the United States.

At the same time, he asked members of the Pueblo Lions Club to take a hard look "at our own political and social ways of doing things."

"Are we," asked Prof. Tucker, "within the United States entitled to be satisfied with ourselves, and can we be sure that none of the things that have been done by the communists abroad can happen here?"

In discussing Soviet totalitarianism, Prof. Tucker analyzed the power of the army in Russia, power of the bureaucracy, the limitations of freedoms and personal safeguards, and the control of information by the government.

The power of the army, abetted by some political leaders and government officials, the Colorado College professor pointed out, "makes it hard even for Khrushchev to reduce the size of armed forces, and difficult to reduce defense appropriations."

He said one of the worst threats to freedom in Russia, or elsewhere, was the control of information by the government.

ADC Officer Hosted by West Germans

Lt. Col. C. H. Price of the Air Defense Command, deputy chief of staff for operations office, left this week for a visit to Germany as a guest of the West German government. The invitation was extended in recognition of Colonel Price's contribution to German-American relations.

Col. Price made a similar trip in 1962 and has since been awarded the German Order of Merit for his speeches and related activities informing various groups and organizations of current German-American areas of common interest.

The colonel will visit West Berlin, Rothenburg, Munich, Stuttgart, Heidelburg, Wiesbaden, Cologne, Frankfurt and various other important German centers of population. His itinerary will include visits to several universities and industries in these cities.

Col. Price will confer with educational, political and business leaders in West Germany to gather facts for his continuing series of lectures to groups all over the nation. He resides at 1416 N. Foote Ave.

Fire Wednesday Termed Arson By City Chief

Fire at the residence of Mrs. Annie J. Hagan, 124 E. Dale St., Wednesday gutted a double garage and destroyed the contents of the building. Chief Fred Lausch of the Fire Department said today he believed there was no question but that the fire was a case of arson.

Mrs. Hagan was away on a vacation. The fire did some damage to paint on the rear of the Hagan residence and window damage to Cy's Standard Service Station, 802 N. Nevada Ave.

There was also glass damage to a car parked near the garage. The fire was discovered about 5 p.m. and was fought by Companies 1, 2 and Aerial 1 and Chief Lausch and Deputy Chief A. N. Cummings.

Two boys, about 9 years old, were being questioned today by the police about the theft of a set of keys from a pickup truck parked at the Zecca and Adams Conoco service station, 830 N. Nevada Ave. The boys were seen in the area of the fire and theft.

Police said rags were set on fire in the garage. Chief Lausch said that he did not think there was any connection between this fire, believed to have been of incendiary origin, and the five fires last week in the area of the 1000 block N. Weber St., the origin of which are still under investigation.

Fire of undetermined origin broke out Wednesday in a construction shack owned by J. O. Smith in the 3600 block E. Marion St. Company No. 7 of the fire department fought the blaze. This fire was discovered about 3 p.m. Chief Lausch said it could have been started by a cigaret dropped in straw or by children.

In a fire reported at 10:30 a.m. Wednesday eight feet of fence was destroyed at the residence of Boyd Berry, 632 W. Cucharras St. Firemen of Company 3 put out the fire, which is reported to have been caused by sparks from an ash pit. Another fire, believed to have been caused by sparks from an incinerator, burned some grass at the residence of Jane Johnson, 2108 Manitoba Dr.

About 60 species of birds are able to feed on poison ivy without harm.

AFA Briefs Head Of Procurement And Production

Maj. Gen. Lee W. Fulton, director of Procurement and Production, Air Force Logistics Command, received a briefing of the Air Force Academy Procurement program during a staff visit this week.

Gen. Fulton was briefed on the Academy Procurement training program, the local Cost Reduction Program, anticipated increases in procurement during expansion of the Cadet Wing, and management improvement.

The Academy is pioneering an in-house procurement training program.

Lt. Col. J. C. Eichholz, Deputy Chief of Staff, Materiel, welcomed the group.

The briefing was presented by Maj. John T. Farady, chief of the Buying Division, Procurement.

Mrs. Sandra Hamilton Died in Portland, Ore.

Mrs. Sandra Morrison Hamilton, a native of Colorado Springs, died this morning in Portland, Ore., where she resided. She was the wife of Richard Hamilton of Portland.

Mrs. Hamilton was born in Colorado Springs July 6, 1935. She was a graduate of the Colorado Springs High School, attended Southern Methodist University in Dallas, Tex., for a year and was graduated from Whitworth College, Spokane, Wash. She was active in the Young Life Organization.

Besides her husband she is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry G. Morrison, 1503 N. El Paso St., Colorado Springs, and a brother, Jerry Morrison of Missoula, Mont.

Word was received here that funeral services would be held in Portland, probably Saturday.

$57 Clothing Reported Stolen From Car

Men's clothing worth a total of $57.35 was stolen from a car which was unlocked and had the windows down and was parked outside 2321 E. St. Vrain St., the sheriff's office reported Wednesday.

According to Deputy Sheriff Ralph Tubaugh and other officers, Robert J. De Risi and Jack D. Gainer, the victims, were both stationed at Ft. Carson, were visiting friends and parked their car outside the house around 7:30 p.m. When they returned three hours later the clothing had disappeared.

Carton Hat Burglar Steals From Trailer

"A small woman with a half gallon milk carton upside down on her head" stole $30 from Bruce Long, 1615 S. Nevada Ave., the sheriff's department reported Wednesday.

Deputy Sheriffs Bob Walters and Ray Carey said the woman broke into Long's trailer twice late Tuesday night. There was $80 in Long's billfold which was found lying nearby. Thirty dollars had been removed.

A careful check of the area failed to reveal the presence of the small woman wearing the milk carton.

700 Australian Cows Begin Long Cruise

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — Some 700 cows from Australia have set sail on a two-month cruise aboard the Centaur, an 8,000-ton vessel specially designed to handle cattle. The 200 human passengers also aboard will enjoy fresh milk, cream and butter from the nonpaying passengers below deck.

Phoenix Paper Says Pledges Don't Pay Bills

PHOENIX, Ariz. — (UPI) The Arizona Journal announced Tuesday it would not publish Wednesday — and indicated it may suspend publications entirely because of lack of operating capital.

"We received plenty of pledges in our recent campaigns for funds," the newspaper's management said in making the announcement, "but most of them were just pledges and payrolls cannot be met with pledges. It takes hard cash."

The Journal has been conducting an intensive drive for the past two months to raise $240,000 in operating capital. Although pledges have been received for most of that amount, a spokesman said cash payments have amounted to only about 20 per cent of the pledges.

"We cannot go on with a hand-to-mouth operation and must suspend publication unless substantial support becomes a reality today," the management announcement said.

Road Building Started in New Colorado City

A three-months' program of road construction in Colorado City has been started by the John Weeden Construction Co. Colorado City Development Co. has given Weeden the contract to build 5.5 miles of new streets south of Highway 165 and to rebuild and blacktop 17 miles of streets north of the highway.

Paul V. Stegner, who has moved his trucking business from Denver to Rye, has been given contract to haul surfacing material from Colorado City's granite pits near Rye to the construction site.

Weeden, who has moved his heavy construction business from Liberal, Kan., to Colorado City, also has been given contract for excavation for residences being built in Colorado City by Treasure Chest Homes, Inc. of Pueblo, and for building a native rock wall across the top of Lake Beckwith.

As soon as the Colorado Department of Highways completes plans for the new freeway between Crow Junction and Apache City, Weeden will begin building two miles of primary highway from U.S. 85-87 eastward to Graneros Gorge Park that Colorado City is developing.

The 22.5 miles of streets and roads that Weeden will build will be compacted decomposed granite with blacktopping.

Construction of the all-new Colorado City, 25 miles south of Pueblo, was started six months ago.

Police reported a burglary at the Johnson Lawn Mower Service, 317 E. Vermijo St., in which thieves pried open a door and stole a filing cabinet Tuesday night.

The cabinet and miscellaneous papers were found on the roof of a nearby shed shortly after the burglary, police said.

U.S. Jet Fighter Bombers Placed for Attack on Cuba

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Hundreds of U.S. jet fighter bombers and attack planes — each capable of hurling tons of explosives — are poised within striking reach of Cuba, a check disclosed today.

A significant force of these high speed, powerfully armed U.S. jets could be over carefully pinpointed Cuban antiaircraft missile batteries within minutes of any order to go.

Some of them are posted at Air Force and Navy bases in Florida. Others are aboard two big aircraft carriers now in the Mayport, Fla., area.

President Johnson, the State Department and other U.S. official and unofficial sources have been warning Cuba of possible serious consequences if Fidel Castro follows through on his threat to shoot down American reconnaissance planes.

These U.S. warnings have been prompted by a belief that the Soviets may be about to turn over to the Cubans 24 complexes of SA2 antiaircraft missiles.

It was such a missile, able to reach 80,000 feet, that downed a high altitude U.S. U2 reconnaissance plane over Cuba at the peak of the 1962 crisis.

Pentagon sources said no precautionary alerts have been ordered. But they said tactical air units stationed in the Southeast, as well as elsewhere, are expected to be on their toes and in shape to scramble on short notice.

The most probable form of retaliation, observers believe, would be a swift blow to knock out one or more of the Cuban antiaircraft missile complexes.

Almost certainly it would be a high explosive attack, although all the U.S. jets are capable of nuclear warfare.

Coming in low under radar, the American fighter bombers and attack jets could hit fast and hard before the defenses could react, sources said.

The Air Force has one wing of F100 Supersabre jets at Homestead Air Force Base, south of Miami. A wing runs as high as 75 planes.

Two other Air Force tactical fighter wings are stationed at MacDill Air Force Base at Tampa, Fla. One wing is made up of the F4C Phantoms, considered the finest plane of its kind anywhere, and the other wing is composed of the older but still potent F84F Thunderstreak.

There are Navy and Marine jets at Key West, Fla., only 90 miles from the Cuban coast.

The 75,000-ton carrier Saratoga and the 50,000-ton Roosevelt—with about 200 planes between them—could move close to Cuba in relatively few hours.

The United States gets photographic coverage of all of Cuba by high altitude planes at least once a week.

In addition, individual U2 flights for more detailed coverage of specific objectives are sent aloft whenever intelligence indicates there is a need for a more careful look.

Marvin Flinn Heads Springs Moose Lodge

SM. Sgt. Marvin H. Flinn of Ent Air Force Base was installed as governor of Colorado Springs Lodge 244, Loyal Order of Moose, at the organization's meeting Wednesday night.

Others installed were: junior governor, William V. Rudisill; prelate, John Larson; treasurer, Preston Sumner, and secretary, Stanley J. Galiley. Trustees are Eugene Williams, D. L. Stallings, and Lonnie Brereton.

Flinn succeeds Charles E. Wells who was installed as junior past governor.

The installation ritual was conducted by Martin J. Murphy, deputy supreme governor for the State of Colorado.

An installation banquet will be held at 7:30 p.m. Saturday at the Moose Home, 6 S. Wahsatch Ave., with members of Columbine Chapter 373, Women of the Moose, as hostesses.

A dance will follow the banquet. All Moose members and their guests are invited.

Frequent Drivers More Accident Prone

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — What are your chances of having an accident in your lifetime? The local motor club says it depends partly on how much you drive.

If you drive 12,000 miles a year you have one chance in three of having some kind of accident. There is one chance in four that damage will be limited to property, one in 35 that there will be at least one injury and one in 2,300 for a fatality.

If you travel 8,000 miles a year, you have one chance in five of an accident, one in six for a property damage accident, one in 55 for an injury accident and one in 2,900 for a fatal one.

Tanganyika and Zanzibar Merge

DAR ES SALAAM, Tanganyika (AP) — Tanganyika and the island nation of Zanzibar have merged to form a new nation, the government of Tanganyika announced today.

Informed sources said the new nation would be run from Dar Es Salaam, capital of Tanganyika.

Zanzibar is 22 miles off the Tanganyika coast in the Indian Ocean.

The union of Tanganyika and Zanzibar is one of the strangest political marriages to result from the wave of independence that has swept over Africa.

[illegible] Both Tanganyika and Zanzibar are former British territories and members of the British Commonwealth. Tanganyika's President Julius Nyerere is considered one of Africa's more moderate leaders, while the revolutionists who took over Zanzibar in December proclaimed a people's republic and have followed a marked anti-Western and pro-Communist line in public pronouncements.

The merger unites one of East Africa's larger nations and its smallest. Tanganyika has an area of 362,800 square miles, larger than France and Germany combined, and a population of about 9 million. Zanzibar and its smaller dependent island of Pemba have an area of 1,020 square miles and about 300,000 people.

Johnson, Wife Slated to Visit Chicago Today

CHICAGO (AP) — President Johnson, accompanied by his wife, makes a frankly political trip to this Democratic stronghold today.

With Illinois' primary election settled last week, party leaders look to Johnson to help fill the party campaign coffers for the fall election campaign.

Johnson is scheduled to speak before more than 6,000 persons at McCormick Place tonight in the largest $100-a-plate dinner ever held in Chicago.

The money will go to the Democratic Cook County Committee, whose chief is Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley.

Security precautions are the heaviest Chicago ever has made, with 1,700 city policemen and U.S. Secret Service men ready to guard the President.

The heavy guard reflects the fact it was to be the first presidential visit to Chicago since the assassination of President John F. Kennedy in Dallas last November.

The usual 18-mile motorcade trip into the Loop from O'Hare International Airport has been [illegible] dropped by the Secret Service. Instead Johnson will go by helicopter from O'Hare to Meigs Field on the lake front near the downtown district, where a limousine will take him a short distance to the Conrad Hilton Hotel.

Johnson was scheduled to arrive at O'Hare at 4:45 p.m. Eastern Standard Time.

The President, who spoke at the New York World's fair on Wednesday as civil rights demonstrators chanted nearby, was to get no respite in Chicago.

A newly formed civil rights group announced it will picket Johnson as he delivers his speech at McCormick Place, the city's lakefront convention hall.

Legal Opinion Upsets Politics In California

By MORRIE LANDSBERG

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Word from Washington, legal and medical, threw California's political campaign into quiet turmoil today.

All preparations for the June 2 presidential primary came to a complete halt, by order of Justice William O. Douglas of the Supreme Court.

And Sen. Clair Engle's return to the hospital revived speculation—denied with practiced regularity—that his health would force him to give up his fight for re-election.

It also brought into the open persistent reports that jobs paying $25,000 or more a year are waiting for the democratic senator, 52, felled by brain surgery last August, if he quits the contest for his party's nomination.

Harold Stassen caused an unprecedented situation by appealing a State Supreme Court decision which denied him a place on the Republican presidential ballot.

The onetime Minnesota governor seeks to join Sen. Barry Goldwater and Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller in competition for California's 86 votes at the Republican National Convention.

Stassen needed 13,702 signatures of registered voters to qualify. Only some 9,000 were certified as valid. Stassen backers told the Supreme Court in their appeal that they presented 25,000 but that county clerks failed to make a complete examination of all the affidavits.

Justice Douglas Wednesday ordered Secretary of State Frank M. Jordan to direct the 58 counties to hold everything on election preparations pending a decision. Jordan followed through promptly.

Lawyers toiled through the night to rush the state's reply to Washington by courier in hopes of getting it before the court for its weekly Friday conference.

Atty. Gen. Stanley Mosk said any delay would "wreak havoc" with the task of printing ballots and distributing them by the deadlines assigned by state law.

Ballots must be available by May 2, the first day for absentee voting. Sample ballots must be mailed to every voter by May 8.

WORRY CLINIC

By George W. Crane, M.D.,Ph.D.

Paul Miller has stressed the educational and social values of the modern newspaper, for it is our best protector of American liberties. And it also is the chief educator of people for their final 52 years after they quit school at 18.

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph. D., M. D.

CASE S-446: Paul Miller is the astute head of the big Gannett group of newspapers.

Recently he made a speech in which he said modern newspapers exert an even greater constructive influence than ever before.

To which I firmly say "Amen!"

For newspapers protect us from dictatorship by ferreting out political evils and spotlighting them.

Some people may have frowned on the British press for exposing the Profumo sex orgies, but the military safety of England might have been undermined without that timely expose.

Misuse of our taxes are also

brought to our attention by the newspapers.

In fact, Robert Raikes, earlier newspaper publisher, also started the Sunday School movement in 1780.

And in 1956, it was due to newspaper backing that we finally incorporated the eleemosynary (charitable) Scientific Marriage Foundation.

It belatedly has brought the IBM and modern scientific counseling techniques into the field of marriage on an interfaith, nation-wide basis.

Thousands of topnotch business and professional men, as well as beautiful and talented airline stewardesses, teachers, nurses, private secretaries and widows, have written me much like this doctor.

"Dr. Crane," he said, "I was happily married for 22 years but lost my wife by cancer.

That was two years ago. I am now 45 and would like to meet a congenial woman with a view to a second marriage.

"But I am a busy surgeon and you know it is not wise to try to mix romance and professional practice.

"Besides, I am quite wealthy so I wouldn't know if local women were more interested in my money or in me.

"But your Scientific Marriage Foundation doesn't mention a person's wealth. So could you introduce me to a widow or single girl between the ages of 38 and 42?"

The newspapers publicized my early stories about the SMF and then DeWitt Wallace gave us two splendid articles in Readers Digest which pulled 50,000 inquiries.

We operate on an interfaith basis with 2,500 Catholic Priests, Jewish Rabbis and Protestant Ministers serving as local counselors.

Dr. Peale, Bishop Gerald Kennedy and other foremost religious and educational leaders serve on our Board.

The IBM machine is employed with 10 dial settings, so we try to match people on the basis of congenial age, education, race, religion, height, hobbies, habits (such as smokers vs. non-smokers; and one dial is also set at a 200-mile radius.

For most men are too inert to do much letter writing, so they usually demand a girl within 200 miles.

We always introduce Catholic to Catholic, Jew to Jew and Protestant to Protestant, but we obviously cannot PROMISE a partner for everybody since there are more unmarried women in America than men.

But this SMF introduces thousands of couples per year. Thus far we have only one-tenth of one per cent divorce rate in contrast to a 25 per cent rate for American marriages in general!

American newspapers thus are responsible for the SMF just as British publisher Robert Raikes launched the Sunday School.

Send a long stamped, return envelope with 20 cents if you wish the "SMF Questionnaire and Booklet."

Ranger Officer Killed in Viet Nam Clash

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP)—An American Ranger officer was killed and another American wounded in a clash with Communist Viet Cong units 25 miles west of Saigon today, reliable American sources reported.

An American spokesman reported seven Vietnamese Rangers were killed and eight wounded in the clash but would not confirm the American casualties. Such official confirmation usually is up to 12 hours in coming.

The Americans were with two companies of a Vietnamese Ranger battalion that made contact with the Viet Cong at noon near Trunglap Ranger Training Camp, in Nau Nghai Province.

Another company was sent into the region, an American spokesman said, but no further contact was reported with the Viet Cong force. Communist casualties were not known.

The latest American death brought the total Americans killed in action in Viet Nam to 130. Thirty-four have died in action this year.

Palmer Halts Rally To Defeat Cheyenne

By TOM CUSHMAN
Gazette Telegraph Sports Writer

For a few long minutes Wednesday afternoon, Palmer's Terrors must have thought that Cheyenne Mountain plays baseball in a haunted park!

At least Gerry Hughes' Tribesmen had visions of ghostly Bulldogs during an Indian uprising in the bottom of the seventh. The Terrors, who had seen a seemingly safe lead evaporate during a final inning flurry by Pueblo Centennial the previous day, were about one extra-base hit away from a repeat performance against Cheyenne before finally salvaging an 8-5 victory.

Palmer swept into the last of the seventh with a comfortable 8-1 margin — only to have the Indians suddenly take to the warpath. Before the rally was smothered, Cheyenne had poured across four runs, had the tying marker at the plate and the Terrors had an uncomfortably close win.

Just what prompts this recurring nightmare is difficult to pinpoint. For six innings Wednesday Terror ace Ted Jones poured his fast stuff across while the majority of the Indians brandished their bats with the effectiveness of dime-store tomahawks.

The seventh was a different story! With one away, Bill Massarand drew a walk and suddenly Jones could get no one out. Gary Graham bashed a single to left; Joel Folk blooped a single; Ted Garcia looped a double, and Jeff Leigh lined a shot to left that went in and out of the glove of the Palmer outfielder.

With three runs home, Jones settled to whiff Barry Riddock but then walked Mike McGilner to load the sacks and followed with four straight balls to Doug Cramblit. That forced in the fifth tally, brought the tying run to the plate, and Tom Medlicott to the mound in relief. On his second pitch Jeff Thatcher rapped a shot to shortstop Ollie West who turned it into a force play at second — which brought a collective sigh of relief from the Terrors.

It was appropriate that West should come up with the clincher because it was his booming bat that had supplied nearly half of the Palmer run production. The slick junior cracked homers on his first two trips, driving in all of the runs allowed by Cheyenne's Garcia in his four inning stint.

Later Jerry Golden unloaded a tremendous clout over the fence in left-center off Chuck McGee. Palmer then padded the cushion with four runs in the top of the seventh as the Cheyenne defense crumbled behind Riddock. At the time it seemed the Terrors were splurging needlessly, but the insurance was welcomed by the time a few pitches had been thrown in the bottom of the seventh.

West was the only member of the Palmer lineup with two hits, although the Terrors totaled nine and hit several balls on the nose — only to have them end up in Cheyenne gloves. The Indians' only consistent production came from Folk. He had three of the team's seven safeties, including a double.

Jones had little trouble until the ill-fated seventh. He gave up an unearned tally in the second but worked out of jams in the four following innings, with the strikeout pitch as the key weapon. He finished with nine strikouts, but walked the same number.

Garcia, Cheyenne ace, gave up a first inning homer to West and then escaped further difficulty until the Palmer shortstop appeared again in the third. This time West had Jones aboard as he rode a Garcia hook over the left-field fence. The Cheyenne pitcher was in additional trouble in the fourth with runners at second and third and just one out but Rich Tafoya's line smash was picked off by Massarand and turned into a double play.

The game was the final for Palmer until the Terrors resume South Central League action Saturday against Trinidad. Cheyenne returns to Pikes Peak League play Friday with Harrison as an opponent.

Bears Rally to Down Islanders in PCL Play

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

There was plenty of hitting in the Pacific Coast League Wednesday night but two sparkling pitching performances stole a lot of the thunder from the sluggers.

Spokane's Howie Reed tossed a one-hitter as the Indians beat Dallas 2-1. The only blow off Reed was Ken Harrelson's 377-foot homer in the seventh inning. Reed fanned seven and walked none as the Indians scored twice in the second inning on a homer by Al Ferrera and three singles to give him all the runs he needed.

Portland's Sam McDowell hurled two-hit ball and struck out 15 Indianapolis batters as the Beavers posted a 5-0 victory in the second game of a doubleheader. Indianapolis took the opener 8-2 behind a 13-hit attack.

McDowell pitched seven perfect innings but Jim Koranda spoiled it in the eighth with a single just inside the first base line. The other hit came on a bunt single in the ninth by Marv Staehle. McDowell didn't walk any and faced only 29 batters.

Hal Kolstad of Seattle sopped Arkansas cold with three hits while his mates feasted on Travelers' pitching for a 10-0 romp. The 14-hit bargage by the Rainiers included four doubles. Seattle sewed it up early with a five-run outburst in the third. Billy Gardner had three hits for Seattle.

Tacoma continued to manhandle Oklahoma City, running up a 12-3 triumph with 20 hits. Tacoma has scored 22 runs in two games against the 89ers. The Giants enjoyed a six-run fourth inning, racking up five straight hits after two were out. Jose Cardenal's two-run homer and Hal Lanier's two-run triple were the damaging blows.

Tacoma came right back with four more runs in the next inning. Winning pitcher Frank Linzy hit a triple during that uprising.

The hard-hitting Salt Lake City Bees pounded out 13 hits for a 7-1 victory over San Diego. Jim Coates was walloped for five runs in the fourth by the Bees, John Boccabella and Don Eaddy rapping two-run homers. Paul Jaeckel tossed a six-hitter for hte win.

In Honolulu, the Denver Bears snapped a 2-all tie with four runs in the eighth inning, capped by Sandy Alomar's two-run triple, to down the Islanders 6-2. Hawaii had led 2-1 after six innings.

MANITOU'S ACE VAULTER — Ron Smith makes this jump of 10-9 feet during Wednesday's Pikes Peak League triangular track and field meet at the Fountain stadium. Although Smith made this jump, the Manitou vaulter missed 11 feet and finished in third place behind Fountain's Rich Dorer and Gary Powell. Smith has been a consistent winner in PPL competition in addition to winning the Class A of the recent Pikes Peak Relays. (Gazette Telegraph Photo)

Carter Sets School Marks As Trojans Win Triangular

By CHARLIE DREUX
Gazette Telegraph Sports Writer

Fountain's Bob Carter broke two school individual records and anchored the 880-yard relay team which bettered the school mark during a Pikes Peak League triangular track and field meet, Wednesday afternoon at the Trojans' field.

Carter led the Fountain aggregation to a decisive victory over visiting Air Academy High and Manitou Springs. The Trojans accumulated 71 points, followed by Academy High with 58 and Manitou was third with 19.

The Fountain speedster proved his superiority among the local Class-AA schools as Carter defeated Academy High's speed merchant, Rob Stockhouse, in both the 100-yard and 200-yard dash events.

However, the Kadet runner beat Carter in the last leg of the 880-yard relay. The Academy High relay team won that event and established a track record as the Big Blue was clocked at 1:33.8 which bettered the old record of 1:35.

Stockhouse enabled the Kadets to set the mark and win the 880-yard relay when he put on a burst of speed in the last 100 yards of the 220-yard leg to nip Carter at the finish line.

Carter broke the 100-yard dash and broad jump records. The Fountain flash turned in a 10.1 performance in the century race and leaped 21-4½ feet in the broad jump. The previous marks were 10.2 in the 100-yard dash and 21-3¾ feet in the broad jump.

Fountain Coach John Shultz indicated earlier this season that Carter was capable of breaking the 10-second barrier and come up with a 9.9. Carter will have the opportunity to do just that this Saturday during the second annual Fountain Invitational Relays which will draw 12 teams including the defending State Class-AA champion, Alamosa, and the top challenger from Durango.

The Fountain Relays are slated to begin Saturday morning at 9 with the preliminaries and the finals are set for 1 p.m. at the Fountain stadium.

Florence Gets Acid Test As PPL Titlist, Saturday

Gene Stone, in his first term as Florence baseball pilot, is slated to put his squad through an acid test as Pikes Peak League top challengers when the Huskies tangle with highly regarded Air Academy High, Saturday.

The Florence aggregation presently leads the PPL pennant chase with a 3-0 won-loss record, followed closely by Academy High (2-0) and six-time league champion from Cheyenne Mountain (1-0).

With victories over Widefield, Harrison and Manitou Springs, the Huskies will find the Kadets a tough lot with lefty John Gannon at the pitching controls. The Big Blue portside chucker has been outstanding in previous PPL outings and last weekend he registered his second loop win against Harrison, striking out 15 Panther batsmen.

In two games, Gannon has posted 29 strikeouts to become one of the finest pitchers in the Class-AA league.

Florence will count heavily on its four-year pitching veteran, Darrell (the Whip) Browning. Even though Browning couldn't be labeled a fireballer, the Florence pitching ace has control and experience in his favor.

In other games this week, Manitou and Widefield are slated to clash at the latter's home field in PPL play Friday, beginning at 4 p.m. Meanwhile, across town another league encounter is slated between Harrison and Cheyenne at the Indians' field at the same time.

AFA Blasts Bears For 10th Straight

By LOY HOLMAN
Gazette Telegraph Sports Editor

At the start of this baseball season, the Air Force Academy joined with the three other independent teams of the area in an informal "league" setup that was to settle a suitable opponent for Colorado State College from Greeley.

After 21 straight Rocky Mountain Conference titles, there was little doubt that Coach Pete Butler's Bears would repeat their RMC title. And the top team among the independents was to play this league champ in the first round of the NCAA playoffs on the first step toward the Collegiate World Series in Omaha.

Well, the playoff is still to come — and the Bears still must hurdle a couple of RMC foes, notably the vastly improved Colorado College nine this Friday and Saturday. The nearest independent rival, Denver, has a 9-12 record and they could hardly catch the Falcons even if the AFA lost all the rest.

But as for the Air Force, it would be only natural if Coach Connie Sparks' Falcons today were looking on to the second round of playoffs. They vividly demonstrated a clear magin over CSC on Wednesday afternoon and have shown signs that they're ready for just about any regional opponent that wants to take them on.

The 8-2 decision over Colorado State was the 10th straight victory for the Air Force and ran the Cadets' seasonal record to 10-1 — losing only the opener at New Mexico several weeks ago. Where and when the streak will end is anybody's guess, but Brigham Young University of the Western Athletic Conference will take a crack at it this Friday and Saturday at the AFA diamond and then Wyoming of the same league will try again on Sunday.

This is bound to be a gruelling test for Sparks' rather slim pitching staff with four games in five days, weather permitting, but if they continue to hold up with complete games the three starters should be able to stand the pace. Wednesday's victory by junior Pete Bracci was the 10th time this season the AFA hurlers have gone the distance.

Bracci spaced eight hits over the nine innings, which isn't exactly putting the shackles to the Bears. But he was again backed by the power-packed hitting of his teammates and he had little trouble coasting to the win.

Bracci's shutout bid was spoiled in the eighth inning when CSC catcher Dwane Banks parked a line-shot home run over the left field fence some 340 feet distant, but otherwise the Bruins from Greeley could never get more than one hit per inning. First baseman Mike Kelley was aboard at the time, to make for all the runs scored by C-State, following a leadoff double.

This Friday in the 3 p.m. game against BYU, the Air Force probably will send lefty Fred Olmsted to the mound or perhaps sophomore Al McClure in an attempt to keep the string alive. And then against Wyoming on Sunday, Bracci is expected to come back again.

Four AFA players each got two hits to pace the 13-hit attack against two CSC pitchers, with third baseman Jim Steed continuing his demolishing ways with a single and homer in four trips. Even at that, it slightly dropped his batting average which was a lofty .531 before the game.

Others getting a pair were shortstop Darryl Bloodworth, catcher Allan McArtor and second baseman Blaine Brownlow who had a triple and single. Bloodworth's two singles were the most timely as he cracked in three runs.

Again looking for the "big inning" that has busted open several of their games this spring, the Air Force plated a singleton in the first and then brought three home in the second to take an early lead. The three runs came on two singles, a walk and two perfectly placed sacrifice bunts that couldn't be fielded in time.

Then single runs came home again in the next two innings with Steed's 400-foot blast over the center field wall the biggest of the blows. Again two came across in the fifth on a hit batter, walk and two singles and it was all but over.

Junior Larry Dunkle came on in relief of starter Ed Dyer in the fifth and after allowing those two runs, he pitched shutout ball the rest of the way. But it was far too late by that time and all CSC could do in the last few innings was send batters swinging for the downs. They connected that one time on Banks' homer, but the rest went down easily.

That gave Colorado State a 7-4 record for the season, although the Bears are undefeated in RMC play going into Friday's contest with CC at Colorado Springs' Memorial Park.

Ambitious Tigers Face Defending Champ CSC

By TOM CUSHMAN
Gazette Telegraph Sports Writer

Colorado College, which has advanced from joke to solid contender in a matter of two weeks, places its Rocky Mountain Conference ambitions on the line against the team the Tigers will have to whip to win in a 3 p.m. game with Colorado State College here Friday.

Bob Johnson's snarling Tigers, who have thrown off the yoke of perennial patsy by winning five of their first seven games in 1964, will have the usual role of underdog when CSC visits Memorial Park here. But the Greeley Bears, who have come to be considered as the annual champions of RMC diamond warfare, had better not take this one lightly. CC baseball has suddenly turned into a businesslike operation and Johnson has his Bengals believing that no one, including CSC, can run roughshod over the local squad.

The fact was pointed up Tuesday afternoon at Alamosa where the Tigers battled back from a 3-1 first game defeat to whip Adams State 10-7 and gain a split in a twin bill. Before the season got underway, the Indians were regarded as the only serious challengers to CSC's crown.

Johnson's constantly improving CC team has changed all that. Before the Adams State trip the Tigers' coach calmly asserted that he was shooting for a sweep. "If we only come up with a split," the CC coach said, "then we'll have to win one of the games with CSC this weekend."

Johnson was regarding the Greeley series in this light because he feels that by the time the Tigers meet the Bears for the second two game set at mid-May, "we will be a sound team and will have an excellent chance of beating them."

Following this idea, CC will probably be pulling all stops to whip the potent CSC nine here Friday. Such a feat would send them into Saturday's return match at Greeley with increasing confidence.

Johnson is expected to choose Friday's starter from between his two freshmen stars, Bill Jankowski and Warner Reeser. Both drew starting assignments against Adams State with Reeser allowing just five hits and one earned run, although losing a 3-1 decision. Jankowski was ahead 10-3 in the nightcap when ing. The duo has already proing. The duo hasalready provided CC with some of its finest pitching in years.

The Tigers will also confront the Bears with a team that is vastly improved defensively, especially in the outfield where speed and strong arms have been substituted for the dropped fly balls of past seasons. In addition, CC continues as one of the area's finest hitting collegiate clubs.

The two game set this weekend will be followed by a Memorial Park doubleheader next Tuesday with Adams State again furnishing the opposition.

T-Birds Lead Prep Rankings

Wasson's streaking Thunderbirds have climbed to the top of Colorado's high school baseball rankings in the latest Denver Post poll of coaches.

Gib Funk's T-Birds, who crushed Pueblo East 15-3 Tuesday for their ninth straight triumph, moved into the top spot by a wide margin over last week's leader, North Denver. Wasson polled 137 points to 105 for the runner-up Vikings.

Palmer's Terrors, who are currently tied for second place in the South Central League, moved into the top 10, taking over the fifth spot with 70 points. Lincoln of Denver is third and Greeley of the Northern League fourth.

The Denver circuit leads in volume with three teams in the top 10 (North, Lincoln, and South); the South Central has two (Wasson and Palmer); the Jefferson County two (Arvada and Wheat Ridge); the Northern League two (Greeley and Boulder) and Grand Junction plays as an independent.

Other area teams drawing votes were Pueblo Centennial (14th) and Air Academy High (tie for 19th).

Two Clubs to Sponsor Pikes Peak Ski Slalom

Two Colorado Springs ski clubs have joined forces in order to continue the annual Pikes Peak Slalom, May 10. Merging for the event are members of the Colorado Springs Sno-Jets and the Ent Blazers.

Originated in 1937, and with Florian Hamerly as its first winner, the Pikes Peak race has in recent years assumed proportions which require personnel and resources only to be afforded through the joint memberships of the two groups. The Ent Blazers are headed by recently elected president, Col. John Stewart, while Dick Eller serves as president of the Sno-Jets.

The race is to be held under the sanction of the Southern Rocky Mountain Ski Association and directed by Jack Dunnahoo as race chairman. Under Dunnahoo are committee members from both clubs. Committeemen from the Blazers are: Ed Von Arx, Betty Skinner, Col. Steve Young, Lt. Tom Pankhurst, Col. Herb Waldman, and Bette Ireland. Representing the Sno-Jets are Brian Mullet as transportation chairman; Ed Alyn, chief timer; Howard Pick, chief gate keeper; Carmon Greer, chief of course; Dick Eller, trophies; Bill Mann, equipment chairman; John Harris, publicity.

Among Colorado Springs civic leaders who will be lending a helping hand are Mayor Harry Hoth as assistant chief time keeper, and K. G. Freyschlag in charge of starting gate arrangement.

Chairmen of committees from both groups will meet on Thursday evening at 8 p.m. at the Patty Jewett Golf Club to coordinate the joint efforts and to familiarize the Blazers with the procedures and precedents gleaned by the Sno-Jets in their pervious years as sponsors of the annual Pikes Peak race.

Because the race is one of the last to be held in any season, it attracts competitors familiar to the national and international ski racing scene. More than 200 SRMSA classified men and women skiers are expected to enter the 1964 race.

Jurisdiction for the race rests with the SRMSA and it will be conducted under rules similar to those governing ski races of FIS and Olympic calibre. Officials for the race consist of referee, chief timer, and course setters, which are designated by the SRMSA from its offices in Denver.

Named as co-setters of the course are Bob Beattie, University of Colorado and 1964 Olympic Alpine coach, and Willy Schaeffler, coach of the National Collegiate champion Denver University squad. Other officials are to be selected at a later date.

Only two racers have won more than a single time. Both were from Steamboat Springs. Twice a winner was the late Buddy Werner, one of America's greatest Alpine stars and a tragic victim of a Swiss avalanche a few weeks ago. The only three-time winner was Barney McLean, who retired the Broadmoor Trophy with his third win during the pre-World War II years.

Other famous racers who have participated or won the Pikes Peak Slalom are such greats as Christian Pravda, Dick Durrance, Dick Thomas, Dave Gorsuch, Tony Matt, Chuck Ferries, Max Marolt, Ralph Ball, Gordon Wren, Bob Kidder and Hans-Peter Lanig.

Barring a turn of events such as prevented a 1963 race, this year's course will be set between the 16-mile post and Glen Cove on the Pikes Peak Highway. Entries for the race should be sent to Jack Dunnahoo, Race Chairman, P.O. Box 907, Colorado Springs.

Koufax on Sidelines With Injured Left Arm

ST. LOUIS (AP)—An elbow injury, kept secret for three weeks, sent Los Angeles' Sandy Koufax to the sidelines for at least a week Wednesday night and brought back terrible memories of 1962 for the Dodgers.

"It hurts like heck," Koufax said, as he held an ice pack on the injured arm in the dressing room as the St. Louis Cardinals beat the Dodgers 7-6.

"I've had it for three weeks," he said. "I haven't had anything on the ball in any of my starts. I was just lucky to get by until now. But it got me out there tonight."

Koufax did not look like the 25-game winner of 1963, using slow stuff to retire the first two Cardinals.

He threw a wild pitch third strike past Bill White, who was safe at first. Ken Boyer walked on four pitches and Charley James unloaded a three-run homer before Koufax got the last batter.

He failed to start the second inning.

"He (Koufax) was visibly hurt when he threw that wild third strike," said Dr. I.C. Middleman, Cardinals' team physician. He described Koufax' injuries as an elbow inflammation and slight muscle tear in the left forearm.

"He has a swelling on the inside of the forearm," the physician said. But he doubted that there was any damage to elbow cartilage and there was no indication of calcification or chips.

The Dodgers flew Koufax back to Los Angeles immediately after the game for further examination today.

In the Dodger dressing room, Manager Walter Alston said he was unaware that Koufax had occasional pain in his arm since spring training.

In 1962, Koufax missed half the season because of a circulatory ailment in a finger on his pitching hand. He had 14 victories and the Dodgers were in first place when he retired. Los Angeles went on to lose the pennant in a playoff with San Francisco.

SANDY BACK IN LOS ANGELES — Sandy Koufax, the Los Angeles Dodgers ace left-hander, waits in front of the Los Angeles International Airport for transportation early Wednesday morning after his arrival by plane from St. Louis. Koufax was sent back to L.A. by the Dodgers after he suffered an elbow inflamation and slight muscle tear in his left forearm during their game with the St. Louis Cardinals Wednesday night.

Warriors Hopes High After Win

By JACK STEVENSON
Associated Press Writer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Coach Alex Hannum and his San Francisco Warriors, the rough-and-tough Cinderellas of the hardwood, have high hopes now of catching the Boston Celtics and winning the National Basketball Association crown.

"That was the style of aggressive game which has been so important to us this year," said Hannum.

The Warriors, who won the Western Division crown after finishing fourth a year ago, had whipped the Celtics 115 - 91 Wednesday night in a "must" game for them.

For Boston had won the first two of this best four - of - seven playoff for the NBA title.

"We played our type of game and we plan to keep going this way from now on," Hannum continued.

Game No. 4 comes Friday night in the Cow Palace.

Tom Meschery tied the NBA playoff record of eight field goals in a quarter, hitting 17 points in the opening stanza as the Warriors surged to a 40-21 lead.

Wilt Chamberlain scored 35 as high point man for the game and was the winner this time in his perennial battle with the Celtics' Bill Russell.

NFL Announces 1964 Grid Schedule

NEW YOR K (AP)—The National Football League has extended its 1964 schedule into the week to include five Saturday games, a Friday night contest and two Monday night games in addition to the usual Thanksgiving Day special at Detroit.

Among the innovations in the 98 - game schedule, announced today by Commissioner Pete Rozelle, are a Friday night home opener for the New York Giants with Washington, their first home night game since 1938 and Monday night dates in Detroit and St. Louis.

The season will open with a night game, Saturday, Sept. 12 in the Cotton Bowl, where the Dallas Cowboys will meet the St. Louis Cards. It will close Sunday, Dec. 13. The championship game will be played Sunday, Dec. 27 in the home city of the Eastern Conference champions.

Most of the games are televised regionally into the home area of the visiting team with the home city blacked out. The Columbia Broadcasting Company bought the rights for two years at $14.1 million a year, plus another $1.8 for the championship game.

Cardinals Add Another To Dodger Loss Streak

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

While the Los Angeles Dodgers suffered from a growing headache in St. Louis today, Sandy Koufax was 2,200 miles away—nursing his hot dog arm.

The Dodgers' ace left-hander was forced out of the game with the Cardinals Wednesday night after the first inning with an elbow inflammation and a slight muscle tear in his left forearm. He returned to Los Angeles for an examination.

Before he left the game, Koufax unleashed a rare wild third strike that eventually led to Charley James' three-run homer and a 7-6 victory for the Cardinals. It was the seventh straight defeat for the Dodgers, who have won just one game.

Dr. I. C. Middleman, St. Louis team physician, estimated Koufax would miss at least one or two pitching turns. He normally pitches every four days.

Elsewhere in the National League Wednesday night, Houston blanked Cincinnati 2-0, and San Francisco stopped Milwaukee 8-6. Rain halted Pittsburgh at Philadelphia and Chicago at New York.

In the American League, New York downed Chicago 3-0, Los Angeles nipped Detroit 3-2 and Minnesota edged Washington 7-6. Rain washed out Boston at Baltimore and Cleveland at Kansas City.

Koufax, whose 25 victories last season earned him the league's most valuable player award, got into trouble when Bill White swung and missed for the third strike. The ball got by catcher John Roseboro, though, and White reached first. Koufax then walked Ken Boyer and gave up the home run pitch to James.

Carl Warwick and White later hit home runs, nullifying homers by the Dodgers' Frank Howard and Willie Davis. Curt Simmons won his second game for the Cardinals but needed help from Roger Craig.

Willie McCovey belted home runs in his first three times at bat for the Giants. He had a puny .080 batting average going into the game. His performance overshadowed the two home runs hit by the Braves' Joe Torre.

Nancy Roth, Tish Pruess Meet in Semis

PINEHURST, N. C. (UPI) — Nancy Roth and Tish Pruess met today in a semifinal annual women's amateur golf tournament that was a rematch of the championship battle last year by Miss Roth.

The other match pitted Mrs. Charles Wilson of Gladwyne, Pa., against Mrs. George Trainor of Rochester, N. Y.

Miss Roth, from Hollywood, Fla., defeated Mrs. Joseph Nesbitt of Greenwich, Conn., 7 and 6, in the quarter-finals Wednesday while Miss Pruess of Pompano Beach, Fla., scored a hard - earned 1 - up victory over former champion Mrs. Phillip Cudone of West Caldwell, N. J.

Mrs. Wilson pulled off the tournament's biggest upset Wednesday, defeating co-favorite Barbara Fay White, daughter of a Shreveport, La., golf pro, 3 and 1.

Mrs. Trainor won a berth in the semifinals by beating North Carolina's only surviving entry, Louise Fike of W[illegible], 3 and 1.

U.S. Pro Indoor Tennis Match

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y. (UPI) — Australia's Ken Rosewall, Rod Laver and Lew Hoad and former pro champion Pancho Gonzales of Los Angeles will compete in the $15,000 U. S. Professional indoor tennis championships at the Westchester County Center, May 26-31.

Ford Gets 200th Victory On 'One Sweat-Shirt Job'

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Measured by Whitey Ford's meticulous standards, the 200th victory of his major league career was a complete success—strictly a one sweat-shirt job.

Ford, the ace left-hander of the New York Yankees who doubles as the pitching coach for the American League champions, put himself down for an A grade after winning No. 200 Wednesday night by blanking the Chicago White Sox 3-0 on six hits.

"I only went through one sweat shirt," said Ford, laughing. "I'm giving myself an excellent report for the game."

Ford's chart, when completed, will show he kept the White Sox off balance, allowing only one extra base hit and striking out two while issuing only one walk.

The record book, when revised, will show Ford the 61st pitcher in major league history to reach the 200-victory plateau.

The long, bright future also may be approaching for the Yankees, who marked their second victory in six games with still another achievement. In the fifth inning, Clete Boyer hit a homer—the first by a Yankee this season.

The Minnesota Twins hit three homers—by Tony Oliva, Rich Rollins and Don Mincher—but scored the winning run on a passed ball in a 7-6 triumph over Washington. In the only other AL game played, the Los Angeles Angels struck for two runs in the ninth and a 3-2 victory over Detroit.

Two games were postponed by rain—Boston at Baltimore and Cleveland at Kansas City.

In the National League, St. Louis made it seven losses in a row for the Los Angeles Dodgers by beating the world champions 7-6. San Francisco belted Milwaukee 8-6 and Houston shut out Cincinnati 2-0. The Chicago at New York and Philadelphia at Pittsburgh games were rained out.

Ford, who was the AL's winningest pitcher last year with a 24-7 record, was locked in a duel with White Sox starter Gary Peters until Boyer hit his bases-empty homer in the fifth.

Barons One Win From AHL Title

CLEVELAND (UPI) — The Cleveland Barons are only one victory away from their first American Hockey League Calder Cup championship since 1957.

Fred Glover's skaters turned back the Quebec Aces, 2-1, Wednesday night to open a 3-0 lead in the best-of-seven final series.

It was the Barons' eighth victory without a defeat in the AHL playoffs, equalling a league record set by the old Indianapolis Capitals in 1950 and matched by the Springfield Indians in 1961.

Cleveland spotted Quebec a goal by Ed Hoekstra in the first period, tied the score on a second period shot by Guy Rousseau and won the game on Ray Kinasewich's goal at 2:11 of the final session.

Detroit Can Capture Stanley Cup Tonight

By BERNIE KENNEDY

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit Red Wings Manager-Coach Sid Abel wasn't asking for much as his team awaited the sixth game of the Stanley Cup finals against the Toronto Maple Leafs tonight.

All he'd like is another outstanding game from Terry Sawchuk, Gordie Howe and the other veterans; another hustling performance by Bruce MacGregor, Eddie Joyal and his other "kids", and the victory which will give the team the coveted piece of silver.

The Red Wings, with a 3-2 edge in the series after a 2-1 triumph in Toronto Tuesday night, are cautiously optimistic.

AFTER TITLEHOLDERS CROWN — These four pretty golfers are among the 43 women teeing off today in the first round of the Women's Titleholders tournament at Augusta, Ga. Long Hitters Are Favored In Titleholders Tourney

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)— "Anybody who hits the ball long ought to have a chance to win the Titleholders," said one of the longest hitting women golfers, Mickey Wright, the tournament favorite.

"I look forward to playing this tournament every year," said the Dallas, Tex., pro, named Associated Press woman athlete of the year for 1963. "It has a sentimental value after you have ploayed here so long."

Miss Wright said the 6,300-yard par 72 Augusta Country Club course is in fine shape.

Mickey, a two-time Titleholders winner, missed a chance for her third straight green coat last year when she lost a 18-hole playoff to Marilynn Smith of Jupiter, Fla., 72 to 73.

Miss Wright said she has almost fully recovered from a severe ankle sprain which kept her off the tournament rail for a few weeks. "It still swells up a little at night," she said. "But it doesn't bother me."

Miss Wright's main competition will come from defending champion Miss Smith and seven-time champion Patty Berg, who fired a four-under-par 68 in Tuesday's pro-am. Also in the running is Betsy Rawls of Spartanburg, S.C., who has never won the Titleholders although she is one of the top tournament winners on the women's tour.

Russians Again Whip U.S. Stars

MOSCOW (UPI)—The United States domination of Olympic basketball will be seriously challenged in October at Tokyo if the current tour of the American All-Stars is any indication.

The U.S. team suffered its third defeat in four games Wednesday night, dropping a 79-60 decision to Russia's national squad before 14,000 wildly enthusiastic fans at the Lenin Sports Stadium.

The U.S. team split two games with a Polish national team in Warsaw earlier this week and lost to the Russians, 82-65, Tuesday night.

The Russian squad has been playing together as a team for about four or five years and will represent the Soviet Union at the Olympics this fall. However, the team they beat is not the same one that the United States will send to Tokyo.

Only five members of the present squad will be on the Olympic team for the United States, but the Russian superiority in the last two games has been so evident that its felt they could handle an even stronger opponent.

U.S. Coach John McLendon thought his club would improve after playing together awhile longer.

The Americans have two games in Leningrad and then continue the tour in Kiev and Tbilisi.

Palmer 'B' Nets Victory Over Harrison, 2-1

The Palmer "B" team behind the strong arm of pitcher Ron Smith, scored in the bottom of the ninth inning to slip past visiting Harrison, 2-1, Wednesday afternoon at the Terrors' diamond.

Smith limited the Panthers two hits as the big right-hander contained the Harrison aggregation to one tally in the sixth frame. Meanwhile, the Palmer bombers went to work on two Harrison hurlers to score two runs on five hits.

Hole-in-One At Kissing Camels Course

aCrter used a number two iron to net the golfing ace and it was witnessed by his wife. This is Carter's first hole-in-one in 20 years of golfing. The Carters are in Colorado Springs on a visit.

MY ANSWER

by Billy Graham

© 1964 by Chicago Tribune
N.Y. News Syndicate, Inc.

QUESTION: Was Judas the traitor saved before he betrayed the Lord Jesus? If he was saved, was he lost when he took his own life?

ANSWER: Judas was not saved before the betrayal, nor before his death. He is called "the son of perdition." The Bible says: "Judas by transgression 'fell' that he might go to his own place." But the verb "fell" does not, in this instance, imply that he was in a state of grace. It refers to his defection from the disciples and the betrayal—an act which he performed in accordance with his true character that he might "go to his own place."

Some say that Judas betrayed Christ because he falsely believed that He would escape from his executioners and set himself up as the true Messiah. But the New Testament indicates no such thing. It says: "Then entered Satan into Judas . . . 'and he went his way' and communed with the chief priests and captains, how he might betray Him unto them." This was his character; he acted in accordance with his true character, and he went to "his own place", as the son of perdition.

Sad indeed, that a man could have been so low in motives in the company of the highest. But it is true of so many today as well. In a land of churches, and with a tradition of faith in God, many are so Godless, and choose to "go to their own place." — and many in the church who profess like Judas also go to their own place!

QUESTION: I have heard you say that Chistianity is losing out in the world. Does not a statement like this reflect on God's power to overthrow evil?—W.K.

ANSWER: Yes. I have said that Christianity is not keeping pace with the population explosion and the growth of Communism and is therefore, (statistically at least) losing out.

But I didn't say that it would not ultimately triumph. The whole trend of the Scriptures is that Christ one day will be King of kings and Lord of lords, and that He shall rule the kingdoms of the world.

Many people visualize this being accomplished by the slow, steady rise of Christianity, until the whole world becomes Christian. But the Bible does not teach that it shall happen this way. Jesus said: (in regards to His coming) "Iniquity shall abound, and the love of many shall wax cold." He talked about false Christs, and we have them. He talked about conflict between nations: "Nation shall rise against nation", and never has there been more international unrest than now. Then He said: "In a day and an hour when you think not, the Son of man cometh."

Although, statistically, Christianity may be losing, every day brings us one day nearer the time when God shall ring down the curtain on all the strife, war, and bloodshed of the world and say: "Enough!" Then the kingdoms of this world will become the kingdoms of our Lord and His Christ.

Economic Gains Not Quite Spectacular, Report Says

By STERLING F. GREEN

WASHINGTON (AP) — The economic good cheer radiated by President Johnson last week betokens no early boom; the gains he announced at two news conferences were good but definitely unspectacular.

Looking at the many business indicators now in hand for March, the first month of the massive federal tax cut, most government economists were:

First, a bit surprised that retail sales slipped slightly even though practically every wage-earner had more take-home pay; and

Second, considerably relieved to note that the modest gains provide neither reason nor encouragement for a whirl of higher prices.

Johnson broke the news on Thursday that national output hit a record rate of $608.5 billion in the first quarter, up nearly $27 billion from a year ago.

Most economists had expected something bigger. The $8.5 billion rise for the January-March quarter fell short by nearly $3 billion of the gain in the preceding quarter, and was somewhat smaller than even the quarter before that.

The sales volume of the nation's retailers—who had every right to expect a banner Easter month—declined 1 per cent from February after allowing for seasonal trends, according to the preliminary Commerce Department survey.

The volume of new orders booked by durable goods manufacturers dipped 2 per cent, the first decrease since fall.

Most other indexes rose. But the record seemed to substantiate the forecasts of the President's Council of Economic Advisers that the stimulative impact of tax reduction will be spread out over a period of two or three years.

The council's chairman, Walter W. Heller, told the Midwest Economics Association in Chicago Saturday that the first-quarter rise in gross national product is "directly on the projected course" laid out in his January forecast.

At that time the council predicted a total output of about $623 billion for 1964, or a gain of some 5½ per cent from the first to the final quarters.

"This hardly sounds indigestibly rapid," Heller said. Buying demand will not outstrip production, he said; there will still be much excess plant capacity and unemployment is likely to be around 5 per cent at yearend despite some improvement since January.

Another government economist, replying privately to a newsman's inquiry on the impact of the tax cut, said it would be premature to judge by the March statistics, but "If you had to say something, you'd say there has been no visible effect. It will show up a bit later on."

There is wide agreement that the broad March gains cited by the President in his news conferences last Thursday and Saturday were still reflection of the anticipation of a tax cut, rather than the actuality.

The trend of consumer credit indicated how powerful a force this anticipation has been. Installment credit expanded by $579 million in February, the largest gain in over four years.

That led some economists to conclude that Mr. and Mrs. Public were pledging their tax savings in advance to buy cars, appliances and furniture. By March they were beginning to make their first installment payments, and using their tax savings for the purpose.

Most government experts believe it will be a few months—until the second-quarter statistics have arrived at least—before it is possible to judge the effect of the tax reduction.

Meantime the omens are favorable. Johnson mentioned these, for example: housing starts went up 1 per cent in March, to a record annual rate of 1.6 million; new car sales in early April topped the high rate of March; personal income climbed $1.5 billion, in annual rate, from February to March.

And despite Heller's reassurances on the price outlook, both he and the President issued inflation warnings.

U.S. Seeks New Policies For World's 'Cold War'

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Since he moved into the White House five months ago, President Johnson has dealt with a half a dozen international crises from Panama to Viet Nam.

The most striking fact about changing conditions in today's world is that not one of the crises involved a direct conflict between the United States and the Soviet Union.

Revolutionary shifts are under way in the global power struggle between the Communist and non-Communist nations. Foreign policies of the great powers are subject to strains that were only dimly seen as late as a year ago. Johnson seems to be confronted not only with the problems of a new president but also those of a new historical era.

The reason is plain enough. The cold war battlefronts that developed after World War II no longer hold. Old friends are quarreling and old enemies are talking peace. New nations are jockeying for position and power.

Russians eat American wheat. Cubans drive British buses. Chinese leader Mao Tze-tung turns a more cordial face to French President Charles de Gaulle than to Soviet Premier Khrushchev. De Gaulle, recognizing the Peking regime, deals a blow to the policies of both Khrushchev and Johnson.

The world is at a crossroads in history, and no one in Washington or any other major capital seems sure where it will head next.

"We are in a period of change," Secretary of State Dean Rusk said some days ago. "Things are in motion."

"Our leadership has been steadily losing its effectiveness," wrote former President Harry S. Truman.

"We are confronted with a complex and fluid world situation," declared the chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, Sen. J. William Fulbright, "and we are not adapting ourselves to it."

Hostility between Washington and Moscow primarily supplied the tensions that for years maintained the familiar pattern of cold war relations. When John F. Kennedy became president he deliberately began to soft-pedal insult and invective in exchanges with Khrushchev. Secretary Rusk initiated a probing operation to seek points of possible East-West agreement.

But it was not until after the crisis of the Berlin wall in 1961 and, finally, the confrontation with the Soviet Union over Cuba in October 1962 that tensions between Moscow and Washington began to decline. The relaxation was both confirmed and accelerated last July by the agreement among the United States, the Soviet Union and Britain on a treaty limiting the testing of nuclear weapons. Since then the old world of the cold war has been ripping apart.

President Johnson and Premier Khrushchev now both seem to be groping cautiously for ways to stabilize a great power stalemate that could endure indefinitely.

The retreat from the edge of nuclear disaster that began after the Cuban confrontation — and was dramatized in the test-ban treaty — has not, obviously, turned into a massive surge toward peace and a stable international order. Instead it has encouraged the breakup of the old power systems centered on Washington and Moscow and favored the spread of new rivalries.

The policy moves by De Gaulle in Europe and the Far East have extended and hardened differences among the NATO allies with his quest for a "third world" under French leadership. He has paralyzed if not destroyed the American-sponsored dream of building Western unity into a new North American-European Atlantic community.

Britain has pulled apart from the United States over issues of trade with Cuba and long-term credits for the Soviet Union. Visiting Washington in February, Prime Minister Sir Alex Douglas-Home told Johnson bluntly that Britain could not go along with U.S. trade policies toward the Communist bloc.

Peking's Mao Tze-tung has broken the Communist bloc with his campaign to wrest power from the Kremlin. Latin America and Africa have become increasingly arenas of Communist ambition, both Chinese and Soviet. Western leaders, for their part, as Rusk has told Congress, look to growing nationalism in the Communist countries of Eastern Europe to curb Soviet power and control there.

Basic to all these developments is the decline of war fears resulting from the nuclear standoff between the United States and the Soviet Union.

The growth of confidence and the restraints on the use of power by the nuclear giants have provided more scope for other countries of all sizes to flex their muscles and assert their independence of action. In consequence, each of the two superpowers has suffered a loss of authority over world affairs and now finds its leadership ability impaired.

Johnson feels this state of affairs is harder on Khrushchev than on himself. The reason, he has explained, is simply that the Western system of alliances has always been looser and more flexible and therefore more tolerant of disagreement than the highly centralized Communist system.

In a national television interview on his first 100 days in the White House, Johnson confessed that he has had to deal with some problems abroad that caused discouragement and irritation. But he said that on balance a world of several political systems, less dependent on two great blocs, is in his view a safer world — even though it limits American power. Americans have to understand, Johnson argued, that the world is changing.

"There are going to be these demands from time to time (from) people who feel that all we need to do is mash a button and determine everybody's foreign policy," Johnson said, "but we are not living in that kind of world anymore. They are going to determine it for themselves and that is the way it should be."

Johnson first began talking publicly in February about his conviction that the United States could not run a push-button diplomacy. The alternative he has so far talked about is logical persuasion.

Reasoned agreement seems to be what he has tried to use on the problems that have come up to him for action when he had the choice of talking softly rather than wielding a big stick. These problems all had one thing in common—they could not be stalled off.

The importance of the point is that Johnson is reported to have decided in his first days in the White House that he would move slowly in foreign affairs and would be content to give primary attention to domestic issues in this election year.

By rough estimate of one of his close associates, the President has spent somewhat less than 50 per cent of his working time on foreign affairs. He relies more than President John F. Kennedy did on Secretary Rusk and on his special assistant for security affairs, McGeorge Bundy, to collect the facts and lay out the alternatives for action. Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara plays a key role in all matters involving military questions; he has a decisive influence on policy toward Viet Nam.

Johnson meets with McNamara, Rusk and Bundy at lunch once a week, usually on Tuesday. The three men arrive with questions and recommendations and they go away with decisions. Johnson also talks with Rusk and other top foreign policy officials, including Undersecretary George Ball, on the telephone several times a day.

He likes the telephone contact, likes talking out problems and is impatient with paper work. Nevertheless he does his homework in foreign policy, reading through each night a big stack of policy documents which Bundy prepares for him on the problems of the day.

When the Panama crisis erupted suddenly in January Johnson telephoned President Roberto Chiari and made arrangements to send a planeload of investigators and negotiators to Panama immediately to restore "neighborly relations."

Johnson's phone call looked like an impulsive act. But in fact it was not. It was recommended to him by Rusk and Bundy along with possible alternative courses of action. He chose the speediest and most direct means which he thought would get results.

"The main difference between President Johnson's approach to foreign policy and President Kennedy's," one top authority said recently, "is the point at which Johnson gets into a problem. Kennedy had a deep interest in details of all foreign situations. He would sometimes call a desk officer early in the morning and ask 'what are we doing about some situation reported in news dispatches?' Naturally the pressure in such cases was to find something to do."

President Johnson relies on the chief officials in the State Department. He expects them to sort out the facts of a crisis and recommend whether there is anything the United States can do about it.

With such techniques Johnson has grappled with a succession of crises, more perhaps than he bargained for when the new year opened.

The Panama crisis struck within 10 days of the new year. Johnson offered to discuss all problems but refused to pledge negotiation of a new treaty. The Panama Canal is a domestic as well as foreign policy issue for both countries and especially hard to handle in a year when both Panama and the United States have elections.

In the midst of the Panama troubles, and apparently hoping to capitalize on them, prime minister Fidel Castro cut off Cuban water supplies to the U.S. naval base at Guantanamo. His stated reason was to protest the U.S. arrest a few days earlier of Cuban fishermen who had violated Florida's territorial water. Johnson's response was to order Guantanamo made self-sufficient in water. He decided against treating Castro's action as anything requiring a heavy-handed U.S. response.

In two crises Johnson sent out troubleshooters to try to avoid extremely dangerous developments. Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy had some success in the Far East in getting Indonesia's President Sukarno to create conditions for a cease-fire arrangement with Malaysia.

The President also sent Undersecretary of State George Ball to London, Athens, Ankara and finally Nicosia with an urgent assignment to keep Greece and Turkey from going to war over Cyprus.

De Gaulle's recognition of Red China in January created a low-key crisis in French-American relations. It broke a line the United States has held for more than a dozen years against increasing Western ties with the Communist mainland.

The French action raised a question whether other countries would follow suit. It also opened the possibility of increasing support in the United Nations for a new move next fall to vote Red China in and Nationalist China out of the General Assembly.

But the most serious consequence of the French move developed in Southeast Asia. President de Gaulle followed up his recognition by proposing neutralization for Southeast Asia. Washington officials charged this was damaging to morale in South Viet Nam. Throughout the episode Johnson and Rusk avoided personal criticism of De Gaulle, but they ruled out neutralization of South Viet Nam since they saw no possibility of also neutralizing Communist North Viet Nam.

The struggle in Viet Nam, to which the United States has committed in excess of 15,000 officers and men as trainers and advisers, has occupied more of the President's time than any other foreign policy problem.

Like Presidents Eisenhower and Kennedy before him, Johnson has decided that the area is one which must not be lost to communism. He has also decided the anti-Communist war must be won primarily in South Viet Nam but has not foreclosed the possibility of operations reaching into the Communist north.

Apart from the major crises, Johnson has dealt with a variety of incidents that seemed to reflect on U.S. prestige. In December four U.S. Embassy officials were kidnapped and held for 11 days by pro-Communist Bolivian tin miners involved in a political struggle with their own government. In March, the U.S. Embassy in Cambodia was sacked by a mob which Washington believed was stirred to action by the Cambodian government. In Zanzibar, the ranking U.S. diplomat was arrested by a revolutionary prime minister who brandished a pistol in the American's face.

"We are living in a frustrating period, an exciting period, a developmental period," Johnson said in a speech in February. But he added reassuringly: "I have seen times when the skies were grayer."

His two main initiatives in the foreign policy field were directed toward Latin America and the Soviet Union. Both followed lines of action laid out or contemplated by the previous Kennedy administration.

In the case of Latin America the President called Ambassador Thomas C. Mann home from Mexico and appointed him czar of all Latin American policies and programs including the Alliance for Progress. He ordered a shakeup in the alliance in an effort to make it work effectively. In his first months in office, however, Mann was much occupied with the Panamanian crisis and Cuban problems and his initial work on the alliance produced no spectacular new undertakings.

In the case of the Soviet Union Johnson exchanged messages with Khrushchev and told him that 1964 should bring new East-West agreements. Johnson followed up with specific proposals for action in the disarmament and arms control field. He gave the impression of a man in a hurry, but Khrushchev did not display the same urgency and the disarmament conference at Geneva quickly bogged down into a familiar pattern of repetitious argument.

In taking power only a year before the end of President Kennedy's term Johnson has clearly been sensitive to the fact that his opportunities for action in the field of foreign policy were limited.

The prospects for the next administration, whether headed by Johnson or by another man, appear quite different.

For if the predominant Washington view of a rapidly changing world is correct, the executive presiding over American destinies in the post-election period will have to redefine and reformulate the aims and purposes of American foreign policy — and will almost certainly have to develop some new "grand design."

U.S. foreign policy has been geared to two grand designs since the late years of World War II. One was Franklin D. Roosevelt's concept of United States-Soviet cooperation within the framework of the United Nations. The one-world doctrine broke down in 1947 when the Kremlin's campaign to spread communism over the world finally aroused the West and erupted into the cold war.

The second grand design sprang from the failure of the first. It took the form of the containment policy adopted by Harry S. Truman in recognition of a world divided and embattled. It led to the creation of this country's global system of alliances and its far-flung aid programs.

Today the old centering of hostile forces around Moscow and Washington is breaking up. The grand design of the containment policy no longer seems to fit the changing style of world affairs. Whether it is to be modified or replaced, and if so by what, appear to be fundamental questions that must rate a high priority on the agenda of the next administration.

Skunk Under Desk Reason for Leaving

MOULTRIE, Ga. (AP) — A teletype operator, Mrs. H. M. Farris, was told that she must have a good reason for leaving her desk in the Western Union office here.

So when somebody told her there was a skunk under her desk she figured that was reason enough. But before sprinting from the office, she sent this message to Atlanta:

"I've got to sign off, there's a skunk under my desk."

Another employe shot the skunk with a .22 pistol. Nobody knew how the animal got into the telegraph office.

Explanations Are Given For Atom Work Cutbacks

By JOHN BARBOUR

WASHINGTON (AP) — Theoretically, the energy you get from splitting the atoms in just 2.2 pounds of uranium 235 would yield an explosion equal to 20,000 tons of TNT.

That kind of arithmetic led to the atomic bomb. But it also foreshadowed the day when the world's biggest nuclear powers would decide that their explosive warehouse was full.

That decision is here. President Johnson and Soviet Premier Khrushchev announced Monday cutbacks in production of nuclear weapon-type fuels. Great Britain was expected to make a similar move today.

Johnson and Khrushchev said it would help reduce world tensions, improve mutual understanding. But the cutbacks have been in the cards for some time. They likely indicate satiation as well as moderation.

In 1959, the United States began stretching out its orders for uranium concentrate from Canada. In 1962, it began a similar program for domestic uranium mills.

In 1962, also, the United States began selling its large property holdings—from homes to stores—in three of its atomic cities: Oak Ridge, Tenn.; Los Alamos, N.M., and Richland, Wash. The object was to encourage new people and new industry to move into the towns.

Then last September, an Atomic Energy Commission official talked about probable production cutbacks in coming years. Some of the cities the atomic operations had built, he said, would have to broaden their industrial base or face unemployment.

Even earlier—in July 1963, the AEC said it was studying the possibility of cutting production of nuclear weapons material. Long-range military studies were under way, the AEC said, and the United States had a very high productive capacity thanks to "an all-out effort" in the early 1950s to boost its nuclear arsenal.

Last January, the United States announced a 25 per cent reduction in enriched uranium production — the heart matter for nuclear weapons.

Because of its very efficiency, it was inevitable that there would come a time when the supply of fuel for nuclear fires would outstrip the needs of its major user, the military.

At the same time, there was every expectation that nuclear power plants producing electricity would boost their requirements. So far cost of nuclear power—except in some areas—still is stalemated in an economic war with conventional fuels.

What the United States and undoubtedly the other major powers have tried to do in the past five years is to hold the atomic industry together—by stretching out uranium purchases, for example. By the 1970s bigger electricity-producing nuclear plants will have a greater need for fuels.

The military needs have in the past 15 years become even more easy to satisfy, because of the increased efficiency in the techniques of nuclear destruction.

The atomic bomb which once shocked the world is puny to the huge sun-hot hydrogen explosions it can trigger. A little bit of nuclear fuel now goes a much longer way.

Long Island Students Having a Hot Time

SOUTHAMPTON, N.Y. (AP) — A group of students at Southampton College of Long Island University are learning firefighting along with the more usual educational courses.

The 20-man volunteer fire crew was organized to serve as a stop-gap when necessary until the regular town unit arrived. But with regular weekly training the group has developed into something of a self-sustaining unit, according to Professor John Luongo, assistant dean of men who doubles as fire marshal.

The college-operated fire brigade is equipped with two pumper trucks and, besides the fire-fighters, has a three-man rescue squad, fire police to handle traffic and fire wardens, including two girl students.
